MINIMUM WAGE NATIONAL CODE IS ABOUT READY

Complete Hearing on Electrical Rules.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—In one swift day today the public hearing on weighty issues to place the electrical manufacturing industry under a federal code was speedily completed.

The business of attempting to remake American industry almost overnight was rushed along also on another tack as Gen. Hugh S. Johnson put the finishing touches on a master code by which he hopes to induce all industries to accept immediately minimum wage and maximum hour scales.

Gen. Johnson said that he expected within 24 hours to submit for the approval of President Roosevelt his proposal for blanket wages and working hour restrictions. The general has been working with his staff of economists for days in preparing various scales to be proposed for various branches of industry.

White Collar Men Included.

He has also included the white collar workers in industrial concerns, and will ask that a five day week be applied to all the clerks, bookkeepers, and other office employés. But it was learned that in this class of American workers the general's main intention is to increase their wages, and that the hours of work will not be considered as of such importance compared with the necessity for raising their pay.

In all of the planning conducted by Gen. Johnson he has declared himself motivated by one desire—to raise purchasing power among the people—and in today's hearing on the electrical code it was clearly shown what may happen to the highly geared, sensitive machine of American industry when this sole objective is applied.

Sharp Division of Opinion.

The hearing was marked by the inevitable sharp division of opinion between employers and the union spokesmen for workers. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, attacked the proposed minimum wage scales, running from $10.08 to $12.60 per week, as "altogether too low," and he stood also for a 30 hour week instead of the 36 hour week proposed by the electrical manufacturers.

Mr. Green also declared that no discrimination should be made between men and women in industry, as was proposed in one objection to the code.

"I'm of the opinion," he said, "that the time is here when we should reject the old concept that women should be paid less than men. I'm not afraid that women will be forced out of industry by giving them the same pay. They're much too valuable for that."

Arguing that the 36 hour week would create no new employment whatever in the industry, Mr. Green pleaded for a "ruthless" action by the federal government.

Urges Ruthless Attack.

"We've got to attack the problem in a ruthless way," he said. "The needs of certain individuals must be set aside."

The deputy administrator in charge of the hearing, William L. Allen, replied that he "heartily indorsed" this expression, adding that "we must find an answer to the problem even if the chips fall, in places where it hurts."

The hearing was held in the stately caucus room of the new house of representatives office building and from the high four corners of the large room plaster molded eagles looked down upon the scene.

Deputy Allen sat behind a great carved oak rostrum stretching all the way across the room. On one side of him was Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, who is acting as industrial adviser on the code, and on the other was Mr. Green, serving as labor adviser.

Chairman Puts All Questions.

Mr. Swope, one of the original proponents of the idea of having government control over industry, nodded his distinguished gray head repeatedly as arguments favored the manufacturers, and he shook it usually when the discussion was not to his favor. He consulted frequently with Mr. Allen, but under the rules laid down by Gen. Johnson neither he nor any other adviser was permitted to ask any questions, all the questions being put by Mr. Allen and later by Gen. Johnson, who dropped in for a short

CUTS TO SAVE SCHOOLS FROM RUIN: M'CAHEY

Soft Jobs Lopped Off, He Says.

Plan Protest Meeting

Protests against the economy program of the Board of Education are to be voiced at a massmeeting on Friday evening in the Stadium. The one member of the board who opposed the cuts ordered in school costs—Mrs. W. S. Hefferan—will be among the speakers. Details on page 4.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

Members of the Chicago board of education launched a campaign last night to prove to the public that their $5,000,000 economy program will save Chicago's public school system from destruction. James B. McCahey, president of the board, asserted that the penniless condition of the school system, with teachers and creditors unpaid, was due to the wasteful spending by politically controlled school trustees dating back to 1916.

Mr. McCahey charged that the agitation against economy in the school system and the board's attempt to save money and bring regular pay days to the huge teaching staff was being engineered "because soft jobs and sinecures, many of which were created through political influence, are eliminated" in the retrenchment program.

Shows Rising School Cost.

In 1900 the Chicago public school system spent $7,597,551 on educational activities, with an average cost per pupil of $38.02, Mr. McCahey said, while in 1932 educational expenditures were $56,057,330 and the cost per pupil had mounted to $124.90.

"In the years between 1900 and 1932 many frills and luxuries were added to the public school system," he said. "Many new jobs were created which were not directly connected with the fundamental educational activities of the schools. With property values increasing and tax collections mounting in the years of prosperity little objection to these added expenditures was heard. These extra activities brought with them many soft jobs for political favorites.

"Then came the depression years with rapidly decreasing property values and steadily falling tax collections. But school expenditures stayed at their high level until the rapidly growing deficit destroyed the school board credit, stopped the teachers' pay days and threatened the system with bankruptcy."

Comparison with Business.

Corporations and business houses, faced with similar situations, Mr. McCahey said, weathered the economic storm by cutting out all frills and luxuries, by slashing salaries and other expenses; by trimming everywhere possible.

"But school expenditures continued at their high rate," he continued. "This year we are forced to drastic action. All the luxuries and frills accumulated in the years of prosperity must be abandoned and expenses slashed everywhere possible if our school system is to escape financial wreckage.

"Each one of us—merchant, manufacturer, clerk, or laborer—has been compelled by lower wages or reduced dividends to cut his household and personal expenses. Luxuries, many of which had come to be regarded as necessities in the days of prosperity, were given up. We soon found that we could get along without them, but we hope to go back to them some day soon.

"So it must be with the school system. Financial necessity compels us to forego activities of lesser value. When the school finances are put on a sound basis and the credit of the school board is restored, consideration can again be given to educational expansion.

Aim to End Soft Jobs.

"But the soft jobs and political sinecures which crept in with many of these extra activities we hope are gone forever.

"The rank and file of teachers and school employés—the men and women who have been doing an honest day's work, and who have the best interests of our school system at heart—are in sympathy with the economy program.

"There will be no drastic change in the number of employés in the public schools. There will be no change in the amount of educational opportunity given to the children."

The first statement in the campaign to show that by embarking on an

A spectacular fire, which lighted up the river front, attacked THE TRIBUNE'S paper warehouse at 303 East North Water street early this morning, causing damage and loss estimated in excess of $300,000. The damage was practically confined to the east third of the warehouse, cut off from the west end of the structure by a double fire wall.

The warehouse, formerly used as a shipping shed by the Geodrich lines, parallels the river. Across the street to the north is the four story Curtiss Candy company factory at 349 East North Water street.

Watchman Reports Blast.

The fire broke out shortly after midnight, probably the result of spontaneous combustion. According to John Martin, a watchman who was in the west section of the shed at the time, there was a heavy, dull explosion. He was thrown off his feet. Flames immediately followed. Miss Irene Keene, switchboard operator at the Curtiss Candy plant, was notified and put in the first call for help.

By the time the first fire apparatus arrived flames were shooting high in the air. In a few moments the tar roof was completely ablaze at the east section. Thousands of people gathered to look on. A 2-11 alarm was sounded at once and this was followed by a 4-11, and a 5-11, and two special calls. All told sixty pieces of fire equipment and two fire tugs joined in fighting the fire.

Halt Spread of Blaze.

The two boats helped prevent the fire from spreading beyond the east section, while fire walls protected the larger section of the warehouse on the west. In an hour the fire was under control and the 1,200 night employés of the candy company, who had marched out of their building at the start of the blaze, returned to their work.

The warehouse contained 18,000 tons of newsprint paper. Of this 6,816 tons, or 8,149 rolls, mostly in the east section, were damaged by fire or water. This damage was estimated at $272,000. That to the building was $50,000.

Turkish Ambassador Mistaken for Gangster

Rochester, Ind., July 19.—[Special.]—An expensive car driven by a chauffeur and containing two men and two women became stranded at Etna Green, a hamlet near here. Lodging house owners feared the strangers might be gangsters. At last the party obtained lodging in a tourist camp and one of the men put in a telephone call for Washington. Listening bystanders then learned the stranded man was the Turkish ambassador to the United States on his way to the World's Fair.

SEIZE FOUR MEN TOTING A RIFLE AND NINE PISTOLS

Elkhorn, Wis., July 19.—[Special.]—Four men were arrested and nine revolvers and one rifle seized by police late last night following an automobile accident in highway 12, four miles north of here. The men carried a total of $1,920 on them, most of it in new bills. A fifth man is sought.

The men refused to identify themselves satisfactorily, police said, and Chicago authorities were asked to come here to look them over to see if they are wanted by the police. The prisoners identified themselves simply as Morgan, Boyle, Peter Stevens and Ed Burns. The tip of Morgan's right thumb is off. The men said they had used the guns in muskelonge shooting.

The five men, riding in a new car, the license for which was issued to Robert Morgan, P. O. box 201, Des Plaines, Ill., crashed into a pole shortly before midnight. Four of them walked away, leaving Morgan alone. He was seized. On him police found $1,250.

Police took Morgan to town. While there some one telephoned from Lake Geneva, wanting to know if the "men in the smashed car were all right." Lake Geneva police were notified while the caller was kept on the phone. They found him later hiding in an old car in a second hand auto lot. He gave his name as Boyle and had $260 in his pockets. Police said he offered them "any amount of money" to let him and his partners go.

Later a squad in Elkhorn came upon Burns and Stevens hiding in bushes on the outskirts of town. Burns had $190 on him and Stevens $220.

G. Washington Bought Drugs at This Store

Alexandria, Va., July 19.—(AP)—An amazing accumulation of almost a century and a half was sold on the auction block here today. The stock was that of the old Leadbeater drug store that has been in business ever since George and Martha Washington were customers.

By raising the total bid on all individual articles, the American Pharmaceutical association bought the entire stock of the 140 year old store for $1,525.

Store May Be Museum.

Coöperating with Alexandria citizens, the association planned, if possible, to keep the most historic articles on the old shelves as an apothecary museum.

If the citizens of Alexandria are unable to arrange for the purchase of the rambling Leadbeater building the pharmaceutical association plans to take the stock to its new headquarters in Washington.

A small and yellowed slip of paper, Martha Washington's 1802 order for "one quart of the best castor oil," started at $10 and sold at $51.

Papers Dealing with Slaves.

More than a hundred old letters, valuable for content or signature, were auctioned off. A title to a slave, signed by George Washington Park Custis, and witnessed by his son-in-law, Robert E. Lee, brought $23. An 1837 deed of emancipation of a slave brought $5. The Quaker proprietor of the original store was interested in freeing slaves.

Robert E. Lee's order for white lead brought $7.50. Sold also was a George Washington Park Custis order for "two bundles" of a brand of cigars praised as "good and above all mild"; and his rather pathetic request for extension of a note, pleading illness and hard times.

Old Instruments Found.

Under the eaves, shortly before the auction, several specimens of the old instruments used by early doctors for blood letting were found, rounding out what E. G. Eberle, the American Pharmaceutical society historian, called the largest collection of its kind ever put up for sale in this country.

The store had been run by members of the same family from its founding until about two months ago. The Leadbeater who then ran it died. The store then succumbed to the competition.

A Dusty Hush Envelops Fair Tourist Office

There was stillness in the gayly decorated four story office building at 209 South Wabash avenue yesterday afternoon. Amid the clamor of traffic, the roar of elevated trains, the shrilling of motor horns, the hush in the building was unnatural.

Across the front of the building hung a huge sign. It read: "Visitors' Tourist Service. Official Headquarters, Information and Housing Bureau of A Century of Progress. Visitors' Tourist Bureau, Inc. I. D. Padorr, Pres." Flags and bunting also adorned the new stone front of the structure.

Elevators That Don't Run.

The lettering of the sign was repeated on a handsome canopy which extended from the doorway of the building to the curb. In the lobby was a large desk with a placard marked "Information," but there was no one at the desk. There were elevators, but they were not running.

A chill settled upon a reporter sent to ascertain whether all was well with the Visitors' Tourist Bureau. He recalled the eminent respectability of the bureau and its distinguished sponsorship.

A Guide for Country Visitor.

The purpose of the organization, as explained in literature circulated during the last few months, was to provide a place where the country visitor could be advised against the pitfalls of a great city and be informed how he might spend his visit without temptation.

Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress, indorsed the plan. The city council adopted a resolution commending it. I. D. Padorr, an energetic promoter, was elected president and began selling memberships at $3 each. At this price a member was entitled to free parking, club privileges, and help in finding lodging.

Many Phones, but No Jingles.

The reporter emerged, blinking, from a dark stairway into the light on the second floor of the silent office building. He saw a long and wide room with many desks. There were papers on the desks and telephones. But no one sat there and the phones did not jingle.

On the third floor this scene was repeated. On the fourth floor was a room that apparently had been President Padorr's private office. Great bundles of sealed letters were ready for mailing to many addresses in many states. There was a switchboard upon which dust lay.

Descending again, the reporter made a discovery. At a corner desk on the second floor a comely girl was sitting. Strapped ingeniously about her wrist was a candle, which, she explained, she lighted when passing down and up the dark stairways.

A Meeting Is Held.

"They're having a meeting about it tonight," she said when asked for information about the strange state of affairs. She would say nothing more.

It was learned, however, that the meeting was held at 5:30 o'clock last evening in the office of the Rev. Dr. Laidman at 19 South La Salle street.

The ministers who attended were chary of comment, but it was ascertained that President Padorr recently grew weary of his position and resigned without notice.

After the president's resignation some financial difficulties developed, it was said, and the debts are now said to aggregate some $60,000. The employés quit their desks when no salaries were forthcoming.

Whether the Visitors' Tourist Bureau, Inc., will be revived remained uncertain last night.

OAK PARK POLICE BARK AND SHOOT TO BAG A BADGER

Among the fauna which got in among the flora in the yard of Mrs. Minnie Bennett at 1122 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, yesterday was a 20 pound badger. It promptly dug a deep hole, indicating by its actions that it intended to spend the summer and fall in Mrs. Bennett's flower bed.

Mrs. Bennett called the Oak Park police and Patrolmen Pickett and Wolff responded. With pistols drawn they approached the den and simulated the barking of dogs. As is well known a badger likes nothing better than to battle with dogs. So out he came and was shot to death. It is believed the animal arrived in Chicago on a freight train. The Soo line tracks are about two blocks from the Bennett home.

FLIES ON AFTER BEING FORCED TO LAND IN SIBERIA

Plane Injured as It Brushes Trees.

BULLETIN.

MOSCOW, July 20 (Thursday).—(AP)—Wiley Post made a quick and surprising takeoff from Khabarovsk, Siberia, today for Fairbanks, Alaska, the trans-Pacific hop of his race against time around the world.

The daring American aviator was forced down by unfavorable weather at Rukhlovo, Siberia, nearly 700 miles west of Khabarovsk, Wednesday afternoon at 2:32 o'clock Moscow time (6:32 a. m. Chicago daylight time).

Post took off again from that town at 11:25 p. m. (3:25 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago daylight time), but first reports did not give the time of his arrival in Khabarovsk.

At 5:58 a. m. Moscow time today (9:58 p. m. Chicago daylight time, Wednesday) he was off on the seventh lap of his epic flight, a jaunt of nearly 3,000 miles. The stocky Oklahoman was about even with the time he and Harold Gatty made on a similar journey in 1931.

Gen. Balbo and his flyers arrive in New York after flight from Chicago; millions see his flight over city; will visit President Roosevelt. Story on page 2.

MOSCOW, July 19.—(AP)—Wiley Post, American globe circling flyer, came down at Rukhlovo, Siberia, about 300 miles short of his scheduled halting place, Blagovyeshchensk, at 2:32 p. m. today Moscow time [6:32 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time]. Bad weather forced him to interrupt his around the world flight.

The daring aviator's plane, the Winnie Mae, was slightly damaged in brushing against treetops shortly before the arrival at Rukhlovo. Clouds and mists forced the American to hug the ground dangerously, but despite this mishap he made a perfect landing.

Flyer Near Exhaustion.

Post, who left Irkutsk at 7 a. m. Moscow time [11 p. m. Tuesday Chicago time], was very near exhaustion when he brought his ship down at the Siberian town, having denied himself needed rest along the route in an effort to set a new record for the around the world air trip.

His arrival at Rukhlovo set at rest anxieties which had been felt for his safety, since he was long overdue at Blagovyeshchensk. Soviet air officials at Novo-Sibirsk, where Post stopped yesterday, had sent out urgent broadcast inquiries for the American flyer.

Post was sighted at three points between Irkutsk and Rukhlovo as he flew eastward in an attempt to regain time which he lost at the former place when unfavorable atmospheric conditions induced him to take a long rest. These points were Verkne Udinsk, Kosinaya, and Torgoutoy.

Falls Behind Time.

New York, July 19.—(AP)—Wiley Post today fell slightly behind the time of his 1931 world flight with Harold Gatty, but the stocky Oklahoman still had a good chance of bettering his record.

When he landed at Rukhlovo, Siberia, at 6:32 a. m. (Chicago time) he had been on the way for 98 hours 23 minutes.

On the basis of 150 miles an hour, made by Post early in this journey, he was about an hour behind the previous time table.

In 1931, however, Post and Gatty remained at Blagovyeshchensk 14 hours 30 minutes. Thus a quick getaway from Rukhlovo and a direct flight to Khabarovsk, instead of stopping at Blagovyeshchensk, would take up several hours for the solo pilot.

Plans Quicker Getaway.

Post and Gatty were held on the ground at Khabarovsk 26 hours 30 minutes, a time that the flyer's associates in New York believed would be cut materially.

After he reaches North America Post plans to gain some margin by only a 15 minute stop at Edmonton, Canada, where he and Gatty passed 11 hours. Careful preparations for quick refueling have been made there and also at Fairbanks, Alaska, where the two aviators were on the ground nearly six hours.

FUNERAL PLANE IN KAUNAS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, July 19.—The remains of the two Chicago flyers Capt. Stephen Darius and Lieut. Stanley Girenas, who were killed near Soldin, Germany, early Monday morning, after flying across the Atlantic, arrived at Kaunas airdrome this evening aboard a chartered German plane from Stettin.

The plane was escorted through Lithuania by a squadron of army planes. Most of the residents of Kaunas awaited the funeral plane throughout the afternoon and participated in the ceremony of transporting the bodies to the cathedral, from where they will be buried tomorrow.

Maurice L. Stafford, acting American chargé d'affaires, attended the ceremony today and made a brief speech following an address by President Smetona. President Smetona laid Lithuania's most prized order, Vytautas, upon the caskets, while a band played the Lithuanian and American anthems.

The wife of Capt. Darius and his daughter, together with a brother and sister of Girenas, were present when the funeral plane arrived.

The city of Kuanas today named two streets after the flyers, who will be regarded at national heroes.

Germany Pays Tribute.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STETTIN, Germany, July 19.—Military honors were paid by the German reichswehr, police, Storm troops, Hitler Guards, and flying youth to Capt. Stephen Darius and Lieut. Stanley Girenas as their Lithuanian comrades took their coffins, draped in the Lithuanian colors, aboard an airplane for Kaunas today. The airplane was filled with flowers from officialdom and private citizens. The funeral plane stopped at Koenigsberg to receive more German floral tributes, while reichswehr men, Hitler troops, and police stood at attention.

SERVICES HERE TODAY.

Lithuanians of Chicago will attend a requiem high mass at 10 o'clock this morning in St. George's Catholic church, 32d street and Auburn avenue, in honor of Capt. Stephen Darius and Lieut. Stanley T. Girenas, Lithuanian born Chicagoans who died when their plane crashed in Germany on a flight to their homeland. The mass, following by six hours the national funeral services to be held for the flyers in Kaunas, capital of Lithuania, will be celebrated by the Rev. Msgr. Michael Krusas. B. B. Balutis, minister from Lithuania to the United States, and Antanas Kalvaitis, Lithuanian consul in Chicago, will attend.

MATTERN READY TO HOP

NOME, Alaska, July 19.—(AP)—Jimmie Mattern, Texas flyer, today was waiting at Anadyr, Siberia, for an improvement in weather conditions to continue his flight around the world. Fog and misty atmosphere made flying dangerous in the Bering sea region.

Messages from the Russian wireless station at Anadyr indicated that Pilot Levanovsky, flying a soviet seaplane, reached Anadyr Sunday and that he would bring Mattern to Nome as soon as weather permits.

Mattern has been stranded in eastern Siberia since June 14, when his plane, Century of Progress, was forced down by engine trouble near Anadyr while he was attempting to better the globe girdling record set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in 1931. Mattern's plane was damaged and he suffered an injured ankle and burns.

France Grants Trotzky Permit to Reside There

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 19.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky, who is en route to Italy for medical treatment, has received permission to reside in France, Turkish sources said today. He may continue aboard the Italian ship Bulgaria, on which he and his wife sailed Monday night, to Marseilles, it was said, and settle in southern France. The French embassy confirmed that Trotzky had been granted a French visa for a limited stay in France. This can be renewed.

Two Millions Left by John Markle to Charity

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—John Markle, coal operator and philanthropist, who died on July 10 last at his home, 1060 Fifth avenue, bequeathed a total of $2,160,000 to charity, the greater part of his estate, it was learned today when the will was filed in the Surrogates' court.

BALBO ARMADA ARRIVES IN N. Y. FROM CHICAGO

Leader's Flying Time Is 7 Hours 6 Minutes.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Gen. Italo Balbo and his Italian fleet of 24 trans-Atlantic seaplanes and 96 men gave New York and its environs a thrilling aerial spectacle and an impressive demonstration of the safety of flying this afternoon.

Like so many great water birds flocking southward in the autumn, the four-and-twenty planes soared over the city and landed in Jamaica bay, off Floyd Bennett field, without a mishap. They flew the 1,000 miles from Chicago in 7 hours 6 minutes, completing the first leg of their return trip to Italy after visiting the World's Fair.

Gen. Balbo's flagship left Chicago at 7:50 a. m. and landed at Jamaica bay at 2:56 p. m. [both Chicago daylight time], and the others followed him at intervals of a few minutes.

Flies Down Hudson River.

Virtually every one in New York and the adjoining territory had the opportunity of seeing the Italian air fleet as it flew down along the Hudson river at varying altitudes, estimated at from 1,000 to 3,500 feet, skirted the Manhattan shore, flew over the harbor and eastward across Brooklyn, and traveled past Coney Island, Manhattan Beach and Brighton Beach on its way to Jamaica bay by way of Rockaway inlet.

Not only at the landing place but all along the line of flight New Yorkers turned out by the thousands to welcome the Italian flyers. They stood in the street, on roof tops, in office and apartment windows from one end of the city to another.

They waved and cheered at the flyers, while whistles and sirens from factories ashore and from boats in the river and harbor added to the volume of welcome. Not only by land and sea but also by air the greeting manifested itself with the navy dirigible Macon and dozens of airplanes flying back and forth over the vicinity where the Italian flyers came down.

No Anti-Fascisti Demonstration.

The city bedecked itself with American and Italian flags and with gayly colored banners and pennants in celebration of the Balbo visit. Such demonstrations were especially noticeable in the Italian districts, where the large Italian population of New York City, overjoyed at the success of the flight, celebrated gayly.

Despite rumors of anti-Fascisti demonstrations, which led to thorough police precautions for the protection of Gen. Balbo and his men, no untoward incidents were reported.

Gen. Balbo, with his triad, made his landing at 3:56 p. m., New York time. Meanwhile the twenty-one planes still aloft completed another circle around the Rockaways and Canarsie, at the end of which three black ringed planes dropped down to a graceful landing. These wide circles were continued until the eight flights had made their eight separate landings. The last flight came down at 4:19 o'clock.

Macon Puts on Show.

After the last triad landed the Macon drifted over toward the airport and put on a show which thrilled the crowd almost as much as the landing of the Italians. The dirigible released a navy flyer in a swift airplane, which zoomed over the heads of the Italians and made a graceful landing on the airfield.

Several navy airplanes then took the air from the airport and gave a demonstration of hooking on and flying away from the dirigible in flight, which fairly took the crowd's breath away. Then the Macon departed in the direction of her hangar at Lakehurst, N. J.

As Gen. Balbo was transferred to the official barge a young woman, in a flaming scarlet bathing suit, plunged from the pier at the naval base and swam with sure strokes toward the barge. The girl, Grace Mastelloni of Brooklyn, pulled herself aboard the barge and cried:

"Viva Balbo!"

Tonight the visiting flyers were guests of Rear Admiral Yates Stirling Jr. at a dinner at the Columbia Yacht club. Gov. Herbert Lehman and Mayor John P. O'Brien were among the guests.

Balbo and his flying armada will remain here until next Tuesday, except for a trip which some of them will take to Washington tomorrow, according to plans announced tonight.

United States army and navy airplanes will carry Gen. Balbo and 35 of his men to Washington in the morning, leaving Floyd Bennett field at 8:30 o'clock. Five army and six navy transport planes will be used.

Gen. Balbo and ten of his senior officers will be received by President and Mrs. Roosevelt and will be luncheon guests at the White House.

100,000 SEE TAKEOFF

Gen. Italo Balbo led his flight of twenty-four Savoia-Marchetti seaplanes out of Chicago yesterday morning and headed for New York through hazy skies. The heavy seaplanes took the air in single file as their motors roared a final farewell to Chicago. The takeoff, which lasted for an hour after the general's flagship left the water at 7:50 a. m., was witnessed by more than 100,000 persons lining the shore.

The ninety-six flyers awakened and had breakfast at the Drake hotel at 5 a. m. They were at the refueling dock beside Navy pier half an hour later, and were taken out to their planes in small boats, where they warmed the motors for the takeoff. At 7:15 a. m. Gen. Balbo arrived at the dock, escorted by a troop of cavalry. He inspected a rifle battalion drawn up as a guard of honor, and with a last wave of farewell stepped aboard a boat and was taken to his plane.

Balbo Surveys Sky.

His plane taxied from the anchorage, north of the pier, to the end of the pier, where it lay for ten minutes as he surveyed the hazy skyline of the city. A slight wind was blowing from the northwest as the general pointed the nose of his plane down wind and took off after a short run.

Just before the takeoff Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, flew low overhead in an army plane and dropped a farewell message into the water which was retrieved by a member of Gen. Balbo's crew. A squadron of pursuit planes from Selfridge Field, Mich., flew high overhead in salute. As Gen. Balbo's plane disappeared in the haze a nineteen gun salute was fired from shore.

Fifteen Planes Take Off.

The first fifteen planes of the flight took off to the south, circling back over the pier as they gained altitude. The last nine planes taxied from their anchorage outside the outer breakwater and took off to the north, also circling the pier. At 9 a. m. the last plane had disappeared to the southeast.

The Italian flight was convoyed by a squadron of army fighting planes, under the personal command of Gen. Parker, as far as Toledo, O. There the general's plane dipped in salute and the army planes pulled away as the Italian armada sped on toward New York. After the departure of the flyers yesterday morning Consul General Giuseppe Castruccio of Italy called upon Mayor Kelly at the city hall and presented him with a gold medal commemorating the flight in behalf of Gen. Balbo.

Killed by Elevated Train After Leaping or Falling

WORLD FLYER IS FORCED DOWN IN EASTERN SIBERIA

Wiley Post, who is racing to beat his own record around the world, was forced down at Rukhlovo, in eastern Siberia, by bad weather conditions yesterday. The airman took off from Irkutsk yesterday morning for Blagovyeshchensk, 1,000 miles away, but encountered poor flying weather and before reaching Rukhlovo was forced to fly so low he grazed treetops and slightly damaged his plane. The town where he landed is 300 miles from Blagovyeshchensk.

LATVIA PROPOSES U. S. SLASH DEBT AS PRICE OF SELLING ITS GOODS

[Chicago Tribune News Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 19.—The Jaunakas Sinas, Latvia's largest daily, whose 100,000 circulation reaches every fifteenth Lett in this country, today printed on its front page a semi-official article containing the naïve suggestion that the United States should hereafter pay for permission to sell its goods here by reducing Latvia's debt.

[Latvia owed $119,609 on June 15 and paid only $6,000. This was on Latvia's post-armistice loan of $5,893,000 obtained from the United States.]

Contending that the United States exported $25,000,000 worth of goods to Latvia during the last 13 years and in return bought only $7,000,000 worth of Latvian products, the paper suggested that America should compensate for this passive trade balance by reduction of the debt.

According to THE TRIBUNE'S information, this idea, of French origin, is being spread through diplomatic channels among the Baltic states. The policies of both Latvia and Lithuania are strongly influenced by the French.

BELIEVE PLANE LOST FOR YEAR WAS BURIED BY MOUNTAIN SLIDE

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, July 19.—A year ago this week the airplane San José, carrying United States mail, was lost in the Andes mountains with seven passengers and two members of the crew, and no trace of them has ever been found.

Every day for four months airplanes spent several hours surveying and photographing every foot of the Andes for several hundred miles north and south of the San José's route, and every day for six months land parties searched passes and valleys without finding the slightest indication as to where the plane fell.

Aviators and the air company's officials believe the plane struck the side of a mountain and rolled into a valley, dragging after it an avalanche of snow and loose stones, which covered over the wreckage.

ANGELUS TEMPLE BACKS AIMEE'S VIEW OF DIVORCE

Los Angeles, July 19.—(AP)—Leaders of Angelus temple sent word today to Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton that she could count on them if she wants to attempt to win back her husband, David Hutton, baritone singer, who has filed suit for divorce. That was in contrast with their views of Hutton.

Miss Harriet Jordan, the evangelist's chief assistant in temple affairs, broadcast the following message in the hope it would reach Mrs. McPherson-Hutton:

"I want you and the world to know, sister, that the church and everybody is back of you. We have no wish to meddle in your personal affairs and if you still love Dave and want to fight to keep him, that is alright, and you can count on the backing of Angelus temple in your fight."

Miss Jordan feared Mrs. McPherson-Hutton might have collapsed from "shock" over her husband's move for a divorce.

BROKER FIGHTS; SHOT IN CHEST BY ABDUCTOR

Pair Seizes Philadelphia Realty Dealer.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 19.—[Special.]—Frank A. McClatchy, prominent real estate broker of Cynwyd, was shot and seriously wounded late today in a struggle with two men who attempted to kidnap him.

He was lured to a vacant house in Haverford township by two men who pretended they wanted to buy a house. As the three were about to enter a dwelling McClatchy's hand were seized and his arms twisted.

"You're kidnaped," he was informed.

One of the assailants shot McClatchy in the chest. The pair then fled, leaving Mr. McClatchy, who tried to stagger to the nearest road. Almost reaching there, he collapsed and several motorists drove past before a salesman picked him up and took him to a hospital. There it was said he had an even chance to recover.

Sought Other Brother.

It appeared later that Frank's brother, John H. McClatchy, developer of the 69th street business section, was the intended victim, for the kidnapers, one wearing white flannel trousers and a blue coat, the other in a blue business suit, walked into the McClatchy branch office at 69th and Chestnut streets, Upper Darby, shortly after 5 p. m. and asked to talk to Mr. John H. McClatchy.

James Lyons, 32, a salesman, telephoned to the main office in the McClatchy building, 69th and Market streets, just over the Philadelphia city line. He found that John McClatchy was too busy to see them.

Suggestion Is Opposed.

"Tell them I will send my brother Frank over to take care of them," John McClatchy said.

The supposed customers tried to have the head of the firm come to deal with them, but John McClatchy insisted his brother, as sales manager, knows "more than I do."

About twenty minutes later Frank McClatchy arrived and was introduced to "Mr. Carter, an engineer." The three left to look at a house.

ICKES ENCOURAGES CHICAGOANS ASKING $6,000,000 AIRPORT

The Chicago delegation that has been in Washington urging a federal grant of $6,000,000 for a lake front airport here is returning this morning after an encouraging conference yesterday with Secretary of the Interior Ickes to work out an operating plan for the airport. James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, made this announcement last night after talking to members of the delegation by phone.

"Secretary of the Interior Ickes informed our delegation that he has an open mind on the project," Mr. Simpson said. "Although he considers the project properly a municipal and not a federal one, his mind is not closed to arguments for its being built entirely by the government under the 3 billion 300 million dollar public works program.

"Considering it as a municipal project, he asked the delegation to see if it cannot be made self liquidating from revenue from the air lines and other operators who would use the field. This will be determined in a series of conferences to be held here when the delegation returns."

CHECKER CHIEFS ASK WRIT ENDING CONTEMPT CASE

While the taxicab rate "war" continued merrily in Chicago streets yesterday another phase of the conflict was taken into the Superior court. Michael Sokol, president of the Checker Cab company, and George Egan, another official, filed a petition for an injunction to restrain Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green from continuing contempt proceedings against them and from continuing an investigation of the affairs of the company. The petition will come before Judge Joseph B. David today.

The contempt proceedings before Judge Green grew out of testimony given during the trial of Ivar Swedberg, a Checker taxicab driver, who was found guilty of a traffic violation and sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $25 by the judge. Sokol and Egan drew the judicial wrath as a result of allegedly perjured testimony concerning the ownership of the taxicab which Swedberg had driven.

Sam Hunt, Capone Gunman, Arrested on Loop Corner

Sam Hunt, the "golf bag gunman" of the Capone gang, was arrested yesterday by Sergt. William Burns of the state's attorney's police detail, who found him loitering at Clark and Randolph streets. Hunt was reticent as to his present occupation, and was locked up at the detective bureau. He is appealing a sentence of a year in jail for carrying concealed weapons.

SPANISH PREMIER MAY INTERVENE FOR JAILED YANKS

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, July 19.—Premier Manuel Azana, who is also minister of war and as such at the top of the civil guard, today indicated that he would intervene in the imprisonment of five Americans at Palma, Mallorca. The Americans have been held in jail 43 days and denied bail on charges of having attacked a civil guard.

Premier Azana will receive Ambassador Claude Bowers tomorrow. The premier wants to hear the American envoy's side of the story, which, however, already had been presented to him in the cabinet council by Foreign Minister Fernando de los Rios, who called the premier's attention to the fact that the case is getting wide attention in the press abroad, although it is being ignored here.

It is becoming evident to the embassy here that although Washington has ordered Claude I. Dawson, American consul general at Barcelona, back to Palma, nothing can be done there because of the bitter attitude of the military auditor. Only Azana himself can, if he chooses, take the action necessary to release the five on bail, attenuate the charges and possibly postpone the trial indefinitely. Dawson will leave for Mallorca tonight.

Doctor to Examine Woman.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PALMA, Mallorca, July 19.—Authorities here were said today to have agreed to permit a doctor to enter the dungeon of this fair island and to examine Mrs. Caroline Lockwood, who is in a nervous condition after six weeks in prison. Her condition is causing her American companions in the prison great anxiety. Her husband, Clinton Lockwood of Springfield, Mass.; Rutherford Fullerton of Columbus, O.; Walter Blodgett of Stamford, Conn., and Roderick F. Mead of New York are in other quarters of the prison.

The doctor, who is a Mallorcan—foreigners are not allowed to practice—is to be charged with determining whether the symptoms that have so alarmed her husband and his three friends are, as they fear, the presage of a mental breakdown. The military judge, after having been warned that the woman's condition might prove serious, granted the request for the doctor, but prison authorities, who have seen many terrible things in their day, are skeptical about her alleged symptoms. As one of them put it, "What's a mere six weeks in jail?"

Little Sympathy for Woman.

What, if anything, could be done if the doctor happens to report that the delicate young American woman is really facing a breakdown remains to be seen, since all previous appeals on humanitarian grounds were turned down flatly by the auditor. This dignitary now is vacationing on the Spanish mainland, obviously determined to keep his bag under lock and key as long as he can.

Very little sympathy for the merry five who got tangled up with a civil guard is expressed on the island, where a growing dislike for all foreigners is a more or less confused issue. "It serves them right," and "why can't they obey the laws?" and "tourists are too fresh, they've got to be curbed," are comments generally heard.

The fact that the prisoners are languishing in jail without a trial, and with their guilt thus unproved, cuts little ice in Spain, where there is none of this nonsense prevalent about people being considered innocent until proved guilty.

Some Opinions of U. S. Women.

"I used to play bad piano accompaniments for Mrs. Lockwood's cello, but even so I would not care to give an opinion about a case which can only be decided in court," he said.

Casanovas referred to the doubt with which Americans, and particularly their women, are viewed by the natives.

"The general opinion here," he said, "is that American women are all alike, although I, myself, say that some are good and some are bad. One must take into account that they have been educated differently from our women."

He said that girls who stay out of sight and never frequent cafés or bars and do not parade the streets in beach pajamas might eventually be accepted by the Mallorcans as good girls, and he gallantly added that he thought about 90 per cent did stay out of sight.

In cafés and clubs, he said, opinions expressed about the prisoners are mostly unfavorable to them.

Another American Tells Story.

Theodore Pratt, an American newspaper man, who incurred the displeasure of Mallorcans because of his article about them in an American magazine, and his wife told friends today how a mob of 200 Mallorcans stoned their house in the village of Puerto de Pollensa last night and placarded it with huge signs to the effect that he was a spy in the pay of the American Chamber of Commerce.

Pratt said that the police, after escorting him to Palma, took his passport to prevent his leaving the island. This makes him think legal action will be taken against him as a result of his article, which most Americans here felt was in bad taste, if not far fetched.

U. S. AWAITING WORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—Despite a month of diplomatic representations, the American woman and four American men arrested June 4 for assault on a member of Spain's guardia civil still remain in jail at Palma, Majorca.

Officials of the state department are awaiting word from American Ambassador Claude G. Bowers concerning the latest attempt to assist the five Americans, get them admitted to bail, and have them given a speedy trial.

Ambassador Bowers was expected today to confer with the Spanish prime minister and Minister of War Don Manuel Azana y Diaz, but late tonight no report concerning the interview had been received here. If present representations fail the next step, according to diplomatic procedure, is "a strong note"; that failing, a stronger note, and after that little would be left but the formalities of a real break.

Members Are Picked Men.

According to word reaching Washington, the crux of the affair is that one of the five Americans struck no mere pavement pounding cop, but a member of perhaps the oldest military constabulary corps in the world. Members of the guardia civil, it is said, are not drawn from anywhere, but are picked men, often of good family. They have an excellent opinion of themselves and boast that no one has ever insulted a civil guard and escaped punishment.

According to Spanish law, state department officials say, assault on a member of the guardia civil is a military offense, liable to trial by court martial and with no right to bail, except in the discretion of the court.

No written report of the affair on June 4 has yet been received by the state department, but from word received it appears that the trouble started in the ping-pong room of the Mediterraneno hotel at Palma. The five Americans are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lockwood, Rutherford Fullerton, Walter Blodgett, and Roderick Mead, members of the American art colony on the island of Majorca. One of the four men, it is said, was in an "exuberant" condition and got into trouble with a hotel attendant. The attendant called in the civil guard, who struck the American. Mrs. Lockwood interceded. There was a scuffle. Mrs. Lockwood was hit with the flat of a sword. Her husband got into it. The guard emerged with a hit on the eye, and the march to the jail began.

Telephone Case Recalled.

The case is the second since the Spanish revolution to require out of the ordinary representations by the state department. Early last year, when the Spanish parliament was considering a bill which would have confiscated the property of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, it took what the state department terms a "very strong note" before the idea of confiscation was dropped.

Senator's Daughter Gets Annulment

Mrs. Janet Sheppard Graves, daughter of United States Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, the annulment of whose marriage was revealed yesterday. Her husband was William A. Graves, New York dramatic art student. The decree was granted Mrs. Graves in Los Angeles on Monday.

Marriage Brief

Los Angeles, Cal., July 19.—(AP)—Annulment of the marriage of Janet Sheppard Graves, daughter of United States Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, and William A. Graves, New York dramatic art student, was revealed today. The annulment was granted Mrs. Graves in Superior court here last Monday.

Mrs. Graves, who is in Hollywood seeking a screen career, said in her petition that before she and Graves were married Nov. 25, 1932, they agreed it would be desirable to rear a family. She charged that after they were married, Graves refused to allow her to become a mother.

Their romance began when they were students at a New York drama school. She came west shortly after the marriage. Graves remained in the east. He did not contest the annulment action.

WALTER MONROE, STEEL CHIEF, IS SUED BY WIFE

Mrs. Helen Bunn Monroe, 4811 Kenwood avenue, filed suit for separate maintenance yesterday in the Circuit court against Walter Dillman Monroe, president of the Chicago Steel Service corporation.

Mrs. Monroe's bill, filed by Attorney John A. Bloomingston, charges that Monroe frequently became intoxicated, during which periods he used abusive language toward her and treated her cruelly. They have three children, Walter Jr., 20 years old, Jack, 12, and Joan, 8.

The bill asks that Mrs. Monroe be given the Kenwood avenue home because of its proximity to the schools which the children attend. She also asks an injunction to restrain her husband from molesting her.

SOLVE MYSTERY OF EXECUTIVE'S DEATH IN LAKE

Accidental Drowning, Is Police Belief.

An investigation last evening convinced the police and coroner's investigators that Harry A. Rick, 42 years old, an executive of the Lord & Thomas Advertising agency, was accidentally drowned when he fell into the waters of Lake Michigan from the deck of the power yacht Grace M. early last Sunday morning. The yacht was moored a quarter of a mile off the foot of Monroe street in the Chicago yacht harbor.

Rick's body was recovered a half mile off Monroe street early yesterday, ending a search which his widow, Margaret, 6834 Jeffery avenue, had carried on since the end of a gay party Saturday night on the yacht.

The members of the party spent the evening on the boat after witnessing the arrival of Gen. Italo Balbo's air fleet. Late at night Rick was rowed ashore to arrange by telephone for accommodations for the party at a water front cabaret near the Navy pier. While he was telephoning, the police learned, the other members of the party were being ferried ashore.

Passes Shoregoing Party.

Before they arrived Rick boarded a taxi boat of the Marine Service corporation at the foot of Monroe street. With him were two other passengers. William J. Keough, 624 Briar place, pilot of the boat, and John Toohey, 244 East Huron street, conductor, said they had taken the other passengers to boats moored in the harbor and then had returned Rick to the Grace M.

The police believe that during this interval Rick passed the other members of his party who were shorebound. When he climbed aboard the Grace M. he was alone, its skipper, Nels Nelson, having departed after landing the yacht's owner, Henry J. Stephens, an executive of the Stephens & Marsh Advertising agency. Mrs. Rick, and two other couples.

Both Keough and Toohey asserted that Rick appeared to have been drinking. It was the police belief that, finding the cabin door locked, Rick stumbled over the rail and slipped into the lake. His widow said that he was unable to swim and feared the water.

Coroner's Aids Investigate.

The investigation of the death was carried out by Sergts. Frank Donohue and Charles Reynolds of the coroner's office on orders of Coroner Frank J. Walsh.

The one mystery which remained unsolved concerned a sum of several hundred dollars which Rick was reported to be carrying. He had drawn a month's salary and other funds from the bank to finance a vacation which he and his wife were to have begun on Sunday. When his body was recovered, the police said, they found only 69 cents in his pockets.

The body was sighted by workers on a government dredge and it was taken ashore by a crew from the central coast guard station under command of Elmer Dudley. The coast guardsmen said they searched only the trousers and found no money before turning the body over to the police.

ELKS, IN CONVENTION AT MILWAUKEE, VOTE TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Milwaukee, Wis., July 19.—(AP)—A resolution assuring President Roosevelt of the support of its entire membership in his efforts to restore national prosperity was adopted unanimously today by the grand lodge of Elks in convention here.

The resolution, ordered sent immediately to the President, said:

"The grand lodge of the Benevolent and Patriotic Order of Elks of the United States of America, in annual convention assembled, sends you sincere and fraternal greeting, wishes you complete and speedy success in your efforts to restore national prosperity, and tenders to you the hearty support and coöperation of 600,000 Elks, all of whom are American citizens. We are proud that a loyal Elk is at the head of this great nation, to which each Elk gives patriotic and undivided allegiance."

STILL EXPLODES IN NILES CENTER; 2 MEN INJURED

Two men were seriously injured last evening when a still they were tending in a barn at 9044 East Prairie road, Niles Center, exploded.

Unidentified persons took the injured in an automobile to the Evanston hospital, thrust them into a receiving room and fled. Physicians said that the men had only a slight chance of recovery. They are Anthony Pavia, 30 years old, who gave the address, 1233 58th avenue, Cicero, and John Colini, 35 years old, who said he was an Evanstonian.

The barn is in the rear of a cottage occupied by George Mutte, a teamster employed by the city of Chicago. He denied that he knew the use to which the outbuilding was put. It had been leased by the owner, Michael Abernathy, he said, to persons who were strangers to him. The police were unable to locate the owner.

A police guard was stationed over the still and the 2,000 gallons of mash found in the barn. The injured men were also guarded at the hospital.

FIREMEN BATTLE $150,000 BLAZE IN STOCKYARDS

Brewery and Warehouse Are Gutted.

Damage estimated at $150,000 was caused yesterday by a spectacular, swiftly spreading fire that destroyed a warehouse of the Anglo-American Provision company at 40th street and Packer avenue, at the north edge of the stockyards, and burned away a part of the adjoining plant of the Koller Brewing company.

One-fifth of the city's fire fighting equipment was called to the scene and traffic in all the nearby streets was halted. Huge crowds of workers from packing plants hampered the firemen and 200 policemen were sent out to preserve order.

Three Firemen Injured.

Three firemen were slightly injured during the battle with the flames, which lasted from 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. At the latter hour Fire Marshal Corrigan announced that the fire was definitely under control and that there was slight chance it would spread to the buildings in the yards. The wind, coming in from the southeast, carried the smoke and embers away from that inflammable group of structures.

The fire is believed to have started on the second floor of the four story warehouse, which was in use only for offices and locker rooms of employés of Amour & Co., of which the Anglo-American concern is a subsidiary. Only a few of these workers were inside and they escaped without difficulty.

Brewery Adjoins Warehouse.

Adjoining the warehouse is the brewery, a frame building in which thousands of barrels had been stored and in which the manufacture of 3.2 brew was progressing. The company's racking and cooling system was destroyed and 3,000 empty barrels were consumed.

John Whallen, president of the Koller company, said that the beer on hand was not injured and that the company would be able to put its product on the market in six weeks, as had been planned previously. He said the firm's loss was about $50,000. The estimate of $100,000 damage to the packing warehouse was made by Fire Marshal Corrigan.

The firemen injured were: Pipeman John Cosgrove, struck in the face by a falling brick; Truckman William Hales, who suffered a crushed finger, and Hoseman William Raiss, who sustained a sprained ankle.

OUTLAW UNIONS ASK RETURN OF SEIZED RECORDS

Four outlaw unions, whose books and records were seized Tuesday by detectives from the state's attorney's office on subpoenas duces tecum issued by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court, yesterday petitioned the judge for the return of the documents.

Attorney Michael Ahern, representing the unions, argued that the subpoenas were illegal as the petition of State's Attorney Courtney did not specify any crimes by the unions, and did not state how the records were involved in the grand jury investigation.

Judge Prystalski impounded the records, which will not permit the state's attorney to examine them. He said that he would rule today on Attorney Ahern's petition for the International Union of Operating Engineers, local No. 150. The other three unions involved are the Excavating, Grading and Asphalt Teamsters and Chauffeurs union, local No. 731; the Chicago Building Materials Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers' union, local No. 786, and the General Teamsters union of Maywood and vicinity, local No. 782. Judge Prystalski will rule on these petitions tomorrow.

DRIVER IS HELD TO JURY ON AUTO ASSAULT CHARGE

Frank Kukula, 45 years old, 2325 West North avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday in $5,000 bail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Lieut. Patrick Knox of the North avenue station was the complainant. The lieutenant testified that Kukula struck him on the head with a revolver. His car and Kukula's were in a collision, he testified, and when he tried to get Kukula's license number the latter struck him. He said he was in a weakened condition due to a severe illness, and this was the first day after his recovery that he had ventured from his home. He said he drew his gun to protect himself, but Kukula wrested it from him and used it to beat him.

Begin Vaccinating All Employes of Fair Today

Vaccination of all employés of the World's Fair will start this afternoon. Members of the Paul Ash orchestra, which is playing at the Blue Ribbon casino, will be the first to receive the treatment. The health measure was ordered yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health and health director of the Fair, who will perform the first vaccinations.

COUNTY MOVES TO JACK UP ITS TAX SUIT BUREAU

Call Conference to End Alleged Laxity.

The finance committee of the county board yesterday moved to end alleged laxity in the prosecution of delinquent personal property tax suits by the state's attorney's office. The committee voted in favor of the adoption of a nine point program to speed handling of the suits and to call a conference of the chief justices of the Circuit, Superior, and Municipal courts, State's Attorney Courtney, Assessor J. L. Jacobs, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, and the county board to press the program.

The committee acted after County Commissioner Amelia Sears, chairman of a subcommittee, had submitted a report which indicated that prosecution of delinquent personal property suits under special attorneys brought greater results than the handling of such suits by the state's attorney's office. She cited the results obtained by Lee La Rochelle, former assistant state's attorney, as a special tax attorney, which, she said, were far more productive in tax revenue than Courtney's office.

Collections Are 76.7 Per Cent.

The report showed that La Rochelle and his associates collected $884,027, or 76.7 per cent of the $1,100,403 they suit for, while the prosecutor's office collected only $391,770, or 43.6 per cent, of suits for $894,016. The report also stated that the prosecutor's office has made motions to reduce taxes, has vacated judgments obtained, has made motions for findings in favor of defendants, waived penalties, and favored defendants who did not appear.

Commissioner Sears cited the case of the prosecutor's office against the Gooder-Hendrickson Co., Inc., 308 West Washington street. Records of the prosecutor show, she said, that a judgment of $124 was obtained, while records in the treasurer's office show that only $23 was paid. A satisfaction filed by the prosecutor's office in the Circuit court states that the entire judgment was paid, she said.

She also cited the case of C. Kaplan, whose address was not given in the records. Although satisfaction for $12 is recorded in the files of the court clerk, there is no record of payment in the treasurer's office, she said.

Collections in City Courts.

Commissioner Sears presented for consideration of the committee a supplementary report on collections of personalty taxes under $1,000 in the Municipal court. This report revealed, she said, that the practices of falsification of records on tax judgments was not confined to the Circuit and Superior courts.

The nine point program of the committee, recommended as a strict guide for the conduct of suits against delinquent personal property taxpayers, is:

1. There shall be no motions on behalf of the people to reduce taxes.
2. There shall be no motions to vacate presented by the attorney for the people unless that motion to vacate be contingent upon the court's order that unless taxes are paid within certain definite date a judgment for a greater amount is to be entered.
3. There shall be, under no circumstances, a motion on behalf of the people to enter a finding for the defendant.
4. There shall be no cases tried unless a proper appearance is on file or unless a representative of the company is present in open court and his testimony is taken by a court reporter.
5. All cases tried should be taken by court reporters and records should be available to the scrutiny of the county board, as they are the employer and charged with the collection of these taxes.
6. There shall be no waiver of penalties.
7. Further, that in the prosecution of these cases—a man be assigned to the federal court for all bankruptcy and receivership cases in that court. A man be assigned to Superior court, chancery division, for all receiverships in that court. A man be assigned to Circuit court for all receiverships and bankruptcies in that court. A man be assigned to state auditor's office to cover the approximate 285 cases against closed banks. A man be assigned in the Circuit and Superior court law division for action of debt for cases involving from $500 to $1,000 up.
8. That in the Municipal courts three judges be assigned and continuously engaged in hearing cases involving less than $500.
9. Further that in all 1931 delinquent tax cases, the assessor's record shall be introduced in court and made part of the record.

Describes Collection Practice.

Following the submission of the reports Commissioner George A. Miller described the practice of the state's attorney's office in collecting delinquent personalty taxes.

"To make my point clear let us presume that I am sued," said Commissioner Miller. "I go to the state's attorney's office and say 'What is the least you will take for this?' If I am in good standing with the office the settlement is made. That sort of thing has been going on for twelve years and it ought to be stopped."

Chairman Maurice Kavanagh interrupted to ask why Miller had not attempted to end the practice some years ago when a Republican state's attorney was in office. Miller is one of the two Republican members of the county board.

Time to End It.

"It makes no difference under what administrations this has been going on," Commissioner Miller replied. "It's time an end was put to it."

"All we ask in the court proceedings is that the state's attorney work for us and not for somebody else," said Commissioner Sears.

Commissioner Sears moved that the suits and court action for the collection of personalty taxes be recorded in nine offices. She suggested that the Circuit, Superior, and Municipal courts, the state's attorney, the treasurer, the assessor, the county clerk, the board of appeals, and the county board follow the efforts to collect the delinquent taxes.

No Chance for Irregularity.

"With nine offices recording the various proceedings there will be no possibility of irregularities," she said.

Commissioner Daniel Ryan moved that the heads of the various offices be summoned to a conference by the president of the county board, Emmett Whealan, to consider proper procedure for the collection of the delinquent taxes.

State's Attorney Courtney has brought a suit against the county board to restrain its members from paying La Rochelle and his associates for their services in connection with collection of 1930 personal property taxes. Circuit Judge Joseph H. Burke has set a hearing for Aug. 1.

Urges Teachers to Bring Out Crowds for Protest Meeting

Four hundred teachers met yesterday at the Central Y. M. C. A. to receive instructions from their leader, John Fewkes, for the organized protest against the economy action taken by the board of education. Fewkes, who has led the demonstrations for teachers' pay in the loop recently, is now leading the fight on the school board's efforts to bring the schools back to solvency. He called upon all present at the meeting to hold similar meetings with parents in order to have a large turnout at the Chicago Stadium massmeeting at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

"Reach your communities through the students of your schools, their families, and all their friends and relations," urged Fewkes. "We want the biggest demonstration ever held in this city and we can only impress the public with the seriousness of this educational curtailment by having just such a demonstration."

Will Circulate Petitions.

Fewkes asked the teachers to circulate handbills, petitions, and other literature, which have been provided by the "citizens' save our schools" committee, with headquarters at 185 North Wabash avenue. Fewkes told the teachers to "carry the handbills and petitions into every home in Chicago."

The speakers at the massmeeting tomorrow will include Mrs. W. S. Hefferan the only school trustee who voted against the economy program; Dean Charles H. Judd of the school of education at the University of Chicago; John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; Rabbi Solomon Goldman, Dr. John Lapp, and Jack Light, the last named representing students.

Music will be furnished by a 350 piece band recruited from the high schools, a school orchestra, and the Schurz High school choir. The promoters of the massmeeting say that the crowd will be so great that overflow meetings will be held in Madison street and Warren avenue sides of the Stadium.

Massmeeting Tonight.

Fewkes will be among the speakers tonight at a massmeeting of the student committee on education, headed by Jack Light, at 2207 West Van Buren street. Other speakers will include Profs. T. V. Smith and Nelson Henry of the University of Chicago and Attorney Barratt O'Hara.

CITY CREDITORS TOLD NOT TO PAY COLLECTION FEE

In connection with an announcement that the city will offer, within the next 60 or 90 days, $2,000,000 in 1933 tax warrants to small creditors who have supplied it with materials and supplies, Mayor Kelly declared yesterday that it is unnecessary for any creditor to pay a commission for collection of a bill from the city.

He made the statement in response to reports that favored creditors of the city, in the past, had had their bills paid as soon as they agreed to pay a fee to some outsider.

"It is my intention to put a stop to this practice," said Mayor Kelly. "Bills will be paid as fast as the finances of the city permit and it is unnecessary for any creditor to pay a commission to anyone for collecting his bill. Creditors should consult the city controller only."

Payment of about $1,000,000 of bills with tax warrants will start within a few days, the mayor said. A second $1,000,000 in warrants will be offered to creditors within two or three months.

The city started paying its employes yesterday for the last half of March. The pay roll aggregated about $1,800,000.

CUTS TO SAVE SCHOOLS FROM RUIN: M'CAHEY

Soft Jobs Lopped Off, He Says.

economy program the school board was not "crippling," "wrecking," "destroying," or "emasculating" the education of Chicago children was issued by Trustee Ernst Buehler, vice president of the board.

Charges had been made by various critics that athletics would be doomed because of the reduced force in the physical education department under the economy order. Mr. Buehler was selected to clarify this matter and explain the lopping off of jobs. He has for many years been identified with German turnverein and athletic activities in Chicago.

"Our economy program in the physical education department might be called 'putting the instructors back to work,'" asserted Mr. Buehler. "Physical training of the students will be continued to the same extent as heretofore, and athletics in the schools will be carried on as in past years.

Overmanned, He Asserts.

"The department, like others in the school system, had experienced a mushroom growth beyond all bounds of real needs. It was overmanned. Many of the instructors taught only one to three classes a day. The waste of their time was enormous. We only seek to get a full day's work out of each man or woman in the department."

Mr. Buehler next pointed out that experts in the field agree that one instructor to a gymnasium is sufficient.

Shows Increase in Staff.

"Twelve years ago two physical training instructors took care of 3,000 pupils in Lane Technical High school," he continued. "Last year there were sixteen instructors for 6,000 pupils at this school. How these sixteen gymnasium teachers spent all their time is difficult to understand. Maybe they played pinochle or bridge. We did find that the instructors in one school spent considerable time amusing themselves that way.

"In one of the medium sized high schools, with half a dozen instructors, we found that some of these teachers had only one or two classes a day. They spent part of their spare time in unimportant school work and the rest of it in keeping out of sight. Some of them did considerable swimming in the school pool for their own enjoyment."

Soft Jobs Cut Out, He Says.

If high school athletics is curtailed, according to Mr. Buehler, blame will be placed on the principals, for in past years they have been able to provide competent coaches for the teams from the physical instructors and members of the faculty.

Mr. Buehler declared that the school board had not eliminated physical training in the elementary schools.

"The regular teachers will continue, as they have in the past, to give physical training instruction in school hours under proper supervision," he said. "All that has been done is to cut out 230 soft jobs."

TRUSTEE RAPS THEORISTS' FIGHT ON SCHOOL CUTS

Assails Wild Spending of Former Years.

School Trustee William D. McJunkin used plain language yesterday in explaining why he and eight of his colleagues supported President James B. McCahey's $5,000,000 economy order to forestall complete collapse of the school system within a short time.

"There's not a damned bit of sense in this borrowing year after year to finance overspending with the taxpayer paying off mounting interest charges in the future and the teachers unpaid," he said. "The school board must live within its means. In other words, you can't borrow yourself out of debt, nor spend your way into prosperity.

"The present board found the school system in a frightful hole. It was there principally because of consistent overspending, year after year, for 17 years. That's the big reason why it no longer has any credit, why it is unable to pay its teachers and meets its bills.

Theorists Don't Face Facts.

"I can understand certain types of people haranguing against these economies which the board has instituted in the sincere belief that they were the only way to prevent a complete shutdown of the schools. I can understand propandists for the special interests, whose pet fads and frills have been swept away, trying to block the economy plan for their own selfish ends.

"But the thing I cannot understand is that any man pretending to the title of an authority on education should join the hullabaloo. Can these educational theorists never face the facts—the fact that our schools have been costing more than the taxpayers can pay to support them, and that we must retrench or close?

Only Frosting Taken Off.

"Our economy program merely takes the frosting off the cake—frosting which we can't pay for. In their frenzy to save the frosting, these self-styled champions of our school children would rather see us reduced to the financial position where we would soon have to deny the children the solid bread of a common sense education, and close the schools altogether."

Norwegian Ship Leaves Fair Today for Home

The Sorlandet, square rigged Norwegian training ship which has been on display at the Fair, will sail today on its return trip to Norway, but one of the cadets will not be on board. He is 16 year old Arvid Lorensen of Egersund, Norway, who is in the Norwegian-American hospital recovering from an appendicitis operation performed a week ago. In another week Lorensen will be able to leave for Montreal, where he will join his shipmates for the ocean voyage.

Dr. Charles Schycker, 6250 South Halsted street, and his brother, Attorney Lars Schycker of Stockholm, Sweden, were reunited yesterday after a separation of 51 years. Attorney Schycker, who came to Chicago to visit the Fair, was met at the 12th street station by his brother and his sister, Mrs. Rose Lunde, 667 West 63d street. Mrs. Lunde had seen her brother when she visited Stockholm in 1922.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday totaled $183,477. A total of $28,655,611 has been collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began April 28. The day's real estate tax collections and the uncollected taxes for four years are shown in the following table:

The day's collection of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $8,153.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday appointed County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough as receiver for thirty-four more tax delinquent properties to collect taxes under the Kerner-Skarda act. The judge also collected taxes of more than $120,000 from properties seeking to avoid receivership.

The largest payment yesterday before Judge Jarecki was made by the Morrison hotel, which paid $63,000. The Brevoort hotel paid $8,750, which attorneys said was made possible by revenue from the circle bar in the hotel.

County Treasurer McDonough filed new petitions in the county court to place 101 properties under receivership for the collection of back taxes. The properties owe $410,571 in back taxes.

Five $50,000 Libel Suits Filed in Tax War

Six directors of the Association of Real Estate Tax Payers, which led the so-called tax strike, were named as defendants in five $50,000 libel suits brought in the Circuit court yesterday by five other directors of the association. The complainants, who allege they were slandered in a bulletin issued by the other directors accusing them of disloyalty, are Charles L. Schwering, Earle A. Shelton, Edward M. Bertha, Thomas D. Collins, and George F. Koestner. The defendants are John M. Pratt, James E. Bistor, Lowell Q. Needler, George W. Reinecke, William Waller Jr., and Joseph D. Stoner.

U. OF C. PROFESSOR PLEADS FOR FRILLS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A plea for fads and frills in public schools was made yesterday by Dr. Mandel Sherman, associate professor of educational psychology at the University of Chicago. He spoke at the conference of administrative officers of public and private schools being held in Judson court.

"I prefer to see these so-called fads and frills—art, music, athletics and such—increase, even at the expense of such a subject as arithmetic in order that nervous breakdowns later may be avoided," said Dr. Sherman.

He explained that these various subjects, which are outside the strict academic courses in the minds of some critics, contribute more to developing mental and emotion balance than do many of the accepted subjects of study. They develop social compatibility, he declared.

Another speaker, Dr. Lewis W. Smith, superintendent of schools of Berkeley, Cal., said that properly organized programs of child guidance will contribute largely to forestalling juvenile delinquency and adult crime.

FAIR NIGHT LIFE BAN LIKELY TO BE REVOKED TODAY

BY EARL MULLIN.

The sun dodgers, who never feel in a mood for merry making until after midnight, declared war yesterday on Fair officials who consider gayety in the dawn unseemly at a properly conducted exposition. As battle lines were drawn last night for a meeting this afternoon between night club concessionaires and officials, the tide of victory had apparently swung in favor of unrestricted hours.

The 1:30 a. m. closing order for the night life centers at the Fair, placed in effect three days ago by Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, is still on the books, but it is being ignored. For four days at least the order will not be enforced and the purveyors of midnight amusements are running until the paying customers call a halt. The 11:30 closing hour at the gates is still in effect, and last night several late comers discovered that it is being rigidly enforced.

Fair Open to Trial Plan.

The whole matter of closing down will be thrashed out this afternoon and any type of order, from an all night night club life at the Fair to a 10 o'clock curfew, may result. However, the concessionaires are determined to press their demands and the Fair seems open to a trial arrangement.

The first attempt to shut down the midnight to dawn places ended in failure Tuesday night. The Streets of Paris, the Pirate Ship, where Texas Guinan handles the laughter, and the Manhattan beer gardens where Ernie Young is the genial host, ran until the customers closed the places by leaving. Police who came in were placed in a quandary by the refusals to close, and left for further orders. Last night no attempts to close were made with both sides resting on their oars for the debates today.

Many comparisons have been made between the old Fair of 1893 and the current exposition, and the present closing fight carries the tradition. In 1893 the dispute was whether to open the grounds on Sunday. After being closed for three Sundays the old Fair was opened, starting a court fight which ended in the United States Supreme court, with the final decision opening the gates. Concessionaires say that the present fight will be carried as far.

"It is not a money matter," Maj. Lohr said yesterday. "In fact, the longer the concessions run the more money the Fair makes. The same holds true for the gates. But we wish to make the Fair a success, and a few persons can prevent that. Our experience has been that all of the fights and the trouble with drunks have occurred after 1:30 a. m.

"If the 1:30 a. m. closing is enforced we must close the gates at 11:30 o'clock, for persons admitted later would be able to stay only a few minutes and then they would be angered."

Deny Disorder in Wee Hours.

Concessionaires denied that trouble occurred in the early dawn. There is drinking, but of an orderly nature, they contended, and police are not wanted in their concessions. The majority of their business is done after midnight and to close them at 1:30 a. m., in many cases, will mean that they will not even make expenses, they said.

"Tuesday night at 10:30 o'clock," Ernie Young of the Manhattan Gardens said, "we had clocked 350 persons. From that hour until closing at 2:45 o'clock 1,379 persons passed through our doors. The late comers are night life people and it is on them we are forced to depend for our income."

The other objection to late closing is that insufficient time is given for cleaning up and stocking the concessions.

Concessionaires Get a Laugh.

To this objection the dozen or so concessionaires who are hurt by the order merely laugh. The dawn and midnight crowd are not on the streets where they will bother either operation, but are inside the night life spots, they claim. Furthermore, practically all the rush supplies are beer and food, used in the very spots which wish to stay open. If necessary, the showmen contend, these operations could be done later.

President Dawes backed up the statements of Maj. Lohr that public safety was the chief consideration in the setting of closing hours.

"There is a great responsibility," he said. "The night life men are good men, but some of them get too much drink in them. An orgy or a tragedy would take away the fair name of the city. There are many questions involved and we have to be careful. The Fair is a reflection of the times and some of the shows must be closed early."

The attendance had reached a total of 129,687 at 11:30 o'clock last night, falling several hundred short of the final figure for Tuesday, 131,407.

If the attendance today reaches at least 108,157, the total for the first 55 days of the Fair will have attained 5,500,000, an average of 100,000. The attendance has fallen short of 100,000 on only one day in July, Saturday, the 8th.

Nine Governors Expected.

High light of today's program at the Fair will be a Governors' day program, with nine state executives definitely on the list to attend and four others who have indicated they will be present if possible.

The following state executives have definitely accepted invitations for today's ceremonies: David Sholtz, Florida; Clyde L. Herring, Iowa; Wilbur L Cross, Connecticut; Henry Horner, Illinois; Paul V. McNutt, Indiana; J. G. Pollard, Virginia; Hill McAllister, Tennessee; Ibra C. Blackwood, South Carolina, and Edwin C. Johnson, Colorado. Gov. Pollard arrived yesterday.

The following governors will probably attend if train schedules permit: O. K. Allen, Louisiana; M. S. Connor, Mississippi; John G. Winant, New Hampshire, and George White, Ohio. The executives are en route to the governors' conference in California.

A special program, starting at 11 a. m. with military pomp and panoply in the Court of Honor, will be presented in compliment to the state executives.

Fair Crowds See Police Nab 2 Suspects in Chase

James Baxter, 42 years old, and Charles Cedarstrom, 35 years old, suspected confidence men, were arrested yesterday after crowds going to the Fair watched two policemen pursue them over the 11th street bridge. Detectives Roy Van Herick and James Bresnahan saw the pair talking to an elderly man. Both ran as the policemen approached. Baxter and Cedarstrom gave their addresses as the Dearborn hotel, 666 South State street.

RECOVER CHILD'S BODY.

The body of Lottie Jerzak, 14 years old, 3426 West 39th street, drowned on Monday in an abandoned quarry in Cicero, was recovered yesterday by the police.

BARE SWINDLING IN CORRIDORS OF COUNTY BUILDING

Avoid Helpful Stranger, Public Is Warned.

A woman approached the office of the Superior court clerk in the county building yesterday and asked a smooth looking stranger who was loitering in the corridor how she could get some divorce records.

"Sure," said the stranger. "I'll fix it up. It will cost you only $5."

The woman paid the money and was told where to find the records. They are always open to free inspection by the public.

Later a man entered the building carrying $82 in his pocket. When he reached for the money a moment later a pickpocket had it.

Taxpayer Is Swindled.

Kay Saucus, 2830 Wallace street, went to the county building to pay his tax bill. He asked a stranger in the first floor corridor where to go.

"I'll take care of that for you right here," said the stranger. "Here's your receipt. Now you won't have to stand in line."

Saucus surrendered his money. He looked at the receipt, a few lines scribbled on plain paper. Then he consulted Policeman Charles Bennett, who is detailed on the city hall side of the lobby that serves both the city hall and the county building. The policeman told Saucus that he had been defrauded.

Story of the Policeman.

"The halls of that county building are swarming with hoodlums and fixers and pickpockets," Policeman Bennett said later. "When I was put on this detail Commissioner of Public Works Sprague told me to run the crooks and hoodlums out of the city hall. Commissioner Hewitt gave me the same instructions when he took office. I did it.

"Look here"—he exhibited four closely typed pages—"this is a list of police characters from Spike O'Donnell down that hung around here until I ran them off. Then they went over to the county building.

"I went to Sheriff Meyering and told him about it a couple of months ago. He sent some of his highway deputies down to the lobby. They looked around and went back upstairs.

They "Can't Be Pushed."

"One of them told me later, 'Why a lot of those guys were out working for the boss last election. We can't be pushing them around.'"

Assessor Jacobs, County Treasurer McDonough and other county officials have issued repeated warnings to the public to have nothing to do with strangers who speak to them in the county building corridors and offer to "fix" assessments for them or "take care" of tax bills.

Italian Pavilion at Fair Reports 1,180,000 Visitors

Commander Luigi Ranieri, general director of the Italian pavilion at the Fair, reported yesterday that 1,180,000 persons had visited the official Italian exhibit since the exposition opened. The weekly average is 215,000, while the seven day attendance has never fallen below 200,000, he said. Officials of the building are now laying plans for Italian day, Aug. 3. A neon light map in front of the building was one of the main attractions of the Fair yesterday, showing the progress of the Balbo air armada on its flight.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

The contests are open to children between 6 and 14 years old. There is no entry fee and bathhouse and swimming pool privileges are free. Prizes will be awarded in the 20 yard free style, 20 yard breast stroke, and 20 yard back stroke.

The opera, "Legend of the Piper," which is being given twice daily in the Enchanted Island theater, was arranged and the music composed by Mrs. Archibald Freer. It is adapted from a play by Josephine Preston Peabody. The cast is composed of 30 children, with Ernest Carres, 6 years old, playing the rôle of the lame boy. The performances are given at 4:15 and 5:15 p. m. and will continue through Saturday.

A painting by S. I. Batowski, Polish artist, of the fatal wounding of Gen. Casimir Pulaski at Savannah during the Revolutionary war, was placed on exhibition in section 1 of the Court of States yesterday. It was brought here by the son of the artist, a newspaperman from Lwow, Poland. The painting was placed on exhibition by the Chicago group of people of Polish descent who placed the Pulaski plaque in the United States courthouse. It will be unveiled Saturday as part of the Polish day celebration.

R. Cooper Jr. will be host to 500 star salesmen of the General Electric company, refrigerator division, today. These men, from throughout the United States, competed in a national sales contest, the prize being a trip to Chicago to visit the World's Fair. P. B. Zimmerman, general manager of the refrigerator department, will be in Chicago to welcome the delegation.

Thirty-five crippled children will be given a three day treat at the World's Fair next week as guests of the Kiwanis club of La Crosse, Wis. They will arrive in Chicago at 8:10 Sunday night over the Milwaukee railroad, accompanied by several nurses and in charge of Sam Hyde. Harry N. Fowler of the South Central Kiwanis will meet them. The children will be quartered at the New Lexington hotel. Chairs to move them about will be supplied by Frank Lyman, superintendent of Lincoln park.

The program for Irish day at the Fair, Aug. 2, was announced yesterday by the committee in charge, headed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and D. F. Kelly. Ceremonies will be held in the court of the Hall of Science from 3 to 5 p. m. D. J. McGrath, Irish free state consul in Chicago, Judge John P. McGoorty and Tom Peet Cross will speak. Music includes a violin solo by Phelim O'Gallagher and solos by Robert Mahoney and Miss Dorothy O'Reilly.

The Philippine exhibit at the Fair will be officially opened Aug. 5 by Governor General Frank Murphy in a wireless telephone message from Manila to Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Exposition. The Philippine Islands day program will be held at the exhibit in the Travel and Transport building from 3 to 4:30 p. m., with another program at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Chizu Mitsuhashi, graduate of Koshisha university in Kioto, Japan, who has been chosen "Miss Japan" at the Fair, will cut a ribbon barring the "Lucky Gate" at the 16th street entrance in the ceremonies dedicating the gate at 11 a. m. Sunday. The gate is copied after the "lucky gates" placed in front of shrines and temples in Japan. To prove to visitors that it is lucky, a genuine pearl will be given to each of 100 women to be selected from the first 20,000 visitors on the day of the dedication.

One of the largest gatherings of Shriners ever held will be Saturday at Medinah Shrine day at the Fair. A parade, in which all the participants will be in costume, will start at 2:30 p. m., from the 14th street entrance and move east to the Administration building, ending in the court of the Hall of Science.

220 FROM BUFFALO TO ARRIVE TODAY FOR POLISH CELEBRATION

A special train is scheduled to bring 220 guests from Buffalo to Chicago today to attend the Polish week festivities in connection with A Century of Progress. This is one of the many groups coming from other parts of the country to witness perhaps the largest conclave of Polish-Americans ever to be held here.

Two features were on the program of the celebration week yesterday. One was a golf tournament, ending with a dinner-dance at the Lincolnshire club. The other event was a mock wedding and crowning of the parish queen in St. Hyacinth's parish. The couple, Miss Elizabeth Stankowicz and Joseph Schwartz, were dressed in the styles of the Columbian Exposition. Miss Helen Rogowski was the parish beauty winner.

Receiver Appointed for Pirate Ship at the Fair

Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles yesterday appointed Fred H. Hummel receiver for the Pirate Ship on which Texas Guinan and her troupe entertain on the midway at the Fair. The receiver was appointed on the petition of the International Aircraft corporation of Niles, Mich., which has a claim of $5,100 against the ship for construction materials. An involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed against the ship on Tuesday on behalf of three other creditors.

MINNEAPOLIS CHICAGO ST. PAUL

HOPE TO START 12 MILE ASCENT SUNDAY NIGHT

Big Stratosphere Balloon Awaits Good Weather.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Chicago's next aerial thrill is to be provided by what is called the Piccard-Compton stratosphere expedition, which is scheduled to start from Soldiers' field as soon as metereological conditions will permit, possibly next Sunday night, if an expected high pressure area arrives from polar regions.

This is to be a flight by two men, a pilot and scientific observer, in a sealed metal gondola carried by the largest free balloon ever constructed, far beyond the region of winds and storms where King Boreas reigns and into that thin, cold, quiet place known as the stratosphere, which begins about seven miles above the earth's surface.

The expedition has the backing of A Century of Progress and the physics department of the University of Chicago. Its scientific interest lies in the reports which it is expected to bring back concerning the nature, intensity and direction of the mysterious cosmic rays which are bombarding the earth and human bodies from all directions and which hold the secret of energy and perhaps of life.

Path of Future Travel.

It is unquestionably a hazardous trip, a scientific adventure into the unknown, for few men have ever penetrated these far regions, although it is there that science expects to find the future path for aerial travel between the continents. There are no storms there, but a steady horizontal movement of the air currents. It is very beautiful at night, although bitterly cold, and intensely hot in the day time, according to Prof. August Piccard, who observed it from a gondola in a record breaking flight to a height of 53,153 feet, or more than ten miles, from Zurich, Switzerland, last Aug. 18.

Prof. Piccard's twin brother, Jean, is to be the scientific observer this time unless Dr. Arthur H. Compton, cosmic ray expert and scientific director of the expedition, changes his mind and sends one of his own assistants who have constructed the delicate instruments which are to photograph and record in various ways the impact of the rays at various altitudes. The instruments of Dr. Robert A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology have also been installed in the gondola.

Naval Officer in Charge.

The real boss of the flight, however, is Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle, U. S. N., winner of the last year's Gordon Bennett balloon race. It will be his job to manipulate the valves on the great balloon, which will be 164 feet in height on inflation, and to let out the 3,000 pounds of lead dust ballast as he wishes. This is the only control which he has over his fate and that of his comrade, except that in an emergency he can cry "bail out" and the can open doors of the gondola and fasten their parachute harnesses to a life saving device which hangs outside for each of them.

The expedition is to cost about $50,000. The Dow Chemical company of Midland, Mich., has given the gondola, which was built in the form of a sphere seven feet in diameter. It is about one-eighth of an inch thick, and made of a metal lighter than aluminum, manufactured out of salt brine. The gondola weighs 360 pounds. It is suspended by eight ropes to the balloon. It has ten little windows, and inside there is a space about four feet in diameter and six feet high for the passengers. There are work shelves here, places for the instruments, cameras, broadcasting apparatus, food, etc.

They'll Broadcast Impressions.

The National Broadcasting company, which is also interested in the expedition, has arranged a special short wave apparatus for this trip. On the night of the ascent Settle and Piccard will talk to the folks back on earth and tell them how the stars and moon look as they go higher and higher. They plan to loaf around that night at an altitude of about 12,000 feet, and in the morning go up with the expansion of the gas that will result from sunlight. Prof. August Piccard will talk to the balloonists from Brussels. Prof. Compton will talk to them from New York, if he is not able to be in Chicago.

The Goodyear Rubber company is furnishing the balloon and will follow the flight in a blimp or airplane as far as it is safe or observable. The bag will be inflated with 137,000 cubic feet of specially purified hydrogen gas, furnished by the Union Carbide and Carbon company.

A meteorological station has been set up on Soldiers' field and the participants in this flight are waiting for just the ideal condition of upper and lower atmosphere which will make this flight successful.

Tells Scientific Importance.

"The objective is purely scientific," said Dr. Irving E. Muskat, director of the basic science division of the Exposition and a research associate in chemistry at the University of Chicago, who has been arranging for the flight.

"A Century of Progress is interested because scientific progress is the story of the exposition. Prof. Compton had intended to make some such attempt as this at the first opportunity. This affords him a chance to get the latest instruments to the highest altitude. Prof. Millikan has also taken advantage of the opportunity. Prof. Compton flew here from New York just to install the Millikan instruments. In order to be successful this flight must be above ten miles. It is hoped they will reach 12. With these records important results should be obtained. It should throw light on the origin of the cosmic rays and their intensity, the directions from which they come in reference to magnetic fields, and whether they are electrically charged particles, as Dr. Compton holds, or photons of light, as Dr. Millikan thinks.'

CAPT. NILLSSON KILLED BY STRAIN OF SAVING BURNING SHIP'S CREW

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., July 19.—(AP)—His heart overtaxed by efforts to save the crew of the burning Cities Service Petrol, Capt. Anton Nillsson, master of the tanker Gulf Gem, died last night in a hospital here.

After being on the bridge of his ship for 36 hours before and during the rescue, Capt. Nillsson was forced by a storm off Jacksonville to stay at his post when he should have been resting.

He was in a state of collapse when taken off his ship yesterday morning by a coast guard vessel which brought him to the hospital here. Physicians attributed his death to over-exhaustion.

Quiz Reputed Gangster on Use of His Car in Holdups

Benny Goldblatt, reputed paymaster of the north side gang led by Gus Winkler, former safe blower, surrendered to the police yesterday for questioning concerning the use of his automobile by bandits who held up seven trucks on the northwest side Tuesday and robbed the drivers. Goldblatt notified the police shortly after the last of the robberies had been committed that his car had been stolen. He was taken to the Shakespeare avenue station to be viewed by the truck drivers. He gave his address as 410 South Hamlin avenue.

HARRY L. DRAKE SURRENDERS ON CAROLINA CHARGE

Arraignment Delayed Till Today.

Harry L. Drake, 1500 Lake Shore drive, whom Better Business bureaus of the national call "the king of the loan sharks," surrendered yesterday to an indictment charging conspiracy to evade the usury laws of North Carolina. He was not arraigned in a court, however, because no warrant clerk could be found at the detective bureau and, therefore, no fugitive warrant could be issued, a preliminary necessary to arraignment.

At the request of Attorney Edward R. Johnston, representing Drake, Attorney Frank R. McNinch, representing the state of North Carolina, agreed to an arrangement whereby Drake will surrender at the Criminal court building today and post bond before Judge Howard Hayes in the Felony court.

Avoids Finger Printing.

By this arrangement Drake avoids having his finger prints taken for the police records since no finger printing is done when a defendant surrenders at the Criminal Court building.

Attorney McNinch said he was told at the detective bureau that if a fugitive warrant for Drake was obtained there the defendant would have to go through the bureau of identification. He was also informed, McNinch said, that on a previous indictment, through an arrangement with Assistant State's Attorney Euclid Taylor, Drake surrendered before Judge Eugene McGarry in the Jury court and posted bond without going through the bureau of identification.

Attack First Indictment.

Drake's lawyers in habeas corpus proceedings at Springfield are attacking the first indictment, returned in Raleigh, N. C. Gov. Horner has already approved a request from the governor of North Carolina for Drake's extradition. The second indictment was voted to make certain that Drake will be extradited even if his attack on the first one is successful.

Drake is said to operate loan shark concerns charging up to 400 per cent a year in 17 states. If convicted on the North Carolina charge he would be subjected to a maximum prison sentence of 10 years.

WITNESSES TELL HOW POLICEMAN BEAT MOTORIST

Fate of Bradtke Is Taken Under Advisement.

Charges of willful maltreatment of a citizen and conduct unbecoming a police officer against Policeman Anthony J. Bradtke of the West North avenue station were heard yesterday by the civil service commission and taken under advisement.

Joseph J. Merkel, 11712 Lowe avenue, a collector for the Chicago Title and Trust company, testified that the policeman beat him. After his testimony Commissioner Joseph P. Geary said: "The whole story hasn't been told. What about the offer of $50 to forget the incident?"

Merkel said that the policeman, after beating him, arrested him on a charge of disorderly conduct. When this case was called for trial before Municipal Judge John F. Haas, the judge told him and the policeman to go into chambers and talk over their difference. The bailiff asked him if he wouldn't shake hands with the policeman and let the case drop. Merkel told the civil service commissioners. He said his attorney, C. F. Foust, advised him to let the case go to trial.

Tells of Offer to Pay Doctor.

"After this the bailiff talked to Bradtke," said Merkel, "and then came to me and said Bradtke would give me $50 to cover my doctor bill. I refused."

Policeman Bradtke later denied having made this offer. He denied also using any undue force in making the arrest of Merkel, which was occasioned, he said, by Merkel's having passed him in his car and calling him a dirty name and telling him if he couldn't drive faster to get off the street.

Merkel denied this. He testified he was driving his car south in Western avenue near Diversey avenue on April 26 at 6 p. m. when a man in a car alongside him put a gun to his head and told him to stop and get out. Merkel said he feared a holdup, as Bradtke was in civilian clothing. Merkel declared that Bradtke refused to show his star and when he insisted the policeman said, "I'll show you stars, you ——," and then beat him.

Victim Sober, Physician Says.

Dr. Louis Tabachnick, 2958 West North avenue, testified to examining Merkel immediately after he was released. Merkel had several bruises on the face, one eye was swollen, there was a swelling on the neck and two teeth had been loosened, he said, and Merkel showed no external signs of intoxication.

F. F. Bruchmann, 2648 North Artesian avenue, said he saw Bradtke beat Merkel after Merkel had demanded to be shown a star and he said Bradtke said, "I'll show you stars."

Paul F. Gaske, 2642 North Artesian avenue, said he saw the incident and thought it was a holdup. He was taken to the police station later, he said, but was not held.

James Fullen, 2109 West North avenue, said he saw Merkel strike the policeman in the chest and then the policeman pushed Merkel down to a sitting position on the running board of Merkel's automobile.

Confesses 200 Robberies; Names Ex-Convict as Aid

Donald Cameron, 22 years old, 4505 Magnolia avenue, arrested late Tuesday night when he "turned cowboy" and aroused his neighbors by firing half a dozen shots from two revolvers he carried, confessed last night that he and a companion had committed 200 robberies since last October. He named Al Woods, an ex-convict, as his accomplice, and the police of the Town Hall station began a search of Woods' known loitering places.

U. S. ARMY MAN IN PANAMA TO FACE TRIAL AS A SPY

BALBOA, C. Z., July 19.—(AP)—Corporal Ralph Osman, a native of Brooklyn, who is stationed at Fort Sherman with headquarters battery of the First coast artillery, today faced a general court martial for alleged violation of the espionage act passed by congress in 1917. It was understood Osman intercepted secret documents from Washington and refused to turn them over to his superior officer.

Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, military commander of the Panama Canal Zone, said Osman's alleged offense was committed several months ago, but was not announced because of a sweeping investigation carried on with the coöperation of civil authorities in the Canal Zone and Panama and completed July 10, when the court martial was ordered.

The court is scheduled to convene in two weeks at Fort Sherman. Brig. Gen. Harold B. Fiske will preside over the court of 13 officers. Capt. Roderick N. Ott of the air corps will be judge advocate, and Capt. S. F. Griswold of the 14th infantry will be defense counsel.

FARLEY PUSHES DRIVE FOR REPEAL BY END OF YEAR

BY PARKE BROWN.

With exactly half of the thirty-six states required for repeal already officially on record, Postmaster General James A. Farley in his capacity as chairman of the Democratic national committee continued from Chicago yesterday his effort to aid in insuring the end of national prohibition before the end of this year.

Passing through the city en route from Milwaukee back to Washington, he first voiced his pleasure over the vote in Arkansas and Alabama on Tuesday and then sent telegrams urging that Tennessee and Oregon, which vote today and tomorrow respectively, bring the total of repeal states up to twenty.

In addition to sending telegrams for this purpose, he expressed confidence of the results in both states.

Wires to State Chairmen.

"The result on the repeal question in Arkansas and Alabama yesterday was pleasing although not unexpected," he telegraphed to Horace Frierson Jr., Tennessee state chairman. "I am satisfied from information I gathered while in Memphis on Saturday that Tennessee will also vote overwhelmingly in favor of repeal. Please see that Democratic workers in your state put forth every effort at the polls tomorrow because we are particularly anxious that Tennessee take its place in line with the other eighteen states that have already voted in favor of repeal."

His wire to Carl C. Donaugh of Portland, Democratic state chairman of Oregon, was similar.

"It is highly essential that Oregon vote overwhelmingly in favor of repeal this week," it read. "I wish you would see that all Democratic party workers put forth every effort to that end and thereby carry out the pledge of the Democratic platform."

Confident of Victory, He Says.

Speaking of the results in Alabama and Arkansas, Chairman Farley said that he had not doubted what the southern states would do in this matter if given a chance to express themselves.

"I knew the south would coöperate with President Roosevelt," he said, "in his desire to see the 18th amendment repealed at the earliest possible date.

"I have contended for a long time that the 18th amendment would be repealed before the close of the present year and the results yesterday are conclusive evidence that the prediction will be borne out as rapidly as the people of the remaining states are permitted to vote.

"I reiterate what I have repeatedly stated—that every state in the nation will vote in favor of repeal."

Hopeful on Patronage Jobs.

As the result of Mr. Farley's meetings, which included a luncheon in his Congress hotel suite, Illinois leaders concluded that the state will be the beneficiary of some delayed federal appointments before long. It is considered certain that the appointment of Ernest J. Kruetgen, now a member of the state commerce commission, as postmaster will be announced soon. It is believed probable that State Senator Richey V. Graham will be appointed internal revenue collector at the same time.

Among those who talked with Mr. Farley were National Committeeman P. A. Nash, Mayor Kelly, County Clerk Sweitzer, and Congressman A. J. Sabath.

Charles Courtney, president of the American Association of Master Locksmiths, stopped at the Stevens hotel yesterday en route to Cleveland, where he will make plans to salvage the treasure on the liner Lusitania, which was sunk during the war.

Mr. Courtney said that the sunken liner has been located off the Irish coast and that work will begin as soon as weather conditions are favorable.

The amount of gold aboard the Lusitania has been variously estimated from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, although the ship's manifest, published shortly after she sank, listed no gold in the cargo. In 1931 Mr. Courtney directed the opening of treasure chests on the sunken liner Egypt.

DRYS LIST THREE REASONS FOR 18 WET VICTORIES

Headquarters of the American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation, 7 South Dearborn street, yesterday issued a statement to the effect that the voting of prohibition repeal by thirty-six or more states would only mean the inauguration of a more comprehensive and effective campaign against beverage alcohol.

The statement listed several causes for the eighteen consecutive victories against the national prohibition in states which have so far voted on repeal. In sixteen states, it was asserted, wet politicians in both parties were aided by a flood of propaganda. A second important factor, according to the statement, was the "unprecedented action" of the administration in urging repeal, while a third was the failure of dry campaigners to obtain a hearing on the scientific and social aspects of prohibition.

The prediction was added that a come back of the liquor traffic in its "preprohibition nuisance" would provoke repudiation of and a revolt against the present day action.

Beer Openly Sold in Cafes of the Alabama Capital

Mobile, Ala., July 19.—[Special.]—Beer was sold openly in Montgomery, state capital, cafés, and soft drink stands today as the crest of Alabama's repeal vote rolled in. Legislative leaders advocated legalization of beer. An extra session is in the making, but Gov. B. M. Miller, according to reliable reports, will not include beer in his call.

"GIVE US BEER" FOLLOWS WET VOTE IN SOUTH

Alabama and Arkansas Reveal Thirst.

Little Rock Ark., July 19.—(AP)—Interpreting Arkansas' favorable vote on repeal of the 18th amendment in yesterday's election as an expression by the voters also on beer and light wines, Gov. J. M. Futrell indicated in a statement tonight a call for a special session of the legislature to legalize those drinks awaited only an agreement among legislators on the terms of a bill.

The governor's statement was issued imediately upon his return from Paragould, where he voted in the referendum yesterday, which, on the basis of almost complete returns tonight, gave a 3 to 2 majority for repeal of national prohibition.

Voters Show Their Will.

The statement, answering numerous requests for a special session to legalize beer, said in part:

"In theory, we have a representative government. It should be so in fact. It is the duty of the public servants to carry out the will of the people, if they know what that is.

"On the question of the sale of 3.2 per cent beer and wines, the voters have definitely spoken. This is not of itself sufficient to determine whether a special session will be called.

"The legislature should not be convened into special session to do something which it will not do. Before any special session is called the will of the legislature must first be ascertained.

"The legislature might agree that a beer bill should be passed, but disagree as to its terms."

Wet Lead Over 20,000.

The governor had indicated before the election that he would accept the vote on repeal as an expression on legalization of beer.

With returns tabulated from 1,499 precincts out of 1,986 in the state, the vote was for repeal 61,865, against repeal 41,028. Few additional returns were expected before the official canvass Friday. It was estimated less than 15,000 votes were cast in the precincts which had not reported.

Dry majorities were shown in 23 of the 75 counties. This would give repeal delegates a majority of more than 2 to 1 in the August 1 convention here, which formally will cast the state's vote for ratification of the twenty-first [repeal] amendment. The convention is bound as a unit to vote according to the result of the statewide referendum, however.

The 52 counties having wet majorities have 72 of the 100 members of the lower house while 23 senatorial districts having 24 of the 35 senators turned in repeal majorities.

Fight Up to Legislature.

Birmingham, Ala., July 19.—[Special.]—With the wets leading by 30,000 votes in yesterday's vote on repeal of the 18th amendment, dry leaders in Alabama today turned their attention to the hope that the state may be kept dry after national prohibition is dis-

With 1,676 of the state's 2,137 poll boxes tabulated, the wets had 89,519 votes to the drys' 58,746. Returns from the rural sections cut down the early wet majority to some extent, but the drys admitted that they had no chance of overcoming the lead.

Mrs. Lamar Smith Gasden, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, was one of the dry leaders who abandoned hope of preventing ratification of the repeal amendment. She declared, however, that an even greater fight would be put up by the prohibition forces to prevent the modification of the state dry laws.

Tennessee Votes Today.

Nashville, Tenn., July 19.—[Special.]—Tennessee will vote tomorrow on the question of ratifying repeal of the 18th amendment, the third state in the so-called dry south to consider the proposition and the nineteenth in the nation.

Cannon Almost Admits Defeat.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—In the wake of the repeal victories in Alabama and Arkansas in Tuesday's voting, Bishop James Cannon Jr., southern Methodist churchman and militant dry, today issued a statement containing an implied admission that the eighteenth amendment is doomed.

The dry leader stated, however, that "repeal of the eighteenth amendment will not change the basal facts in the warfare against the liquor traffic.

Repeal of the 18th amendment by the end of 1933 is now a certainty, in the opinion of Jouett Shouse, president of the National Association Against Prohibition.

VICTORY FOR REPEAL IN SOUTH HASTENS PEORIA DISTILLING

Peoria, Ill., July 19.—[Special.]—An early start on construction of the million dollar distillery Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc., which will operate in this city, is assured by the adoption of the prohibition repeal amendment in Alabama and Arkansas, former Congressman W. E. Hull said today.

Preparing to leave for Walkerville, Ont., to visit headquarters of Hiram Walker-Gooderham & Wortz, Ltd., Mr. Hull declared.

"We now feel certain that this thing is going through. The outcome of the vote in the two southern states yesterday, which, incidentally was entirely expected, only adds to the necessity for quick action in preparing for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"The vote of each state from now on will bring us closer to repeal, and it may be that by the middle of September we will be able to begin construction of the plant."

Mr. Hull will confer in Detroit tomorrow with architects and engineers planning the project.

ARIZONA READY TO VOTE REPEAL AT POLLS AUG. 8

Phoenix, Ariz., July 19.—(AP)—Arizona prohibitionists will have no candidates on the ballots in the Aug. 8 election for delegates to the state convention to act on repeal of the 18th amendment.

The time for filing nominating petitions closed tonight with 14 repeal candidates nominated.

Riley W. Geary, as spokesman for the temperance federation of Arizona, said circulators of petitions for anti-repeal candidates had been unable to obtain sufficient names to petitions being circulated in nine counties to file them today.

DELAY HEARING OF DRY SLAYER; WITNESS GONE

Uncle of Slain Youth Is Sought.

Oskaloosa, Ia., July 19.—[Special.]—The preliminary hearing of Chief of Police Howard Allgood, for second degree murder, in the death of Gerald Blackwood, which was set for tomorrow before Justice Bartley, was indefinitely postponed today, on orders from County Attorney Arlo Palmer, because of the absence of an important witness.

The charges against Allgood were filed by Blackwood's mother, Mrs. Mary Stanton, in connection with the fatal shooting of the young man on an island in the Des Moines river near Eddyville, while officers were engaged in investigating a still on the night of June 16.

Robert Blackwood, uncle of Gerald, who has been sought as a witness in the case, has not as yet been located. Robert Blackwood is alleged to have been with Gerald on the night of the shooting.

Negotiate for Settlement.

Attorneys representing Mrs. Stanton are said to have been negotiating with the county officials toward a possible settlement of the case in event the county pays all hospital and funeral expenses. County Attorney Palmer said today that funeral expenses have already been paid by the county.

Blackwood was shot through the abdomen, when he came up to a still while Sheriff Frank Hook, Deputy Fritz VanGenderen and Police Chief Allgood were raiding it. Allgood told a coroner's jury that he shot the man when the latter made a move toward a hip as if to reach for a gun when officers flashed a light on him. Blackwood in a dying statement said he did not reach for a gun. He had no gun.

The jury selected by the coroner, Dr. L. F. Catterson, after hearing a dozen witnesses for and against Allgood found that Blackwood met his death by a bullet from a gun in the hands of Allgood while acting in line of duty as a deputy sheriff. When Allgood was arraigned on the charge on July 7, he pleaded not guilty, and the preliminary trial was fixed for tomorrow. He is under $3,000 bonds furnished by friends.

Accused Agents Face Layoff.

Burlington, Ia., July 19.—[Special.]—Information has been received here that Federal Prohibition Agents F. L. Lorey and Orval Brock, who staged a raid June 22 during which Stephen Wilder, 75, received a broken back, will either be furloughed from the federal enforcement service or transferred to another division before Aug. 15. Lorey has been threatened with a civil suit for damages by Byron Wilder, son of the injured man, who accuses the officer of extreme and unwarranted mistreatment of his father.

Federal officials here could give no definite information as to the status of the two officers, or whether the proposed shift was the result of Wilder's suit. Both Lorey and Brock are out of the city.

Two Witnesses Named.

Two witnesses were named today by Byron Wilder, who has taken charge of his father's case since his release from Des Moines county jail Saturday night, where he was serving a six month sentence on a liquor charge. They are Joseph Moyer and Floyd Smith, neighbors. Moyer said today that he saw Lorey "throw the old man to the ground" after having called him a vile name.

"I believe Mr. Wilder would have gone peaceably with any of the officers," Moyer said, "but when Lorey called him that vile name he refused to go along and kicked at the officer."

Mrs. Byron Wilder today asserted that part of the evidence, a quarter bottle of moonshine whisky, was gone when the officers finally left the house. She refused to make specific charges against any of the officers, but intimated that it was W. H. Plasters of Davenport, now released from the service, who "sampled" the evidence. Plasters has been accused by Mrs. Wilder of forcing his attentions upon her during the raid.

GOVERNOR REMOVES BARRIERS TO UTAH ELECTION ON REPEAL

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 19.—(AP)—Gov. Henry H. Blood today removed executive barriers to submission of Utah's prohibition amendment and told the legislature national sentiment for repeal is a "mass movement of such potency and force that everything in opposition is being swept aside."

He suggested the election laws be amended to permit a popular vote on repeal or modification of the state prohibition law next Nov. 7, indicating that he would call an election at the same time for delegates to a convention to pass on repeal of the 18th amendment.

Blood also recommended modification of the state liquor laws to permit the control of the manufacture, sale, transportation and possession of 3.2 per cent beer. Liquor of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content is forbidden in Utah.

MINIMUM WAGE NATIONAL CODE IS ABOUT READY

Complete Hearing on Rates for Electrical Group.

The electrical manufacturers' code, submitted by associations claiming to represent 75 per cent of the industry's production, provides for a 36 hour week for industrial workers, effective immediately, and a 40 hour week for white collar workers, with the latter provision taking effect Sept. 1. The minimum wage proposed, with some exceptions, is 35 cents an hour for industrial employés and $14 per week for white collar workers.

The exceptions provide that "casual and incidental labor and learners" may be paid not less than 80 per cent of the minimum, but that this group shall not exceed 5 per cent of the total paid to all employés under this section. Similarly, with the white collar workers, "office boys or girls, learners and casual employés," may be paid not less than 80 per cent of the $14 weekly minimum, but not to exceed 5 per cent in amount.

Speakers Praise Code.

After J. S. Triple, president of the National Electrical Manufacturers' association, sponsors of the code, had spoken in favor of the code, and it had been praised also by other speakers who said its application would bring jobs to 25,000 idle and raise wages 20 per cent, a critic rose with significant objections.

He was C. F. Creigmire, general superintendent of the Belden Manufacturing company of Chicago, manufacturers of electrical wire. He painted a picture of his company, 31 years in business, with a paid in capital of $1,868,000, which was efficiently run, but because of high labor costs had been unable to show a profit. The first four months of this year, he said, the company lost $70,000, but then orders began to pile in, he said, and he pleaded that nothing be done now to disturb that increase in business which is prevalent in other industries and plants over the country.

Chicagoan Makes Protest.

Mr. Creigmire protested that the code, in its present form, would tend to decrease employment, because of the costs it would add to production, and he also declared that the arbitrary setting of one minimum wage for the whole industry would injure the small companies, or "little fellows," which had located factories in small communities, so as to escape the high labor costs of big cities.

Pointing out that industrial wage scales have resulted from complex forces of supply and demand operating for many years, Mr. Creigmire proposed that the work week be fixed at 42 hours, an increase of 6 hours over the code, and that the minimum wage scales be fixed at 40 cents per hour for males and 30 cents per hour for females in large cities of high living costs, and 35 cents an hour for males and 25 cents for females in small cities or towns or low living cost areas.

Wage Declared Too Low.

Chief among several labor spokesmen who opposed the labor angles of the code were the representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Charles L. Reed, assistant to the president of the brotherhood, protested that the minimum wage of 35 cents an hour was "way too law" and he insisted that a 30 hour week would not be adequate even to restore 1929 employment levels.

He also opposed the provisions to give the right to regulate production and decide questions of fair competition to the National Electrical Manufacturers' association on the ground that it was ruled autocratically by a small group of men.

"It's a closed corporation," he said. "If the government wants to run this thing ragged they can set up such a power. The government might set up a Judge Landis for this industry."

"Do you think we should do that?" Gen. Johnson interposed.

Want 90 Cent Minimum.

Reed and Charles D. Keaveney, vice president of the brotherhood, asked that a minimum wage of 90 cents an hour be fixed for skilled workers, although the intent of the code is not to fix any minimum for any but the lower classes of industrial labor.

Immediately afterward other union spokesmen for machinists, molders, and core makers chimed in also with requests that their workers be given minimum wages also. They all proposed a 30 hour week.

In another ornate hall, the auditorium of the Commerce building, a hearing was begun on the ship builders' code. Two other hearings are scheduled to begin tomorrow, one on the lumber code and the other on a code for makers of women's cloaks and suits.

Three new codes were made public yesterday by Gen. Johnson's staff. One for the rayon and synthetic yarn producing industry, proposed a 40 hour week and a minimum wage of $13 weekly, and was set for hearing on July 27. Clothing manufacturers submitted two codes, one by the Clothing Manufacturers' association and another by the Industrial Recovery Association of Clothing Manufacturers. The former's code proposed a 35 cent an hour wage minimum in the north, and 32½ cents in the south, and a 40 hour week. The other code proposed a flat 20 per cent wage increase for all employés, with the minimums the same as above. Both codes will be up for public discussion on July 26.

Ickes and Dern Still at Odds on Public Works Program

Washington, D. C., July 19.—(AP)—The disagreement within the Roosevelt cabinet over including army construction in the public works program was emphasized today when Secretary Ickes reiterated the statement that Secretary Dern had withdrawn the estimates.

Dern said yesterday such a statement was misleading.

With this dispute still in progress, the cabinet board in charge of the program worked for two hours over a public building program without reaching a decision and it went over to the next meeting.

Organization Is Complete.

Organization of the public works administration was almost completed today, however, with the creation of a housing division to study and encourage low cost housing projects and a planning board to coördinate the public works program with the future in mind.

Two small allocations were announced during the day, $851,000 for a prison building program, and $675,000 for construction in the Panama Canal Zone.

The dispute over army construction began two days ago when Ickes told newspaper men Dern had withdrawn war department estimates for army housing and mechanization.

Issues Formal Statement.

Dern yesterday issued a formal statement saying the "report" he had withdrawn the estimates was "misleading" and asserting he had asked the board to withhold consideration when he foresaw adverse action.

When newspaper men called Dern's formal statement to Ickes' attention today, the interior secretary and public works administrator replied:

"I repeat, informally, that the secretary of war said he wanted to withdraw the estimates for further consideration and I expect he will bring them in again when he is ready."

A curtailed program for federal building construction was submitted to the board today by the budget bureau. President Roosevelt has indicated that this part of the public works program would be small, but the original estimates ran into the hundreds of millions.

30 HOUR WEEK OPPOSED

Washington, D. C., July 19.—(AP)—The navy department and private shipbuilders, facing the job of constructing 37 naval vessels, joined today in opposition to the clause of the industrial recovery act which provided that a 30 hour week be observed on all public work projects wherever practical.

Appearing at the hearing on the code of fair competition drafted tentatively for the shipbuilding industry, Rear Admiral E. S. Land, chief of naval construction, and Capt. H. L. Wyman, asserted that a working week shorter than the 40 hours proposed in the code would raise costs seriously and delay construction.

They said their views had the approval of Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, of the navy.

Increased Costs Feared.

Previously, Lawrence Y. Spear, vice president of the Electric Boat company of Groton, Conn., testified that a 30 hour work week in the shipbuilding industry would increase the cost of naval work by $86,199,000, and would add $120,358,200 to the navy's repair bill over a three year period.

The minimum wage provisions of 35 cents an hour in southern yards and 40 cents in the north drew opposition from within the industry. Another point in controversy was a clause in the code preventing any material increase in the plant capacity of the industry during the life of the recovery act.

Representatives of shipyard employés meanwhile prepared to assail the minimum figures as too low, but said they were ready to approve the 40 hour week. They will have their opportunity to appear tomorrow.

SPEED COAL CODE WORK

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—The prospects were exceedingly bright tonight for the completion within 24 hours of a single code of fair competition for nearly all the nonunion coal tonnage of the United States.

A sudden turn in the negotiations today straightened out many of the differences between northern and southern coal operators. Instead of presenting two codes to Recovery Administrator Johnson, all endeavors were concentrated this evening on having "one package."

If a single code is agreed upon it was said that it would represent about 250,000,000 tons of coal out of less than 350,000,000 tons mined last year.

Lower Wage in South.

While no exact agreement was reported on wages, it was said that the wage scales in the various sections would vary between five and ten cents an hour. The lower wage would be in southern fields and higher in the north.

Authoritative reports were to the effect that wages in the new coal code would be more generous than in codes for similar labor in other industries. The lumber industry has asked for a minimum wage of 22.5 cents an hour for the south, and the steel industry has proposed a 25 cents an hour scale for the south. Soft coal wages in the south, it was learned, will be more than 30 cents an hour. Hours north and south will be forty a week in the new code.

MILLINERY CODE READY

New York, July 19.—(AP)—The national millinery council, representing 80 per cent of the millinery manufacturers, importers and distributors in this country, submitted its industrial code to federal authorities today.

The code provides a maximum work week of 40 hours, "excepting during peak periods," and a minimum wage of 35 cents an hour in New York, 32½ cents in Chicago, and 30 cents elsewhere.

During the "peak periods" in the spring and fall, employés may be required to work not more than 80 hours more than the prescribed 40 hour week, the extra hours to be spread over the peak period.

The code bans child and prison labor, style piracy, and a practice of returning "for credit" merchandise purchased and shipped according to specifications.

SUGAR PLAN SUBMITTED

Washington, D. C., July 19.—(AP)—A program for regulating the sugar industry, calling for the establishment of a powerful stabilization committee for fixing quotas and licensing domestic refiners was submitted today to Secretary Wallace by Dr. John Lee Coulter, member of the tariff commission.

Dr. Coulter, recently appointed by Wallace to work out a trade marketing agreement for the industry, asked for an early public hearing on the plan which he explained was in "tentative form."

A committee representing many of the sources of the American sugar supply assisted Coulter in the drafting. Most of the members said they "agreed with reservations" with none committed to the quotas establishing the share of each in the American market.

The agreement would be in effect for three years, starting as of July 1 last, and would be renewable from year to year.

ROBBED BY HITCH-HIKER.

Kokomo, Ind., July 19.—[Special.]—At the point of a gun, a hitch-hiker he picked up on the highway robbed M. J. O'Neil, Chicago Heights, of $155, a diamond valued at $1,100, a watch worth $200, and his new automobile today. The hiker kicked O'Neil out of his car.

OFFICIAL RECITES DECALOGUE OF THE 'NEW DEAL'

Budget Balancing One of Commandments.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—The administration's recovery program, including budget balancing and stabilization of a fair price level, were summed up in "the ten commandments of the new deal" today by Harry F. Payer, assistant secretary of state, speaking before the University club here.

Mr. Payer spoke on "The Psychology of the New Deal," describing briefly the methods used to accelerate business recovery and explaining some of the methods of approach to current problems.

He surveyed first what he termed the unprecedented rises in prices of commodities and business indices that marked the second quarter of 1933 and quoted at length from critical statements about the administration from sources abroad and in the United States before he recited his version of "the ten commandments."

His Ten Commandments.

These were as follows:

"First—Thou shalt not live, my dear country, beyond thy means. The first principle of good housekeeping is a balanced budget, and this is the first layer on the road to prosperity called the new deal.

"Second—Thou shalt not lose confidence in thyself, or in thy great strength, or in thy vast resources, for they that are defeated in spirit are vanquished in all things.

"Third—Thou shalt not make Mammon thy god, but neither shalt thou be unmindful of this monetary system, lest it destroy thee; for if thy money be too dear the price level will be too low, and neither shall the debtor repay his debts nor the creditor collect them, and sad days will befall thy people.

One Is Stabilization.

"Fourth—Thou shalt not forget, my beloved country, that when thy price level is achieved the next layer on the road to prosperity is stabilization, lest the movement up and down upset and wreck thee.

"Fifth—Thou shalt not make gold thy god, but thy servant, well managed and wisely disciplined in the ways of righteousness.

"Sixth—Thou shalt not permit the unemployment of thy people, well beloved; this is the first and greatest commandment, including all the rest, for of what avail is all thy wealth if it be not well distributed and serve all thy people?

"Seventh—To this end thou shalt not fail to manage well and rationalize thy industry and stimulate and encourage it, for even as thou must keep a money system invariable in terms of goods, so thou canst not have the assurance of doing so if thy people are unemployed or poorly compensated for their toil. Else they shall be unable to consume the products of thy multifarious industry and thereby block its wheels.

"Eighth—Thou shalt not suffer the paradox of poverty amid plenty, else thou sinnest grievously and confesseth thy inability to solve the problems of an age of plenty, since the age of scarcity hath passed, to return no more.

"Ninth—Thou shalt not indulge the fallacy of neglecting thy own domestic economy, since thy interests are paramount, but neither does this commandment signify that thou shalt isolate thyself like a hermit; even by helping others thou dost help thyself; this is the law of the prophets.

"Tenth—Thou shalt not oversimplify nor complicate thy problems; thy wisdom and thy courage are sufficient unto them; do thou but keep the faith."

40 HOUR WEEK CODE ADOPTED BY BOX MAKERS

A tentative code providing for a forty hour week and minimum wages of 40 cents an hour for men and 30 cents for women was adopted by the western division of the Folding Paper Box Manufacturers' association at a meeting in the Stevens hotel yesterday. The code will be submitted for approval to the southern and eastern division.

The Midwest Manufacturers' Associations, Inc., representing the state industrial association of ten middle western states, met at the Palmer house to discuss the application of the national industrial recovery act to midwest industry. The organization represents industries which employ in normal times 34 per cent of the wage earners in the United States.

The central west division of the National Preservers' association adopted a trade code at a meeting in the Drake hotel which provides for a forty hour week and a minimum wage of $12 for girls and $18 for men.

The National Shoe Rebuilders' Association of America met yesterday at the Sherman hotel and drafted a code to govern the industry under the recovery act. The code, which provides for a minimum wage of $20 a week for journeymen shoe repairers and minimum prices for shoe repair work, will be forwarded to Washington at once, it was said. Approximately 65 per cent of the shoe repair associations of the country are members of the national group.

2 British Youths Ordered Flogged for Armed Robbery

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 19.—Two 20 year old youths were sentenced to penal servitude and ordered flogged at Old Bailey today for robbery with sawed off shotguns. Thomas Johnson, a clerk, was sentenced to five years and eighteen strokes of the "cat." Frank Colbard, also a clerk, was sentenced to four years and twelve strokes.

ICKES APPOINTS PLANNING BOARD ON PUBLIC WORKS

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Ickes today announced the organization of a public works planning board, composed of Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago; Frederic A. Delano, formerly of the New York regional plan commission, chairman; Prof. Wesley C. Mitchell of Columbia university, and Charles Eliott III., secretary.

It will be the duty of the board, Secretary Ickes said, to coördinate the public works plan by keeping in communication with state boards and regional advisers.

Eugene Henry Klaber, Chicago architect, was another Chicagoan selected to be a member of the newly created housing division of the public works administration. The division is to handle low cost housing and slum clearance projects. At its head will be Robert D. Kohn, former president of the American Institute of Architects. Among division consultants will be Jacob Crane Jr., and Coleman Woodbury of Chicago, and Alfred K. Stern of Chicago will be a member of the division's coördinating group.

Texas Visitor at Fair Dies of Heart Disease

Mrs. A. E. Parten, 63 years old, a Fair visitor from Waco, Tex., died yesterday apparently of heart disease, at the Miramar hotel, 6218 Woodlawn avenue, where she had been staying.

ROY C. JACOBSON NAMED FEDERAL JOB DIRECTOR

Roy C. Jacobson, 6510 Woodlawn avenue, has been appointed director for Illinois of the federal reëmployment service, which is designed to place the personnel on jobs to be created under the national industrial recovery act.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, in Washington, yesterday issued a statement containing the names of all the state directors. The whole organization, she added, is already on the job and will function for the next five months. After that the service is to be abolished.

Mr. Jacobson, whose office is at the City club, has had wide experience in labor placing. He has been personnel manager for Hart Schaffner & Marx since 1919. In 1930 he was a member of the governor's committee on unemployment.

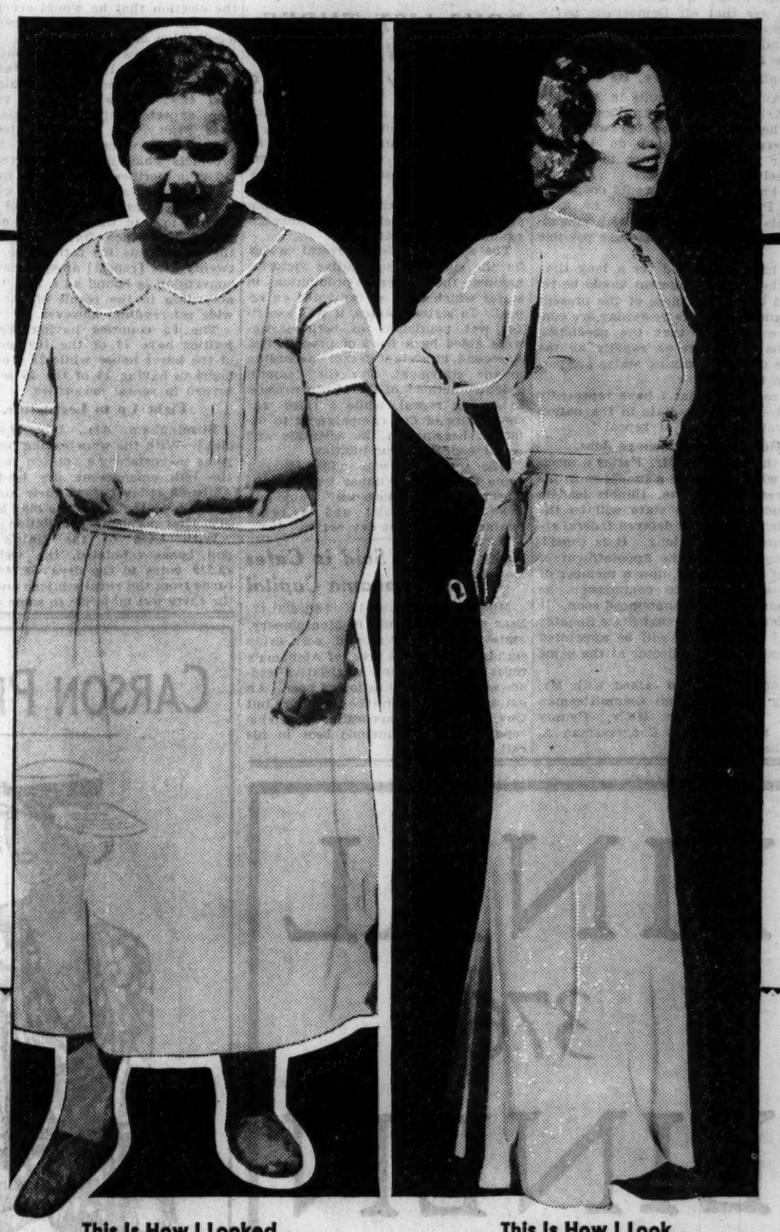
Actually Lost 101 Pounds and Tells How She Did It
Without Taking Drugs, Laxatives or Salts and Without Going on a Starvation Diet



This Is How I Looked 15 Months Ago—245 Lbs. (From a Snapshot)

By Josephine Engstrom

Here's a copy of a letter Miss Josophine Engstrom recently wrote to a friend, which tells all about how it feels to lose 101 pounds, and what she did.

(Miss Engstrom is a graduate of Northwestern University and is now food analyst for one of Chicago's leading food stores.)

Dear Sara:

"I really can't write of all the happenings and changes in our crowd since I last saw you—but of just me. Now brace yourself, dear—I've lost 101 pounds, and it's really true! I'm so happy I could almost fly. I'm not ashamed now to admit I weighed over 240 pounds for over eight years and am now down to 144 pounds and still losing.

How She Felt

"If I'd won an Olympic game I couldn't be more boastful or proud of myself. I feel simply grand. I dance, go bathing and love it. No sensitive feeling as to how I may look, or if people are watching and laughing at me. I have confidence in myself, and after all isn't that everything?

What She Did

"Now, of course, you're curious as to what I did. Well, about fourteen months ago I started on a marvelous diet, not a starvation diet, but a sensible one, given me by a physician, and ate pomegranates. They're frightfully expensive, but I love them.

"Drinking one (3 oz.) glassful of pomegranate juice every hour for one day a week, it is claimed from 5 to 15 pounds can be lost in 7 days and measurements will go down from 2 to 4 inches"—quoted from a newspaper article.

Commonly used for centuries and in Biblical times by Mediterranean peoples for medicinal and healthful purposes, pomegranate juice has a delicious, antiseptically clean and refreshing taste. Hollywood's Pom-o-granate Juice contains no drugs, laxatives, or medicines. It is made from luscious tree-ripened pomegranates.

If you are too fat and otherwise perfectly normal, make your test of Hollywood's Pom-o-granate Juice at once. Satisfactory results are guaranteed or money back. Obtain at Stop and Shop, National Tea, Jewel Tea, Loblaw, A & P, Liggett's, Walgreen's, The Fair, Boston Store, Goldblatt's, The Davis Co., Wieboldt's, Hillman's and all other good food, drug or dept. stores, or write to Hollywood's Pomegranate Juice Co., 365 E. Illinois St., Chicago.

Last fall I found Pom-o-granate Juice at the drug store and in fact every restaurant where I ate, so I drank three or four glassfuls every day—so much cheaper than the fruit itself—kept to the diet, and it worked wonders. I feel better, look better, and am so much happier. I can guess just how thrilled you'll be when you read this, because you know how I hated being so fat.

"I do hope you are well and happy and that you won't wait as long as I did to write. With love, JO."

Note: Naturally, in her letter Miss Engstrom did not comment on the improvement in her facial beauty. If you will come and meet Miss Engstrom, as you are invited to do below, you will see for yourself her unusual attractiveness today. She has taken off all this excess fat without any flabbiness, drooping, or wrinkling of the skin.

BRITON BROACHES PEACE MEETING TO HITLER TODAY

Nazi Press Says Proposal Is "Premature."

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 19.—Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference, will confer with Chancellor Hitler and Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath at Munich tomorrow. The British statesman will submit his suggestion of a personal meeting between Hitler and Premier Daladier of France to the German chancellor.

Hitler's official newspapers, such as Der Angriff, said today it is "premature to talk of a Franco-German conference. The suggestion undoubtedly is well meant and Germany certainly will approve any step which could bring about a satisfactory solution of the problem of disarmament. Mr. Henderson has succeeded in restarting negotiations for disarmament by freeing them of the quicksands of committee meetings stifled with intrigues."

Push War on Jews.

"In fifteen years more than 70,000 Jews have immigrated to Prussia—that is why the influence of Jewry must be broken." This was the headline on the front page of the official organ, Voelkische Beobachter, today. The paper published figures purporting to show the staggering influence of Jews in Prussia in recent years.

The paper calculated the percentages of Jews in leading professions, asserting that 27 per cent of all lawyers, 17 per cent of all doctors, 7 per cent of all apothecaries, 4.6 per cent of all newspapers men, and 7.5 per cent of all actors in Germany were Jewish at a time when the Jewish population amounted to only 1 per cent of the total.

"This meant that the entire culture was threatened by Jews," it said. "The figures scream to heaven for legal restriction of Jewry, and it is only surprising that the previous governments lacked the courage and decision for the step."

Seek Ban in Cemeteries.

According to the Berliner Tageblatt, Nazi aldermen in Munich have filed a motion demanding that the urns of Jewish ashes should not be allowed in Christian cemeteries.

The labor front today denied statements issued yesterday by the semi-official Association of German Publishers which indicated that only those who belong to official organizations of the Hitler party labor front will be granted the rights of full citizenship.

"There is no connection between membership in the official labor organizations and acquiring the rights of citizenship," the denial asserted. "Furthermore, reports about a campaign to enlist new members in the labor front are unfounded."

Charges Plot Against Germany.

BERLIN, July 19.—(AP)—The newspaper Germania, the organ of Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, today charged that the United States and England, as well as Poland, Russia, and Austria, were working to isolate Germany, all under French direction, through secret treaties.

The paper said the Moscow political bureau had announced as a fact treaties which the paper claimed bind the Soviet Union, in event of a Polish-German war, to assist the Poles by placing Soviet war industries at Poland's disposal.

Germania said:

"In a special Polish-Russian treaty which will be signed soon Moscow plans are laid whereby a general offensive against the 'imperial chauvinistic tendencies of the German reich' shall be prosecuted. According to the political bureau Nazi Germany should be fought with economic weapons."

The newspaper said a special Moscow correspondent had wired that existence of the treaty had been announced by a government official.

AUSTRIAN SEEK TO PROVE HITLER IS PART JEWISH

VIENNA, July 19.—(AP)—An angry argument is being waged by Vienna newspapers over the question whether Chancellor Hitler's grandmother was Jewish or Aryan.

For the last week the papers of the Fascist Heimwehr [a government supporter] have been splashing their front pages with the German chancellor's family tree. Photographs of a tombstone, of old family album tintypes, and copies of Jewish archives have been published as evidence that Hitler's family came from a ghetto in Polna, Bohemia.

The more conservative dailies, however, pointed out gaps in the alleged lineage, and today even the Socialist Allgemeine Zeitung—which for months has been conducting a bitter campaign against Nazi Germany—made public the result of its own investigations to the effect that "there is no doubt that Hitler is an Aryan."

Hull to Explain Roosevelt's Actions to London Conference

BY ARTHUS SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 19.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, it was learned tonight, plans to make a speech to the final session of the world economic conference next week setting forth the philosophy of the revolutionary economic experiment upon which the United States has embarked.

It had been announced that James M. Cox would deliver the valedictory in behalf of the American delegation. It now appears that Secretary Hull also will speak for the purpose of making an important pronouncement, not only explaining President Roosevelt's economic policies, but justifying his own course at the London conference, which is adjourning without achieving the immediate objectives originally aimed at.

Will Explain Roosevelt Aims.

Secretary Hull, it is understood, will endeavor to reconcile the intensely nationalistic character of the Roosevelt economic program with the philosophy of international coöperation underlying the economic conference which the American secretary of state ardently embraced.

According to Hull's theory the Roosevelt program of inflation and government control of industry and agriculture represents a wholly temporary expedient for averting national bankruptcy and possibly bolshevism.

Because it would have interfered with the recovery program, President Roosevelt refused to stabilize the dollar and participate in other international economic accords visualized as the purpose of the London conference. But when substantial recovery is achieved at home the United States, according to Hull's view, will be ready to enter agreements to stabilize currencies, reduce tariffs, and remove other trade barriers.

Hint Hull May Quit Cabinet.

Until such economic disarmament takes place Hull holds that there can be no permanent recovery generally, and the world, including the United States, will not be immune from the danger of a more alarming sort of radicalism than has already materialized.

There is reason to believe that unless the Roosevelt policy comprehends also this larger ultimate purpose to negotiate reciprocal tariff reductions and enter otherwise into the international coöperation envisaged by the President in his campaign speeches and approach to the London conference, Hull will not long remain a member of the Roosevelt cabinet.

His attitude contrasts strongly with that of Assistant Secretary of State Prof. Raymond Moley, who is inclined to view Hull's internationalism as visionary and impractical, and is known to be exerting a contrary influence on the President.

May Have to Choose.

There is a prevalent impression in American officialdom that Mr. Roosevelt at a no distant date will be compelled to choose between Hull and Moley, between whom there is an ever widening gulf.

It is well known that the Roosevelt economic program represents a trend toward radicalism that under any other circumstances would have outraged every fiber of Hull's conservative being. He embraced it as a desperate remedy, desperately invoked to cure the disease threatening to be fatal to the present form of American government. Hull is known to be far from convinced that the crisis has passed, but once it is passed he will take a stand for reversion from collectivism to individualism.

Recently Hull told a friend that his guiding political principle today is precisely what it was when in his first speech to congress nearly 30 years ago he said: "I am a conservative when conservatism will suffice. I am a radical when radicalism is necessary to uproot some deep seated evil or to prevent its taking root." The radicalism of the Roosevelt program he regards as necessary to prevent a worse radicalism from taking root.

Accept Silver Plan.

The conference committees today continued their work of drafting reports in preparation for the breakup of the parley.

The silver subcommittee unanimously agreed to report to the conference the amended set of resolutions introduced by Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.] of the United States.

These resolutions provide for an agreement among the silver producing and holding countries with a view to mitigating the fluctuations of the silver price and for substituting silver coins for low price paper money. It is provided that this agreement will lapse on April 1, 1934, if all the nations have not come in by that time, and in no case will it extend beyond Jan. 1, 1938.

The sugar committee finds itself unable to procure an extension of the Chadbourne agreement owing to the refusal of Cuba and Belgium to agree, but expressed the hope today that when the Chadbourne agreement expires in 1935, general consent may be possible.

Several other committees worked hard today to finish their tasks before the plenary session of the economic commission Friday, at which the first steps for winding up the conference will be taken.

It is now reported that many delegates favor a long adjournment, probably until November, when it is hoped financial stability may be far enough advanced to allow progress in international trade agreements.

WHEAT IMPORTERS OF EUROPE PLEDGE TO PURCHASE MORE

LONDON, July 19.—(AP)—The representatives of European wheat importing countries late today pledged to increase their imports of the cereal as a measure of coöperation in the attempt to regulate world production and improve wheat prices.

The promise was contained in a draft recommendation which the importers—chiefly France, Germany, and Italy—announced they were willing to make to their governments if the wheat producing countries reach an agreement for acreage restriction.

Delegates of producing and exporting countries will meet tomorrow morning to determine whether this offer constitutes a sufficient measure of coöperation to justify their concluding a restriction accord.

Spokesmen of the big four producers—the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia—had expressed the wish for a draft recommendation by the importers declaring for reduction of tariffs and elimination of milling restrictions and preferences, but the importers would not accept this form because of political consequences at home.

MAYOR EXPLAINS CITY'S STAND ON NUDIST MOVIE

Mayor Kelly, commenting yesterday on the issuance by Superior Judge William J. Lindsay of an injunction restraining the police with interfering with the showing of the film, "The Nude World," at the Castle theater on South State street, stated that the city administration should not be blamed for permitting the film to be shown.

"The administration is not in favor of showing it," said Mayor Kelly. "I have consulted Police Commisioner Allman, who told me that the board of censorship refused to issue a permit for the movie and that the police did everything they could to prevent its appearance until they were restrained by the court."

The injunction is temporary, and the corporation counsel's office is taking action to have it dissolved, the mayor said.

THREE WOUNDED AS FARMER AND WIFE ROB BANK

Couple Captured After Fight with Posse.

Fennville, Mich., July 19.—[Special.]—Two members of a posse were shot and wounded, one probably fatally, in a gun battle with a farmer and his wife who had held up the state bank here. The farmer-bandit, Frank A. Olsen, alias Edward Austin, who was also wounded, and his wife, Grace, both 45 years old, were captured in a field three miles west of here, and $2,000 taken in the holdup was recovered.

The wounded members of the posse are Russell McKellups, 21, who was shot in the head and is expected to die, and Kenneth Jackson, 32, Fennville councilman, who was shot in the ear. Austin was wounded in the legs.

Austin entered the bank before it opened by prying a window. He then bound the janitor, De Witt Steenburg. When the assistant cashier, Marvin Harrison, arrived, Austin forced him to open the vault and then knocked him unconscious.

Austin then seized the money and fled with his wife who had been waiting in an automobile outside. A hastily organized posse gave chase, firing at Austin's automobile and finally stopping it when a shotgun charge punctured a tire.

The Austins, who had been farming at Bravo for thirteen months, told the deputies that they planned the robbery because they could not make a living on the farm.

DRAKES MOVING OUT OF FREE HOTEL SUITES

John B. and Tracy Drake and their families yesterday began to move out of their suites on the ninth floor of the Drake hotel. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson last week signed an agreed order directing the Drakes to vacate their rooms by yesterday.

The Drakes had previously opposed moves to oust them on the basis of a contract with the Whitestone Management company, operators of the hotel, which gave them salaries of $15,000 a year each and free quarters, service, and food.

FIRE ON SALOON 3 TIMES IN DAY; 1 DEAD, 3 SHOT

Gunmen again raked the saloon at 1139 Taylor street with gunfire yesterday and wounded a bystander. It was the third gun attack in 20 hours. The toll of the three mysterious attacks is one dead and three wounded. A feud between gangs led by William [Irish] Madden and Matthew McNamara is believed to have caused the attacks, said Lieut. Joseph Pierot of Maxwell street police.

Late Tuesday night four or five men drove past the saloon, which is owned by Clement Cozzi, and blasted it with slugs. No one was hurt. The terrorists a few minutes later blazed away at the saloon once more. This time three men were hit, one mortally. The man killed was Emil Onesto, 40 years old, 940 Polk street. Those wounded were Frank Laino, 24, 4649 Lexington street, and Angelo Morzone, 33, 1145 Taylor street.

Yesterday afternoon Policeman Salvatore Corsi of the central station and his brother, Paul Corsi, a state grain inspector, nephews of the saloon owner, were standing in front of the place when a car containing six men drove by. The policeman, in civilian clothes, held up his star and ordered them to stop. One of the men in the car, identified by Corsi as Madden, fired. So did his companions. Policeman Corsi and his brother, Paul, dropped to the pavement, avoiding the bullets. Frank Teritella, 17 years old, 829 Lytle street, a passer-by, was wounded in the left shoulder.

Praises New Deal Program Before C. A. C.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

America is on the high road to recovery, the dollar is going to be stabilized when its buying power reaches the 1926 or 1928 mark, and purchasing power and increased employment are now being built up under the industrial recovery machinery, declared Speaker Henry T. Rainey yesterday. He addressed the Chicago Association of Commerce at its Palmer house luncheon on the topic, "Congress, the New Deal and You."

On the question of Russia, he remarked that "it may not be possible just now to recognize Russia. But we're not going to lose any longer the greatest market in the world make no mistake on that."

Speaker Rainey, who has served in congress under eight Presidents, said that before the inauguration of President Roosevelt America was headed towards communism of the worst kind.

Rail Loans at Limit.

"On March 4," he said, "we had taken the longest stride towards communism any nation had taken except Russia. We are loaning to the banks, the railroads and the insurance companies hoping to tide them over until better times and times were getting worse. They couldn't pay back. On March 4 the railroads had borrowed all the money they were entitled to under their collateral. The federal land banks were getting more farms. The time was growing when the government would own the railroads, banks, insurance companies and the land, and when it reached that point it would be communism of the worst kind.

"We were running behind on the budget; fear prevailed everywhere. We were fed the teachings of Malthus, Mills, Ricardo, and the old ecenomists who taught that economic laws are as unchangeable as the laws of gravitation, and that if the policy of laissez-faire, or let things alone, were adhered to, affairs would work themselves out in time.

"That was the situation on March 4. We started out on the propositions that the old economists developed their theories at a time before mechanization, the economic laws were not unchangeable, and that it was not true that America should let things drift."

Sketches New Deal Law.

Speaker Rainey sketched the laws passed by congress, placing unparalleled powers in the hands of the President.

"We built a machine," he said, "and put the President in charge. We said you can pull that lever or this one, but get the machine in motion.

"We may not know exactly where we're going, but we're in motion and the machinery is now commencing to move. President Roosevelt is no dictator. He is simply the operator of a new machine of civilization, empowered under certain circumstances to pull this lever or that. He has been told by congress to keep the machine moving, going away from where we were before."

"We had eight million unemployed. They are gradually going back to work. There are no hunger marches on the capitol now. On March 4 there was an agrarian revolution. That's over now. Farmers now have hopes, despite poor crops; men are going back to work at wages where they can buy. Already things are beginning to look brighter and the new era has made a real start.

"Back of the leadership of President Roosevelt in the White House, all people regardless of former political leanings, are united behind the administration. What we've been doing at Washington is to construct a bridge across the chasm to where the sun still shines."

Europe Knows Now.

Reiterating his declaration of Tuesday before the International Congress of Women that the London Economic congress is an American success, Speaker Rainey said for the first time Europe has learned what the United States will NOT do on debt cancellation and on stabilization of the dollar.

"The nations have now found out we are not going to cancel the debts. They have found out that the American dollar is our dollar and we are going to stabilize it when we are ready, when its buying power is back to the plane of 1926 or 1928. We are going to peg the American dollar when it reaches the level of 1926 or 1928, and then we will be ready to agree upon an international stabilization for international trade."

FIND BOY'S BODY ON TRACKS.

The body of an unidentified youth, about 18 years old, was found on the Illinois Central tracks between 24th and 25th streets yesterday. His clothing bore the name of a Cincinnati firm.

REFUSE TO SEND RELIEF 'CLIENTS' TO GRAIN FIELDS

Labor Plentiful Downstate, Officials Say.

There will be no attempt on the part of Illinois Emergency Relief commission officials to find jobs on harvesting crews now beginning their work throughout the rural districts of the state from among Chicago's relief "clients." These officials also say that they "do not recommend that men on the relief rolls even attempt to find these jobs."

Frank Z. Glick, associate secretary of the relief commission, made these statements yesterday when asked whether the commission was endeavoring to bring the jobless in Chicago who cost the state $3,060,366 to maintain during June, to jobs which are available in the farming areas.

The combined number of relief cases on the commission rolls on July 1, amounted to 148,743. Joseph F. Moss, head of the Cook county relief bureau, says that his workers find an average of four persons supported in each case. Thus 594,972 persons are on the relief rolls, or nearly 15 per cent of the four million population of the county.

Each Costs $5.14 a Month.

According to records completed yesterday, the average cost to the county is $5.14 a month per person on the relief rolls. The records also show that the county is paying an average of $21.06 per case to 104,370 cases on the regular unemployment relief service. To 44,373 cases under the field service division of the relief service the average cost per month for each case is $19.43.

Inquiries concerning efforts by the relief commission to lighten the burden on the taxpayer were made yesterday when dispatches from the farming districts of the state disclosed that harvest hands are being paid at the rate of from $1.50 to $2 a day for work in the harvest fields.

The questioners asserted that on the basis of this pay the average able bodied male on the relief lists could be able to earn his own livelihood for a thirty day period if he were allowed to work for 12 or 15 days a month in the harvest fields.

Has State Wide Jurisdiction.

It was suggested that the relief commission through its state wide jurisdiction, might be able to bring the jobless to jobs in the rural counties.

"Rather than sending city labor to work the farms, we find that there are plenty of farmers, familiar with harvest work, who are glad to fill all the available jobs," Mr. Moss said. "I am told that in past years thousands of jobless city men worked on the harvest crews throughout the middle west and particularly in the Minnesota and Dakota wheat fields. Those jobs no longer exist."

"I do not advise sending men on the city relief rolls to the rural regions on the chance of their finding jobs there," said Mr. Glick. "We are finding that down state labor needs are all filled by the labor available in the down state counties."

ELEVATORS FAIL, CHRYSLER BLDG. CROWD WORRIED

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Several hundred men and women were marooned for 41 minutes today in various parts of the Chrysler building. Transformer trouble halted every one of the skyscraper's thirty passenger elevators from 9:34 to 10:15 a. m.

Everywhere along the 77 story building groups of anxious men and women stood in the cars, most of which were suspended between floors. The main lobby soon was jammed with persons waiting for service to be resumed.

The stalling of the cars was preceded and followed by flickering lights. The unfortunate passengers shifted uneasily from one foot to the other, wondering what was happening. According to the management, no one had been overcome by the heat in the cubicle cars, without openings except for a small ventilating fan in the ceiling. The management's explanation was that the ventilating fan had provided sufficient air.

SISTER MEETS GIRL FRIEND OF ROOSEVELT SON

Deny Family Is Opposed to Marriage for Elliott.

Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of President Roosevelt, yesterday, for the first time, met Miss Ruth Googins, Fort Worth debutante, whose name has figured with that of Mrs. Dall's brother, Elliott Roosevelt, in persistent reports of a romance. Elliott was present when his sister and Miss Googins exchanged greetings.

Mrs. Dall's arrival here was preceded by rumors that she had been sent by her family to break up the supposed romance. She denied the rumors when seen, with her brother, in his apartment at the Flamingo hotel, 5520 South Shore drive. Miss Googins is staying at a nearby hotel.

Meets Miss Googins.

After Mrs. Dall had rested from her trip she started for the World's Fair in the company of Elliott and Attorney and Mrs. Samuel Platt of New York. Mr. Platt represented young Roosevelt at Minden, Nev., where the latter's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt, obtained a divorce on Monday. Somewhere along the line, either at Miss Googins' hotel or at the Exposition grounds, Mrs. Dall and the Fort Worth girl met.

They remained together, with the rest of the party, including Mrs. Googins' mother, for about an hour. Mrs. Dall and Elliott returned to the Flamingo at 6 p. m.

An hour later Mrs. Dall and young Roosevelt left the hotel for the Saddle and Cycle club as guests of William Hunter, a New York friend. Hunter drove them. They stopped at Miss Googins' hotel, where she was posing for camera men—at Elliott's request—and took her with them. ater Mrs. Dall, Miss Googins, and Elliott returned from the club, crowded into the seat of a small coupé, which was driven by Elliott.

During the afternoon Elliott and his sister parried questions referring to the reported romance. It was at that time that Mrs. Dall denied that her family had sent her to break up the rumored romance.

"Are there any legal or family objections against your marrying today or tomorrow?" Elliott was asked by reporters.

"No. I could be married today if I wanted," he replied.

"If it were just up to the family he could marry at any time," interposed his sister.

"Is your friendship with Miss Googins a platonic affair?" Elliott was asked.

"Well, we're good friends," answered young Roosevelt. "There's no reason why I shouldn't see her. If we get married I assure you we won't sneak out on you. I can tell you that if we are married it won't be in Chicago."

"Do you deny that you intend to marry Miss Googins?"

Met by Her Brother.

Mrs. Dall arrived yesterday morning on the Commodore Vanderbilt of th New York Central road at the La Salle street depot. Her brother met her and they greeted each other with a kiss. Both said they hadn't seen each other since March 6. Mrs. Dall plans to remain here four or five days and then return east. She said there was no truth in the rumor that her mother was coming here today.

"It may seem odd my coming across the country this way," Mrs. Dall said when she and her brother arrived at the hotel, "but Elliott and I are fond of each other, and all of us like our family. Chicago was the half way point and the best place for our meeting. I couldn't go all the way west to meet him."

BEG YOUR PARDON!

HEAD OF CHURCH SAYS SPAIN GOES WAY OF RUSSIA

New Primate Declares War on Government.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, July 19.—Spain is going the way of Russia, says Dr. Isidoro Goma y Gomas, archbishop of Toledo, in a sensational pastoral letter directed to the nation today. It was his first public pronouncement since he assumed the primacy of Spain two weeks ago.

"The expulsion of God from society brings with it the material ruin of nations," he said. "There is Russia, without God and without bread; without bread because it is without God. Without God there is no justice, no keeping of bargains, no scruples, no charity, no confidence, no harmony between classes, all of which are essential if this world is to work and produce. In Russia the class struggle is the direct result of the elimination of God."

Orders Resistance to State.

The new primate, who is assuming the leadership of the Spanish church in the darkest hour of its history, called upon the faithful to offer passive resistance to the anti-ecclesiastical legislation.

"We must resist even unto martyrdom," he cried.

He painted the blackest kind of a picture of republican Spain, "a prey," he said, "to the insane ideal of driving out God. The hour is grave for Spain not only religiously but politically, socially, morally, and economically. Out of the same door through which God was thrown go peace and concord. To laicize Spain is to paganize Spain. To impoverish and persecute the church is to give free rein to the seven capital sins, to corrupt the conscience and devastate the morals of our people."

Lays Blame on Masonry.

Inhumane and unjust, he called the separation of the church and state, which, he said, has left the priests of God without bread. By instituting divorce the republic has profaned the family, he declared, and by denying the right of the religious orders to preach it has robbed the church of its dearest privilege.

"In two years they have isolated us as if we were a dangerous, anti-social institution," he said. "The lightning of the revolution, and the revolution is more durable these days than ever before, struck us to earth."

He blames Masonry for the ills which have befallen the once all powerful church. Spain is full of Catholics, but faith is little, he said.

"God free us from this democracy, which destroys our churches and the veritable homes of our people in which are the images of our saints who were the greatest democrats in history, and which condemns to starvation the priests who are sons of the people and their teachers," the archbishop exhorted.

REPEAL WINS IN THE SOUTH.

The awaited test of the 18th amendment in the south has been had in Alabama and Arkansas. In both states, as shown by returns available at this writing, repeal has won.

No doubt the appeals made by President Roosevelt, Mr. Farley, and other administration leaders to party loyalty and for the support of party principles had an important part in the decision, but even party influence could not have prevailed against the opinions which were held in the south until recently. It isn't to be forgotten that four southern states astonished their neighbors and even themselves by landing in the Hoover column, allegedly on this issue, in 1928.

That northern dry states were prepared to repeal the amendment was indicated some months ago, but until now the south was the great question mark. If it stood pat for the Volstead act in spite of all experience and argument, then the chances of repeal, requiring as it does three-fourths of the states, would be regarded as doubtful, if not slim. The votes of Alabama and Arkansas rightfully are thought to be indicative that the end is in sight. There may be some last ditch territory which will hold out, but the advocates of a saner and more temperate handling of the liquor question are confident that their long fight has been won.

It should be urged again upon moderate people, the majority of American citizens, that the situation will be improved if repeal is quickly accepted as the best thing that now can happen in this respect to the country. Other measures must be adopted, and they will be possible only if each state is legally permitted to enact the laws which it finds most acceptable to its people and most certain of respect and support.

The citizens who have fought and won against the government ideas incorporated in the Volstead act and its companion pieces of legislation are supporters of temperance, law, and orderly living. They are not sots and boozers, although frequently so described by their intemperate prohibition opponents. It is their desire that a better system of regulation arise on the ground from which a bad one will have been cleared when the amendment has been repealed. Mistaken zeal, where it was honest, will concede the facts as they are made evident. The various states can then put their houses in order.

HOW PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IS FINANCED.

Starting on Sept. 1 the 3 per cent tax on utility bills which now is paid by the customer will be paid by the utility company. That is the latest addition to the long list of federal taxes which are assessed upon the utilities. Mr. Philip Hampson recently found more than 30 different taxes which the power and light and similar companies must pay to the federal, state and local governments. For the nation as a whole one dollar out of every eight collected from utility customers was snagged by the government. The electric power and light industry alone paid in taxes 225 million dollars out of gross earnings of 1,833 million.

The substantial portion of the 225 million which the federal government exacted from consumers of electricity is spent in part for Boulder dam, Muscle Shoals and other subsidized power plants. The government, in short, makes money out of private operation of utilities in order to lose it on public operation. If it is true, as is often claimed and seldom demonstrated, that the customers of the government's power plants sometimes get their power for less than the customers of private plants are charged, it is clear that whatever saving is achieved is at the expense of the consumers of gas and electricity in Chicago, New York, Detroit, Boston, and a hundred thousand other communities.

PUBLIC MORALS AND THE POLICE.

Police Commissioner Allman has reduced the number of men assigned to the morals division by half, sending the police to other posts and thus restricting the activities of the special branch. Without any injury to the service he might abolish the division entirely. New York had an unpleasant experience with a morals detail, illustrating the defects apparently inherent in such specialization of police work. The New York policemen assigned to the work committed some hideous outrages against decency by entrapping women and bringing false charges to make a record for themselves and for worse motives.

It is a general rule that offenses against public morals and decency do not require specialized detection. To become offenses they must become known or notorious. Ordinary police work amply protects the public interest if the work is honest and observant. When special details are assigned to ferret out offenses the danger is always that police abuses will follow. Unscrupulous officers will find victims and levy on them. Even the desire of policemen to show a record of arrests as proof that they have been working can lead to abominable practices such as enticement and entrapment. The public order is not improved by such police methods.

SEND THE NAVY FOR THEM.

If the American citizens in the Mallorca prison are not released at once the government should dispatch a naval force to release them.

These citizens are accused of assault upon a civil guard and with disturbance of the peace. They are not charged with any serious crime and no formal charges have been lodged against them. But they have been in prison for more than a month and they have been denied bail and any of the rights recognized in civilized countries in persons accused of lawbreaking. They have been held in jail despite the protest of representatives of the government of the United States, and one of them, an American woman, is in a serious physical condition because of this confinement.

There is no shadow of excuse for this severity, and as it is persisted in despite the repeated protests of our representatives it has become an insult to the nation and to its government, which ought to leave off futile negotiations and take instant measures adequate to release its citizens and to assert its dignity. The incident thus far is a just cause for affront and, more than that, a just cause of humiliation. The time for talk is past. It is the duty of the government at Washington to act. Too much allowance has been made for the leisurely methods of Spanish official action. American citizens should no longer be subjected to them. Since the Spanish government shows no regard for the reasonable demands of justice or for the relations maintained between civilized nations at peace, the government at Washington owes it to itself and to the nation to bring this unpleasant farce to an abrupt close and to take measures without delay to rescue these American citizens.

GANGS AND THE FAIR.

Readers in a number of cities have called attention to a recent United Press dispatch stating that "forty concessions at A Century of Progress Exposition are owned by gangsters." Over this article the Seattle Daily Times, which was no doubt the innocent victim of this misrepresentation, has placed the caption "Chicago's Gangs Enter World Fair for New Plunder." The dispatch is printed in part as Editorial of the Day on this page.

The specifications, of course, are lacking. Which are the concessions and who are the gangsters? The answers to these questions might be regarded as of some interest not only to visitors from out of town but to Chicagoans as well, but on these points the United Press remains silent. Can it be that the United Press does not know?

To call this kind of writing irresponsible journalism is to flatter it. Probably there was no deliberate desire to frighten prospective visitors. The article can more likely be explained as the product of cheap sensationalism and incompetent editorial supervision.

NAZI JOURNALISM.

"Objective reporting is not necessary and a newspaper's mission is to serve the political idea and be an aggressive fighter. Newspapers, which formerly reported the facts, were inspired by intellectual liberalism. Their power is gone. It is not essential for a newspaper reader to know what happened, but how it happened."

The first impulse of American readers will be to take this pronouncement as a piece of reckless student sarcasm, but it is, in fact, the unsmiling production of professors and students at the German Institute of Journalism. As a flower of European reaction it deserves a blue ribbon. The one thing dictatorships cannot afford to tolerate is "objective reporting"; witness the communist and Fascist censorships. Under a dictatorship it is not only not "essential" for a newspaper reader to know what happened; it is often essential to the dictatorship that he should not know. As the Nazi creed of journalism expresses it, the reader must be told "how it happened"; that is, how the government wishes him to think it happened. Well advised were the founders of free government in declaring that where there is no free press there is no liberty.

The practical result of the imposition of such a creed upon a nation's press, and it undoubtedly will be imposed upon the German press by the Nazi régime, must be to deprive its report of German conditions of all credibility outside of Germany, as the Russian soviet and Italian Fascist press are deprived of all credibility outside those countries. It will thus lose its ability to influence the opinion of other peoples, even in favor of the ruling régime. Indeed, its chief effect so far as external opinion is concerned, whatever its influence upon internal politics, will be to foster the firm conviction that Nazi rule dare not face the truth. The new régime is obviously convinced that temporary suppression of dissent is essential, but it is a heavy price for the German nation to pay for whatever benefits the régime may bring to them.

Editorial of the Day

GANGS AND THE EXPOSITION.

[By United Press.]
[Copyright: 1933.]

The United States senate committee investigating rackets will find, when it turns its searchlight on Chicago, that the city's underworld affairs are divided among four gangs, two of which present the prospect of old fashioned boom era gunplay as the big money days come back.

Already the pickup in spoils is noticeable. Forty concessions at A Century of Progress Exposition are owned by gangsters. The swarm of Exposition visitors has brought ready cash back to the city. As the profits grow the incentive to fight grows also—and the Roger Touhy "mob of tough boys" is casting longing eyes at the major share of loot collected by the smoother, far less tough Capone syndicate.

Depression and relaxation of attempts at prohibition enforcement have wrought great changes in the Chicago gangs.

As the more profitable rackets of the old days ceased to yield great returns the gangs broadened their field of operations to take in sources of revenue too small to be attractive in the boom years. When racketeers who specialized in one particular branch of operation ceased to furnish their share of revenue because that branch became depression ridden they were cut off from the old dominant gangs.

The small fry were left to work for their own living as best they could. They didn't have to go to the breadlines. They still collected enough to give them food. But there was nothing left over to provide these borderliners with the luxuries of gangdom.

Now that the end of hard times appears to be in sight, each of these small groups is waiting for a chance to hook on again to a major gang and a major racket.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

BALBO REPORTS TO THE DUCE ON CHICAGO.

Your Excellency: While only three days in that great Chicago, I and my flyers are able to describe it to you fully. The city is situated on Lake Michigan, which, instead of being a water lake, is made up entirely of tomato soup. This must be so, excellency, or the immense quantities of tomato soup given us every time we turned around would soon have been exhausted. However, as Lake Michigan is several hundred miles long and between sixty and ninety miles wide, there is, of course, in Chicago an inexhaustible supply of tomato soup.

The scenery in Chicago as we viewed it is made up of roast beef mountains interspersed with hills of fried chicken surmounted by forests of celery and with great ledges of lamb chops, pork cutlets, and potato salad. Beautiful fountains of sparkling highballs, cocktails, and champagne burst forth in every part of the city, no matter which way you turn. Immense glaciers of ice cream probably several miles in width are also found on every hand.

The huge buildings in Chicago are twenty or thirty stories high, composed entirely of macaroons, chocolate cake, apple pie, nuts, raisins, and candy. While we were in Chicago we ate our way down the beautiful Boul Mich as far as Twelfth street, where the World's Fair begins. You will observe, excellency, that I did well to come away with my men in three days, as the city extends as far south as One Hundred and Eighty-third street.

LXVI.

This was the end of waiting and of tears,
As down a corridor the baize swings to,
And yet another wing of haunted years
Will heap with dust where I kept tryst for you,
And room by dimming room the dreams take over
The webs and shadows with the darling ghosts
Of buccaneer and child and sulky lover,
Poems and prayers, soft words and raging boasts.

This was the truest castle out of Spain
That ever rose to crown a spirit's height,
But built of rock and set on rock again,
Too proudly lone to need one torch's light,
And nothing left for me who loved it so

NANCY SHORES.

THE SOLID SOUTH has just naturally busted wide open, with Alabama and Arkansas giving the sacred 18th a swift kick in the pants. I felt sure that the other southern states would also go wet, but now I'm troubled. Franklin Delano yesterday gave a luncheon at the White House to Ras Desta Demptu, the Ethiopian prince, and I'm a little scared now that South Carolina anyhow, and maybe some of the other states, will go out of the Union.

NOW WE'RE GOING to have a deluge of three-minute men, publicity aces, window stickers, radio talks, massmeetings, and all kinds of high pressure propaganda stunts to put over the industrial control administration, just as we had in the grim days of the war. All right, personally I'll stand for anything. But with one exception—if they dig up that "give 'till it hurts" slogan. And if a three-minute man gets over his speech on me he's got to be a good runner. And, anyhow, I can dodge down an alley and jump two or three back fences. Ah, as the poets have said, "Peace hath its horrors as well as war."

IS IT POSSIBLE that Canada is just like the U. S. A.? After reading a hundred or so folders and circulars regarding vacation resorts in the United States, where the guests within five minutes of arriving at camp "were all just one great big happy family." I'm afraid it is. I don't want to belong to a great big happy family. A great big happy family gives me a pain in the neck, it's so gooey. I plaintively asked if there was a vacation camp in Canada where a guest did not have to be a member of a great big happy family. I got only two replies; one said, "There is no such animal," and the other said, "Tipple Bay." Tipple Bay sounds like a perfectly fine spot for a vacation, but I can't find it on the map, and Nina Baker ransacked the archives of the Chicago Motor club and said she couldn't find it, and if Nina Baker can't find it, then there's no such place, or it's somewhere up around the north pole, where the roads are all marked "unimproved." But there must be. Canada is a big country. I'm still hoping.

You never ask me where I've been,
Nor whom I've seen, nor why;
You give me no remotest chance
To build an alibi;

And when I say, in semi-jest,
"My dear, you break all rules,"
You answer me, so tactfully,
"Questions come from fools";

And well I know that you are right
In this specific instance;
Questions only fortify
A woman's keen resistance;

For if we'd learn the hidden thing,
'Tis wise to ask no "wherefor";
Tongues are such deceiving things;

EILEEN QUINLAN.

THE COURTS have been appealed to for a decision on the question of whether two large ostrich feather fans constitute a proper costume for a dancer at the Streets of Paris. From a daily survey of costumes on the beaches along the lake I would say the two-fan dancer is horribly overdressed. Or maybe she's a prude. But let us not find fault with her for being mid-Victorian. Old fashioned people have a right to their way of looking at things as well as the rest of us.

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION is a great comfort at times. The dollar is down to sixty-eight cents, but shucks, there are so many of us that haven't got any dollars left. We should worry!

TRAINING TABLES FOR ATHLETES.

MEN and women who are in training for major competitive sports generally eat at training tables and live according to firmly enforced rules. Trainers have different rules, but there are a few on which they agree. All prohibit the use of alcoholic beverages in any quantities at any time and under any circumstances. All prohibit the use of tobacco. Since baseball is not as strenuous as some other games the players are allowed considerable leeway. Most coaches do not require baseball players to eat at a training table and some of them allow a moderate amount of smoking and drinking. Those who excel in other sports, such as football, basketball, consider baseball players as out of condition.

All coaches agree that men training for major athletic competitions and eating at training tables should have a good, substantial breakfast, a light lunch, a hearty evening meal and no eating between meals. The foods should be simply prepared and should never be rich nor highly seasoned. Some coaches allow a light meal within about two hours before the beginning of the contest, though most of them do not. The contestants may be allowed to eat a little sugar or candy during the contest. The sucking of a sugared lemon or orange during the contest is encouraged.

Little or no water is allowed during participation in the sport or just before it. Many coaches limit the amount of water allowed during twenty-four hours preceding the contest. I am of the opinion that this is an error.

The man in training should be a hearty eater. He needs and should have between 3,500 and 4,500 calories and these must come from lean meat, bread, potatoes, and beans. The work done breaks down a lot of muscle, and protein foods such as meat and eggs are needed to repair the loss.

Next to the loss of water comes the loss of sugars from the blood and tissues. Sugar is like gasoline or kerosene—the fuel that is consumed in the production of energy that must be ready on the spot and at the time when and where it is needed. The athlete who cannot meet this demand is not in the competition and that is all there is to it. When the task is completed his stock of stored sugar is pretty well exhausted.

Dr. W. D. Sansum thinks athletes get too much fats and too little starches and sugars. Fat slows up the fires of the body and, in the case of athletes, puts them out of their proper class. He says the ordinary civilian eats about two parts fat for one part starch and sugar. The army diet calls for four parts carbohydrates to one of fat. In that of the athlete the proportion should be even greater than four to one. He thinks ordinary milk is too rich in cream to be a good food for a training table. He advises milks low in fat, skimmed or partially skimmed milk, buttermilk, or some of the leaner evaporated milks. In order to supply alkalinity and starch at the same time he advises that the training table be well supplied with beans.

Acidosis causes fainting and short wind. A coach should try to feed his men so that their tissues will incline to the alkaline side. In this way wind will be bettered. For this purpose Dr. Sansum advises that fruits and beans be freely used.

Some of his other suggestions for training tables are: No cream, cream cheese, pie crust, fried cakes, rich cakes, gravies, or fat meats. Butter should be used sparingly.

BITING FINGERNAILS.

I am very much ashamed of my nails and would like to know how to stop the habit.

REPLY.

Send a stamped, addressed envelope for recipe for nail varnish. Using it will help you to break the habit. Back of this habit lies a badly balanced nervous system. Nail biters should train themselves in poise, confidence, and naturalness. Such training cures the nail biting habit.

INSULIN.

M. D. G. writes: Is there any other medicine besides insulin that is just as good for diabetes?

REPLY.

There is no substitute for insulin for those who need it. Many cases of diabetes do not need it.

TAX SALE.

Chicago, July 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A holds a first mortgage on a house and lot in Illinois. Said mortgage is past due, but A has no funds to pay for foreclosure proceedings and delinquent taxes for years 1930, 1931, and 1932. B bought property at 1930 tax sale and gives A until middle of September, 1933, to reimburse him for taxes or will take title to property. Does said tax sale invalidate said first mortgage and what procedure is necessary to protect A's interest in property. W. C.

Two years after the tax sale a tax deed can be issued which will be a serious cloud on the title which secures the first mortgage. Ordinarily it is to the advantage of the mortgage holder to redeem.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MAY BE FRAUD.

Chicago, July 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am a woman of means, married for the second time to a man (1) who has made all his property in joint tenancy with his son, and there is no other property or income left for me. 2. Would I be responsible for debts or funeral expenses after his death, providing he passes on first? Or would that fall to the son who is sole heir? 3. Is a second wife entitled to a pension that an ex-civil service man may be receiving, or does that stop at his passing? H. F.

1. If he took such a step secretly immediately after the marriage the deed might be set aside as a fraud on the wife's prospective dower right.

2. Under Illinois statute, family expenses can be charged against either spouse. If the husband's assets are sufficient then the debts and funeral expenses should be collected out of his estate.

3. Direct your question to the Veterans' Administration, Hines, Ill.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 20, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The young men who are to be summoned for military service and those who are to remain in the ranks of the economic army at home, unless called to the colors later, will be designated by the great draft lottery today. All day, beginning at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, a blindfolded man will draw the serial numbers from a glass globe in the presence of distinguished witnesses gathered in a committee room of the office building of the senate. As fast as the numbers are drawn they will be flashed over the country, and the names of the registrants bearing the numbers drawn will be published in the newspapers.

COPENHAGEN.—The German reichstag, by a vote of 214 to 116, adopted the majority peace resolution. Seventeen of the members refrained from voting. Chancellor Michaelis, in his address before the reichstag, said Germany would not continue the war a day longer if it could obtain an honorable peace. America's intervention was not regarded with serious concern. The German fleet, particularly the submarines, would master the situation, he said.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The compromise amendments to the food control bill, eliminating from the operation of the measure steel, cotton, lumber, hides, and other articles except food, feed, and fuel, and providing for a three man board of food administration, were adopted by the senate. Debate was bitter in the senate, the strife centering about Herbert C. Hoover, selected by the President as food administrator. The attack on Hoover was led by Senator Reed of Missouri, and the food administrator was defended by Senators Williams and Hollis.

WAR SUMMARY.—Berlin reports piercing of Russian positions on wide front northeast of Lemberg. Russians capture Novica, but are forced to withdraw to eastern end of village. Germans penetrate the French trenches on front of one kilometer southwest of St. Quentin and capture prisoners and machine guns. Rome reports increasing artillery activity on Julian front.

PETROGRAD.—Large crowds of arrested soldiers, sailors, and workmen, numbers of machine guns and rifles, and quantities of cartridges were brought to the military headquarters here. Troops seized 150,000 cartridges from the workmen in one district of Viborg.

MISSION, Tex.—Approximately five hundred shots were exchanged across the Rio Grande yesterday at Ojo de Aguas, eight miles southwest of Mission, between a small American border patrol and a number of unidentified Mexicans. There were no American casualties.

FROM A MOTHER.

Chicago, July 17.—In reading your column today I am convinced that all those protesting regarding the new economy plan in the school system must be directly connected with Chicago schools as employés, for in each instance their opinions seemed entirely selfish.

It's about time the schools are getting down to something practical. I have two sons going to high school. They are tempted with such studies as swimming, fencing, R. O. T. C., dancing, music [brass instruments] and various other things. It seems to me that with our city in such a financial mess the elimination of anything that is not practical is a wonderful idea. We can have the frills after things return to normal once again.

The elimination of junior high schools will mean a great deal to parents who have to send children to school out of their territory. I am a widow, and carfare alone for my boys amounts to $7.28 a month, which means quite a burden. Converting junior highs into senior highs will revamp the territory and I am sure a lot of young men hanging around various street corners, unable to finish high school, will return when they find they have one within walking distance. It's a grand idea. ESTHER B. JOHNSON.

THE SWEETEST MUSIC.

Chicago, July 17.—Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, youthful president of the University of Chicago, now rides boldly upon the scene, as knight of old, lashing his steed and clad in his heavy and inflexible armor of dense theory. He proclaims loudly what the Chicago taxpayer, tired unto death, must pay for an overloaded and topheavy school system.

He and other professional educators are so completely lost in the academic fog of theoretical educational practice that they are totally unable to discern the real purpose of a common school education. Do they know what the public is constitutionally required to provide in education?

The great mass of the population [educators and pay rollers, of course, excepted] knows that when the average student is graduated from a modern high school, he knows that he has had a wonderful time, but does not know how to spell ordinary words or write a grammatical sentence.

Let the protests of the theorists and pay rollers be loud and full. The taxpayers have been protesting in a futile way for twenty years and complaints from the other side are the sweetest music they have ever heard.

J. W. HUDSON.

REMOVING WASTE IN THE SCHOOLS.

Chicago, July 17.—I am taking the liberty in writing you to give you some idea of the extravagance in our public school system which our school board has overlooked. I refer to maintenance of our schools. For an illustration, take the Calumet High school in my district. There are employed in the engine room of this school seven men to operate two self-feeding boilers. One chief engineer at $562 per month who does mostly nothing but sit at his desk in the engine room from 9 a. m. in the morning until 3 p. m. in the afternoon; three assistant engineers who are not needed at all at a salary of $350 to $400 per month; also three firemen to feed two self-feeding plants which one man could do and have plenty of time to sit down half the time during those hours. This expense for labor alone runs in the neighborhood of $1,800 to $2,000 a month which with efficient men could be operated efficiently at one-third the cost. It is a fact that the cost of operating this plant with only two boilers, self-feeding, is just twice the expense that it costs any large packing house plant in the stockyards to operate their engine room with fifteen to twenty self-feeding boilers, or as much as is spent by the largest of our steel companies in operating their engine room for the largest industry in the locality, and twice the cost of operating engine rooms in any two large cement plants in this state. How can the taxes keep up such extravagance as this? This is only one illustration in my neighborhood.

I am not criticizing our new school board, as I think we have some capable, honest men appointed by the present mayor, but I believe they are overlooking a problem which means a great saving to our taxpayers. WILLIAM O'ROURKE.

FALSE EDUCATIONAL ECONOMY.

Chicago, July 15.—If a child were ill no sensible person would call in a lawyer, however expert he might be, to deal with the situation. He would trust the patient to some one who had specific knowledge and experience to prescribe the remedy. In the present school situation Mrs. William S. Hefferan is the only member of the school board who has had any practical experience in the Chicago schools. She is equipped from three angles—that of a successful educator, that of a recognized public spirited citizen, and that as a board member of the schools. She is the only one who lifted her voice in protest against the proposed economies which shocked the public last week. One would have expected the board to consult her first and follow her lead.

To throw out 1,400 teachers who are already in arrears in salaries for six months is tragically wrong, but the effect upon the children of Chicago of the proposed curtailment of educational opportunity is even more appalling and far reaching. Surely the citizenry of Chicago will not supinely allow the school system to be set back fifty years, to rank with the most underprivileged rural schools in existence. The board of education should study the educational exhibit in the Social Science building of A Century of Progress. On the walls of that exhibit the following pertinent questions are asked: Would you be satisfied with the roads as they were in 1830, or with the transportation as it was in 1830, or with the modes of communication as they were in 1830? Will you then be satisfied with the methods of education in vogue in 1830? The are convincing illustrations to drive home the significant values of modern education, physical, mental, and moral. There are quotations inscribed on the walls from the wisest and ablest Americans, from George Washington's time to the present, which should inspire all of us to take concerted action so that no "false economy" should be made "at the expense of the child."

No one denies that wise economies in the schools must be made, but while business men who have a sense of the real values of life can, and should, say how much money can be spent upon the schools at this time, upon the educators should be placed the responsibility of preparing the budget. They alone know what temporary measures can be adopted without permanent retrogression in the system. FLORA J. COOKE,
Principal, Francis W. Parker School.

JOSEPH COOKS UP A PLOT TO STAY IN PRISON

Be It Ever So Humble, No Place Like Joliet.

Since Joseph Hart is probably the one convict in history who has been able to develop the gout in prison, it is not strange that he regards Stateville penitentiary as a haven of refuge rather than a place of confinement.

Nevertheless, Warden Frank D. Whipp was somewhat surprised yesterday at the manner in which Joseph greeted the news that he is soon to be set free. The warden stepped into the kitchen of his quarters to find Joseph, who is his cook, burning the ears of a darky scullion because he had just found a spot in the bottom of a saucepan.

"Joseph," said the warden, "I've some good news for you. You'll only be here a few more weeks. Your term expires next month."

Joseph's Comfortable There.

"Warden, you'll break my heart if you do that," replied Joseph. "I'm comfortable here, even though I have the gout. I haven't any folks on the outside. My wife divorced me and married again. I wouldn't have any one to go to. If I got a job it would likely be as a fry cook in some counter joint. Can't you fix it up for me to stay here?"

"It will probably ruin my digestion if you go," said Warden Whipp, reflecting on some other prison cooks he has known, "but I don't know any way of keeping a fellow here after his time is up."

"Yes, I'll try," promised Warden Whipp.

The warden said later that he would certainly try, for Joseph has become a prison institution. Joseph had one unfortunate habit, that of driving other people's automobiles while inebriated. It was this fault that sent him to Joliet in 1927 on a charge of larceny.

Doesn't Need References.

He told prison authorities that he had cooked for families on Lake Shore drive and in Lake Forest. A perfect servant, he wouldn't reveal their names in his distressed circumstances, but Warden Elmer Green gave him a job as his personal cook anyway. He didn't need the references. His predecessor had distinguished himself behind the counter of a leading Peoria lunch wagon, and was afflicted with such pretensions to elegance as dousing fresh green peas with a flour sauce.

Joseph's conduct was such that he was paroled in 1931. But one evening, in his cups, he decided that he should have a complete pardon. He took another automobile and started for Springfield to see the governor. In a month he was back in the warden's kitchen.

A prison larder, even the warden's larder, may not afford all of the materials desirable to a chef de cuisine. But Joseph worked magic with what he had. It might be only a basket of dandelion shoots, blanched beneath a soap box as they grew in the prison yard. But he added oil and vinegar, and garlic measured as carefully as a specialist doles out medicine, and before the warden appeared a salad which lightened a magnificent roast and prepared the way for pie with crust such as veteran housewives show at the state fair.

Of evenings, Joseph reads in his cell. His library began with the disquisition of Brillat-Savarin, that immortal mayor of Belley, in France, and ran the gamut of the famous cooks of the following century.

Warden Whipp will see what he can do about keeping his cook. After all, he observed, no court has yet issued a writ to evict a man from a prison cell which he wants to keep.

SANITY HEARING FOR HARRIMAN DELAYED; BANKER IN BELLEVUE

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—The whole question of the immediate future of Joseph W. Harriman, founder and former head of the bank bearing his name, was left up in the air today after a hearing before Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, who until Harriman's last disappearance from the Regent Nursing home was conducting an inquiry into the banker's sanity.

Judge Caffey, after consulting with attorneys on both sides, adjourned indefinitely the sanity hearing and also adjourned a motion made by Counsel Foman to reinstate the $25,000 bail forfeited yesterday while the erratic banker was missing. Mr. Harriman, who returned to the home late yesterday with wet clothing and considerable vagueness of mind, is in the prison ward at Bellevue hospital.

The judge announced that the question of resuming the sanity hearing and the question of reinstating the bail could be brought up at any time by counsel for either side on notice to opposing counsel.

The effect of the judge's ruling, Mr. Medalie pointed out, will be to hold the whole matter in abeyance until Dr. Menas S. Gregory, head of the psychopathic division at Bellevue, has had time to complete examination and observation of the banker.

Harriman was committed to Bellevue at a brief hearing late yesterday by Judge Caffey, after he had returned to the nursing home and surrendered on a warrant issued for his arrest when the bail was forfeited.

Harriman is under indictment on charges of misapplication of funds of the bank and falsification of the bank records.

Dancer, Shot by Jealous Suitor, Tries to Shield Him

Los Angeles, Cal., July 19.—[Special.]—With bullet wounds in her chest, face and hands, Dolores La Mar, 19 year old dancer known professionally as Mona Lou, today unavailingly sought to effect release of George W. Kessler, 34, jealous suitor who shot her last night. She told police she would not sign a complaint. The police held Kessler anyway.

JURY CONVICTS IOWA FARMER FOR ATTACK ON JUDGE

2 Others Surrender and Are Sentenced.

Le Mars, Ia., July 19.—(AP)—Two men pleaded guilty and one man was found guilty by a District court jury today to write the final chapters in the April uprisings of militant Iowa farmers.

A man hunt of eleven weeks ended when Maurice Cope and Ed Casper, Plymouth county farmers alleged to be the ring leaders in the mobbing of District Judge C. C. Bradley April 27, surrendered and entered pleas of guilty.

At Orange City a jury found A. A. Mitchell, the only one of the defendants who chose to stand trial, guilty on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Mitchell's sentence will be pronounced by Judge Earl C. Peters July 27.

Cope, 27, was sentenced to one year in jail and was given a suspended one year sentence in prison on a count of interfering with the administration of justice.

Casper, 33, drew a six month jail sentence and a one year suspended prison sentence.

The two sentences today bring to 46 the number of defendants receiving terms for outbreaks at Le Mars, Primghar, and Denison, during which an attorney was nearly hanged, a judge was abducted and beaten, sheriff's deputies were forced to kiss the American flag, and National Guardsmen later ruled two Iowa counties under martial law.

NITTI ASKS TRIAL AT ONCE; POLICE PLEA WINS DELAY

Frank Nitti, once one of Al Capone's chief lieutenants, yesterday asked for an immediate trial when he was arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge before Municipal Judge Joseph H. McGarry. Sergt. William Drury, however, asked for a continuance to permit further investigation and Judge McGarry set the case for July 28. Nitti then was served with a subpœna to appear in the Criminal court on Sept. 11, when Harry Lang, suspended police sergeant, will go on trial on a charge of assault to kill the gangster. Nitti was arrested on Monday by Sergt. Drury in front of the Bismarck hotel.

THREE ORDERED HELD TO JURY IN SLAYING OF BOY

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of murder at the inquest into the death of Anthony Garelli, 12 years old, 923 Sholto street, who was shot and killed July 16 as he fled from three youths.

The jury recommended that Michael Fillishio, 16 years old, 822 South Morgan street, the only one of the youths present at the inquest, be held to the grand jury on a charge of accessory to murder. Steve Aiello, 16 years old, alleged to have fired the shot, was ordered held on a charge of murder, and Joseph Spinado, 16 years old, was ordered held as an accessory. They have not been apprehended.

Frank Alvido, 11 years old, 1017 South Morgan street, a playmate of the slain boy, testified that the youths became angry when he and Garelli would not join them in stripping automobiles, and that Aiello deliberately fired into an ashcan where Garelli was hiding.

ACQUIT LOVETT AND ASSOCIATE IN STRIKE CASE

Judge Warns Prosecutor After Hearing Four.

Robert Morss Lovett, professor of English at the University of Chicago, and Thomas McKenna, executive secretary of the American Civil Liberties union, were found not guilty on charges of disorderly conduct [specifically, agitation] by Judge John Gutknecht in the Municipal Jury court yesterday. Although they had previously demanded a jury trial, the request was withdrawn when the case was called.

Prof. Lovett and McKenna were arrested by policemen under Capt. James Mooney of the Wabash avenue station in front of the plant of B. Sopkin & Sons, garment manufacturers, where a strike was in progress on May 26. At the time the police declared that the defendants refused to move on when ordered to do so, claiming that Mayor Kelly had given them a special permit to witness a demonstration by the strikers from across the street. It was further charged that they advised the strikers to stand their ground.

Trial Ends After 4 Are Heard.

Four witnesses were heard at the trial, after which Judge Gutknecht dismissed the case. Policeman Thomas Cole testified that when asked to leave the scene the defendants walked across the street and refused to move farther.

"He asked for the policeman in charge and said he had a special permit from the mayor," said Policeman Cole. "Then he told the strikers that they didn't have to move either." Policeman James Meredith corroborated this testimony.

Miss Annetta Dieckman, an industrial worker for the Y. W. C. A., and Morris Popchevsky, an art teacher and painter, testified for the defense that they were watching the picketing and that they heard Prof. Lovett ask for the policeman in charge, stating that he had special permission to be there. Whereupon, according to these witnesses, the arrest was made.

"Think Twice," Prosecutor Told.

In dismissing the case, when the state offered no further evidence, Judge Gutknecht warned Prosecutor Julius Sherwin that he should "think twice" before bringing further charges of unlawful assembly against the defendants. He suggested that the prosecutor himself might be guilty of agitation.

Prof. Lovett is national president of the League for Industrial Democracy, which disclaims communistic or any other political affiliations, but which advocates a new social order, with "production for use and not for profit." He is also a member of the executive committee of the American Civil Liberties union, which defends communists and other industrial radicals when they are in trouble for inciting riots, agitation, criminal syndicalism, etc.

NAGGED TO BOB HAIR, MODEL WIFE WINS LOS ANGELES DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Cal., July 19.—(AP)—Faced with the alternative of losing the love of her husband or bobbing her long tresses, which she says are an attribute in her profession, Hilda Elsine McConnell, artists' model, went into court today with her hair tightly coiled atop her head and won a divorce.

The young model told Superior Judge William James her husband insisted she bob her hair and "nagged" her about it for two years. She mentioned, incidentally, that her husband, John L. McConnell, had failed to provide for her maintenance.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

With temperatures beginning to soar, the need for ice in impoverished homes became acute again yesterday. Mothers with babies whose health is none too good in comfortable weather faced once more the old worry of illness because of spoiled milk. This is a situation that THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund endeavors to remedy through contributions from readers.

In needy homes the ice man is received with the same joy in the summer time as the Goodfellow at Christmas. If you don't think so, watch a group of tenement youngsters grouped around the ice wagon waiting for a few cooling chips, or a mother sigh with relief when a chunk of ice arrives in her kitchen.

$4—The Bookhouse for Children.
$2—Anonymous.

Total	$ 31.00
Previously acknowledged	1,027.81
Grand total	$1,058.81

Contributions should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, for both the Camp Algonquin and Free Ice funds. The camp fund sends mothers and children to Camp Algonquin for two weeks' vacation. The camp will remain open until September.

What Kind of Streets?

CONCRETE—BRINGS WORK TO MEN—BEAUTY TO THE STREET—SAVINGS TO EVERY MOTORIST

Now, for the first time, Federal Funds will be available through your State Highway Department for paving arterial streets. The government provides for this with no burden to the property owner or city in its direct grant to states of road building funds. Your arterial streets should be paved now—and with the finest type of pavement—CONCRETE . . .

CONCRETE meets every government specification—that the improvement be permanent—that it be substantially built—of a type that will give men work.

CONCRETE does that—and gives you far more.

It gives you:

Streets that cost far less to maintain than any other type.

Streets that cost less to drive over—saving on tire wear, gasoline, repair bills and depreciation for every mile you drive.

Streets that improve the appearance and the property values of the neighborhood.

Streets that are less-than-concrete pile an extra burden on every motor car, every delivery truck using them. Day after day, such streets make driving more costly by increasing car operating and maintenance costs—¾c more per mile on the next best type—2c more per mile on unpaved streets.

Dollars-and-cents figures, gathered in country-wide surveys, prove these facts. CONCRETE, the longest-lasting of all pavements is the most economical of all pavements to use. Portland cement—basic ingredient of concrete—is the material of the engineer for stopping the hole in the motorist's pocket.

Lost Her Double Chin
AND HER PROMINENT HIPS

This woman writes: "I have a hearty appetite and always stay at 156 lbs. Read her letter. She is one of the thousands of women who have Kruschen Salts to thank for the loss of a load of unhealthy fat.

"I am 49 years old, 5 ft. 5½ in. in height, and was 190 lbs. when I started taking a level teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts every morning. I went slowly down in weight—some weeks 2 lbs., others just 1 lb., until I got down to 156 lbs. I have never felt better in my life than I do now and I feel so much lighter and feel years younger. There's always somebody saying to me that I look about 35 or thereabouts. My measurements are below:

Before		After
Hips	44 ins.	Hips	39½ ins.
Waist	33 ins.	Waist	28 ins.

"Also I had a double chin before taking Kruschen but not now. I have never dieted except once during the time I was taking Kruschen and I tried eating brown bread, boiled eggs, no potatoes or fat meat for a week or two. I got myself down to 151 lbs. but I have a healthy appetite and like to eat everything that's going, I stopped dieting and always stay at 156 lbs.. Even better than all this is the fact that Kruschen Salts have brought me through the difficult period of life without even so much as a headache." —(Mrs.) W. I.

Try one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—in 3 weeks get on the scales, and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

If one inexpensive jar (lasts 4 weeks) doesn't joyfully satisfy, money back from any drug store. Make sure you get Kruschen—prescribed by many physicians and recognized the world over as the SAFE way to reduce and at the same time gain in health and physical charm.

MRS. OPAS MAKES NOT GUILTY PLEA IN MURDER CASE

Mrs. Bessie Opas, 36 years old, 1208 West 51st street, pleaded not guilty yesterday before Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court on a charge of conspiracy to murder her husband, Marion, an automobile dealer. Opas charged that his wife conspired with four youths, who were indicted with her.

Earlier, Judge Miller had overruled Mrs. Opas' plea for a separate trial. One of the youths indicted with her has been granted a severance. She asked to be tried alone fearing that the other youths might prejudice her rights. Judge Miller denied the plea when the state said it would not use the youths' statements against her. Another motion by Mrs. Opas' attorney to quash the indictment on the ground that it was based on insufficient evidence was also denied. The trial is expected to begin today.

Relief Costs Put Mortgage on All, Claim

Woman Sees Job Insurance as Remedy.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

From a rift in the morning's general session between delegates from France and from Syria the international congress of women at the Palmer house passed yesterday into an afternoon of round tables featured by the clamor for information on governmental budgets and unemployment insurance. In different sections questions rattled like hailstones around the heads especially of three speakers—Mrs. Jean Wittich of Minnesota, Miss Margaret Bondfield of England, and Miss Lavinia Engle, member of the Maryland legislature.

It was Miss Engle, explaining the failure of twenty-five bills contemplating protection of the worker against periods of loss of wages, who informed one of the larger aggregations that "facing the truth, we must admit that individualism and permission to plan for himself do not get the American workman very far."

"Psychiatrists tell us a large number have the mental age of twelve years and cannot plan beyond the present. Millions have an earning power so little above minimum standards of decency that saving is impossible, and those who did save invested in stocks or put their money in banks. Chicago is not the place in which I need to tell you what their plight is."

Legislative acts for unemployment insurance failed last winter in twenty-five states, Miss Engle asserted, because of ignorance on the part of the worker and consumer [or taxpayer] and ignorance tempered with selfishness on the part of the employer.

"The relief bill of the last four years," she added, "has put a mortgage on every farm and on every small business in the country, which it will take us a decade if not a generation to remove. The $500,000,000 appropriated by the last session of congress will last until the end of next winter, and then we'll put on the second mortgage."

If unemployment, she concluded, is an inevitable part of our industrial system, it is a part of the cost of production and should be charged as such and the plan for carrying its expense made a part of the regular financial planning of every enterprise.

Discussion later brought from Miss Engle the prediction that within the next ten years the tax system in this country will have been changed radically, since it is now based mainly on general property "which has been obsolete for thirty years," and will be spread more evenly, with national income taxes bearing much of the burden.

She prophesied further that while minor depressions probably will be experienced periodically in years to come, the cycle which will bring back so severe a depression as that of the last three years will be a long one and that in the interval solutions will have been worked out for much of the seasonal unemployment which contributed greatly to the recent economic distress.

Rigid supervision through the labor unions in England, Miss Bondfield told the group, has protected the British dole system against those who hoped to be supported without working. Men who gave up their situations without sufficient cause found themselves denied recompense.

"We are watching and hoping and praying that you will succeed in this country," she informed the Americans, "in the things you are trying to do against child labor under your new industrial code. If you do succeed you will have accomplished in the space of a few months here what we have been struggling for in England for a hundred years."

Mrs. Wittich, first woman ever to be commissioner of the budget of a state, exhibited to another round table the state budget of Minnesota prepared under her supervision. It contained not only the usual estimates of income and expenditure but illustrations of property owned by the state and comments on various items, in explanation of their importance and their operation.

"This morning I read in THE TRIBUNE," she said, "that fifteen federal departments had actually kept within their appropriations. That is nothing to get excited about. In the state of Minnesota in the last year every single department showed a balance."

"One of the most significant and hopeful facts about the present changeful phase through which our civilization is passing," she commented, "is the unquestionable desire of men and women everywhere to learn the truth. This is especially so about government, which has wrapped its administrative affairs so tightly about its financial ones as to completely obscure parts of them from view to the confusion of the lay citizen.

"A budget is a purse—a governmental budget is a governmental purse, full of other people's money, and those purse strings must be handled with frugality and care. To balance is the ultimate aim. And it is at this point that courage is most necessary, to disregard political pressure for unnecessary costly practices that can in no wise be justified, except by repeated performance."

Mlle. Marthe Oulie, French authoress, rose to the defense of her country's policy in Syria when Miss Alice Kandaleft of Bagdad, Iraq, protested what she termed French imperialism in her homeland. Modern imperialism, she declared, is "only a new form and technique of the old historic atrocity of confiscation and exploitation of one people by another."

Mlle. Oulie, who was not on the program, arose to point out that under the French mandate many roads, schools, and hospitals have been built in Syria to benefit a people which had always submitted to other countries because it could not rule itself, and that France had done more good than harm in Syria "even though I am not an admirer of imperialism."

Women's Clubs Give Luncheon for Mrs. Poole

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Three hundred midwestern club women in a party frame of mind hailed their leader, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, yesterday noon at a luncheon in the Horticultural building at A Century of Progress.

Mrs. Poole, who made a trip to Chicago from her home in Brockton, Mass., for the occasion, answered with an appeal to every federation member to "build for the future of these United States."

Spruce and pine provided a naturalistic setting for the party. The luncheon tables were spread in the friendship garden which was dedicated by the officials of the World's Fair Horticultural building to the Illinois Federation.

After Mrs. Poole's address silver cups were awarded by the Fair to the three clubs building the most attractive gardens in the federation floral and garden display of the last three weeks. Mrs. Wallace B. Combs, chairman of the state garden department, announced the Edgemere, the Palos Park, and the Englewood Women's clubs as the winners.

Mrs. William Franklin Farrell as president of the Illinois State Federation was hostess for the luncheon. Seated with her and Mrs. Poole were Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, general chairman of the American home department; Mrs. Mary A. Wall of Murphysboro, General Federation director from Illinois; Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson of Tulsa, Okla., and Dr. Josephine L. Pierce of Lima, O., first and second vice presidents, respectively, of the General Federation; Mrs. Howard Hammett of Sheboygan, Wis., the treasurer; Mrs. H. S. Godfrey of Minneapolis, chairman of music and the fine arts; Mrs. E. W. Shirk of Redlands, Cal., vice chairman of the General Federation junior department; Mrs. Richard W. McClure, General Federation chairman of motion pictures; Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, national chairman of Indian welfare, and Mrs. J. J. Lewis, president of the Minnesota federation.

All of the other guests were members of the Upper Mississippi Valley Region of the General Federation, which represents twelve midwestern states.

Mrs. Seymour, assisted by Mrs. Richard J. Barr and Mrs. Theron Colton was hostess at a reception following the luncheon. After this Mrs. Poole left for Washington, D. C. On June 22 she will sail on the S. S. Scythia with a party of clubwomen for a world friendship tour.

New Portable Mattress for Use at Beach

BY RHEA SEEGER.

For lounge lizards who ask for sand protection and some amount of home comfort some one has invented an outdoor lounging ensemble that can't be equaled. It's a waterproof mattress and pillow combined. The thing is an all-in-one narrow affair that can be folded compactly, tied with straps, and carried with its handle from front porch to beach without any more fuss than carrying a well filled shopping bag. You can find them in swanky black and white, scarlet, deep blue, and bright yellow, all contrasted with white straps.

It's a good extra for a canoe . . . it can be used for solitary roof sun bathing . . . for lounging out in your own back yard, and even on the old front porch. Being smooth and brightly waterproof, it can be kept in spotless condition.

In the same shop you will find a lot of new candlewick bedspreads, quite different from last year's numbers because of the flower designs that are copied from patch quilt patterns. Look for the summery green models made with rows of cool green candlewick nubs alternated with a full blown posy with twin leaves standing upright in a green flower pot. The same rather old-fashioned design comes in a cheerful yellow and a lovely shade of rosy pink.

Other surprises are the matching window drapes of bleached muslin made with matching candlewick tufts. Other good looking cottage bedroom accessories are drapes, pillow tops, and bedspreads, all with the same colorful candlewick work.

Buddy Rogers a Highlight in Shallow Movie

'Best of Enemies' Is Cohen and Kelly Brand.

"BEST OF ENEMIES."

THE CAST.

Jimmie Hartman.....Buddy Rogers
Lena Schneider.....Marian Nixon
William H. Hartman.....Frank Morgan
Gus Schneider.....Joseph Cawthorne
The Blonde.....Greta Nissen
Emil.....Arno Frey
August.....William Lawrence
Professor Herman.....Anders Van Haden

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Best of Enemies," which didn't have much of a story to build on, is a cleanly and long winded number. Its high lights are Buddy Rogers' boyish enthusiasm and Joseph Cawthorne's funny manipulation of a rôle that, in itself, isn't very comical.

Frank Morgan is there, but so poorly equipped by the scenario that you blush for—and, I imagine—with him. Marian Nixon is sweet but dowdy.

The tale is a sort of Cohen and Kelly opus wherein a saloonkeeper's daughter and a prohibitionist's son fall in love despite the enmity of their sires. There are no mammas in this movie. The action starts in America before prohibition, hops over to Germany, whither goeth Papa Schneider to open a hofbrau, his daughter to study composition and piano, Jimmy Hartman to attend the same conservatory, and Papa Hartman, some time later, to have a surreptitious fling.

Lena and Jimmy, who haven't seen one another since they were children and their warring parents refused to let them play together, meet again. . . . Love at first sight. . . . Much this and that to keep Papa Schneider from learning that his daughter is stepping out with a Hartman and that same Hartman is the Jimmy Hartey who has made his hofbrau a paying proposition. . . . Enter Hartman and a blonde. . . . And so and so . . .

Nothing could be lighter and nothing could be stupider in places than "Best of Enemies."

You may like the Sharkey-Carnera fight better—though it's not so hot, either. All Sharkey does till he hits the mat, so far as I could see, is to dodge and butt like a goat, while Carnera lams out like a Newfoundland hitting at a bee. And that WAS the busiest referee! Perfect old woman. He simply wouldn't LET things get good. A couple of times if he'd laid off Sharkey would have put his head clean through Carnera and we'd still have an American heavyweight champion.

See you soon!

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today postponed the luncheon he was to have given for Prince Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of the emperor of Ethiopia who is bearing a message from the emperor to the President, as today is a fast day, according to the Coptic Christian creed, to which the special ambassador adheres. It will be given Friday. The prince, however, was the dinner guest of the acting secretary of state, William Phillips, the fasting being over at sundown. Mr. Phillips entertained a large company of men in the banquet hall of the Pan-American Union building.

James Roosevelt returned to New York today after making a short visit to his father in the White House.

The chief of the western European affairs of the state department and Mrs. Jay Pierrepont Moffat left Washington this evening for Colorado. They will be guests of the former assistant secretary of state and Mrs. James Grafton Rogers in the latter's summer home. They will spend several weeks motoring and riding horseback through the Rockies.

Everett Sanders, secretary to the late former President Coolidge, went to New York today and will sail Saturday for a late summer trip in England and Germany.

A Young Race Fan at Arlington

There isn't ever a more enthusiastic onlooker at the races at Arlington Park than Lois Thompson, who is just in her teens, but who would rather attend the races than do anything else in the world. She is the middle one of the John R. Thompsons' three daughters, Eleanor being the oldest and Pauline the youngest. The Thompson family is spending the summer in town with week-ends in the country near here.

Selecting Sox Fans Difficult Task for Sally

Youngsters Are Anxious to Attend Game.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Such a fiercely devoted group of youngsters as the young Sox fans are! Win or lose, you kids stick right with 'em, don't you? Good for you!

Here's one small gentleman who doesn't mince words or waste any time in saying what he means.

"Dear Sally: My favorite player is Jimmy Dykes. I like him because he is a good third baseman and he is a swell guy. I am 9½ years old and I understand baseball. B. S."

Young W. W. says: "Dear Sally: In regard to my favorite player on the Sox I picked Luke Appling. He's only a young player, but he sure covers a lot of ground at short notice and is he hittin' the old apple around! He usually comes through with a hit when a hit is needed. Boy-o-boy, would I ever like to see that Sox-Cleveland game? I sure hope I win."

And another Sox rooter declares himself: "Dear Sally Joy Brown: I am nine years old, in fourth grade at school and I'm for the Sox.

"I am home getting better from getting my tonsils out last week. I have never seen a big game and I would like it lots if you would take me to the game the 27th of July. R. M."

Now, do you wonder that it's difficult to select only 100 boys and girls from mountains of letters like these?

Rare Old Tulip.

This interesting quilt pattern, "Rare Old Tulip," was found among some letters and papers, yellowed with age, in a curiosity shop in New York. The pattern, cut out in crumbling wrapping paper, was folded in an envelope dated June 10, 1813. It takes its place in the quilt hall of fame as a particularly valuable one.

Open Party Series to Provide Tours of Fair for Children

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE spirit of the golden rule mingled with abundant gayety as society danced for charity's sake until an early hour this morning in the Joseph Urban room of the Congress hotel. The party was the first of a series of celebrity supper dances sponsored by a group of Chicago's social and philanthropic leaders to give the city's less fortunate youngsters an opportunity to enjoy the spectacle of A Century of Progress.

All of the proceeds . . . and they are sure to total an important sum . . . are to be used to provide World's Fair trips for some 40,000 orphan and dependent boys and girls during the next dozen weeks. The first of these groups will gather at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the northwest entrance to Soldiers' field and proceed into the Fair with a group of debutantes and post-debs for their chaperons.

Mrs. Edward Hines, who on many an occasion has been described as "society's handsomest grandmother," and who still knows the childish thrill of a dancing bear and a lovely lady in a spangled gown riding a white horse, is the general chairman of the supper dance board. Lovely in a black gown and a high matching hat, she was one of the early arrivals at the party last night. With her were her daughter, Mrs. Howell Howard of Dayton, strikingly costumed in lightweight white woolen with a tomato colored hat and scarf, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dowd. Mrs. Dowd's dress was a patterned chiffon.

Younger Groups Enjoy Party.

Mrs. John W. Root, who is one of the most enthusiastic members of the supper dance board, arrived after the theater with a party of four, and so did Mrs. Charles L. Howard, who is another board member. Mrs. Louis C. Sudler was hostess to a small group, and Scott FitzHugh was entertaining two out of town guests.

When Miss June Nelson, smartly costumed in a printed dress, a white pique coat, and a matching hat bigger than a cartwheel, wasn't dancing, she was at the circular bar in an adjoining room enjoying a refreshing drink with her two escorts. Miss Anita Penbody liked especially the presentation of notable radio and theatrical stars.

Later arrivals were Miss Virginia Thatcher, who is to be a debutante of the coming season, escorted by Nathan Swift and Edward W. Pinkham Jr. of New York. Miss Elizabeth Doherty came with Paul Loeber.

Welfare Group Arranges Parties.

The child welfare division of the Council of Social Agencies has made itself responsible for the details of the children's Exposition parties. And the Children's Guide Service, with those three energetic young college women, Miss Katherine Waller, Miss Francis H. Levy, and Miss Elizabeth Anne Oberndorfer, as its leaders, is providing the guides.

The itinerary has been carefully planned, both out of regard for the distance to be covered and the interest and the educational values of the exhibits. One of the high lights of every tour is to be a half hour of World's Fair stories by Miss Georgene Faulkner on the bleachers that face Northerly isle. Here, too, the young guests are to have their luncheon.

Among the girls assisting as chaperons on the trips will be Miss Louise Brewer, Miss Lucy Fairbanks, Miss Barbara Bullard, Miss Janet Bard, Miss Ellen Truax, Miss Margaret Chandler, and Miss Katherine Woodbridge.

Give Luncheon for Dr. Hu Shih.

Women who are here for the International Congress of Women and who yesterday afternoon wanted to take part in a round table discussion of "Security Against Destructive Forces" had to wait until the luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, the Friends of China, and the New Orient society broke up before they could start on their discussion, for both meetings were in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house.

The luncheon proved so interesting that it lasted longer than it should have lasted, and consequently the round table discussers were storming the door long before the men and women who had heard Dr. Hu Shih talk were ready to disperse.

Mrs. John Paul Welling, smart in a black and white sheer ensemble and a large black hat, which she wore well over her forehead, presided at

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training, rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough. He and Schewan, his chief, plot to trick Rhoda out of a fortune. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. She has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt Garrick determines to settle the matter in his own way. His solicitor tells him that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda. At night they burgle their way into a private boathouse on the Thames. Garrick hires Alf, a farm hand out of work, as a helper and buys his silence. One of the gang is shot during an encounter in Garrick's home and the police suspect Garrick. Garrick obtains a covered van and equipment and buys a controlling interest in "Jelks' World Famous Fair." They travel about for a week when the gang overtakes them. They escape, but Garrick is separated from Rhoda and Alf. The police find the boat house where the fugitives had hidden and where Garrick expects to again meet Rhoda and Alf.

INSTALLMENT XXXIV.

HIDE AND SEEK.

The wheel tracks of a motorcycle were faintly discernible, running along the gravel path and mounting a grass border. In the soft earth behind a laurel bush they were as distinct as if they had just been made.

"This looks like it!" Inspector Lanport remarked, then closely examined the ground floor windows of the house.

Dean went through the window and opened the back door.

In the dining room Lanport looked from the ashes in the grate to the blankets over the window and back to the mantel piece, where he read Garrick's message to Rhoda.

Then he smiled and gave his orders.

At half past five Dean and two plain clothes juniors entered the house and sat in the dining room.

At half past seven the three policemen, still sitting in darkness and silence, heard a motorcycle chug up to the house.

"Sounds like one of them!" whispered Dean. "Probably Garrick. And with any luck the girl will come along later. . . . Yes, it's Garrick all right—he's bringing the bike in again—stowing it behind the laurel bush. . . . You two get behind the door. I'll tackle him in front as soon as he comes in."

A minute passed—then came a rhythmic knocking on the back door—Garrick's signal to Rhoda.

Getting no answer, Garrick sighed—then opened the door and walked in. He was conscious of something wrong.

He had taken a second step into the hall before he realized what it was. "I left that door locked!"

The inference was instantly obvious. Some one had been to the house, which meant that there was some one in the house now. And it was not Rhoda, for he had given the code knock and there had been no reply.

Garrick caught the fist with his cupped hand as one catches a cricket ball. "Rotten, dear boy!" he drawled. "You could only have brought that off if you had started with a feint lead with the left."

His hand groped for the key on the inside of the door, found it and quickly reversed it.

The next moment he had stepped back and locked the door on the outside. He ran hard to the front of the house.

He leaped on to the low window sill of the dining room, then kicked the glass and broke it. As he did so he heard a muffled exclamation from within, which told him all he wanted to know.

"Give my compliments to Mr. Lanport!" he shouted. Once through the garden gate the motorbike engine was running a good five seconds before Dean's footsteps sounded on the gravel.

Smashing the window had been a great deal more than a cheap gesture. Alf would certainly do a bit of scouting before he brought Rhoda to the house. He would see the broken window and guess a great deal of what had happened. Enough, anyhow, to know that the house was now unsafe.

Of Rhoda only one thing was certain. He would know within two or three hours whether she had been captured.

He garaged the motorbike and walked about London until close upon midnight.

Round about midnight he drifted into Piccadilly circus. Here he had to be very careful. His disguise was a separate danger. Garbed in shabby clothes, with a ridiculous cap, to say nothing of the horn rimmed spectacles and a bristly chin—his chances of recognition as Swell Garrick were practically nil.

Presently he found himself in Jermyn street. A dozen or more of his friends lived in the street—and that gave him an idea.

Keeping a wary eye on the police, he presently slipped up a tiny alley, scaled a low wall and then found himself in a well below an iron fire escape.

He crept up the fire escape, carefully counting the floors, so that he should make no mistake. On the fourth floor he pulled out his pocket knife and tackled the window.

He was in a room which he knew to be a bedroom. He was groping his way towards the switch when the door was flung open and a light switched on.

The next moment young Alistair, the man whom he had saved from the clutches of Schewan's gang, lunged forward with a very formidable right swing to the jaw.

"Rotten, dear boy!" he drawled. "You could only have brought that off if you had started with a feint lead with the left. As the guard comes up, then swing over with a hook."

As he spoke Garrick flung off the villainous looking cap.

"Lyle Garrick!" gasped Alistair. "But—you look positively filthy!"

"How very unjust!" laughed Garrick. "If you read the papers this morning, you must know that I had a bath last night. But I'll admit I could do with another one now. But not a shave on any account. The beard represents half my stock in trade as a fugitive and outcast and—er—all that, don't y'know!"

Half an hour later Garrick, clad in one of Alistair's gaudiest dressing gowns, was enjoying a cold supper of sardines, biscuits and cheese and champagne. An odd mixture, but the best that the gilded young bachelor's larder could supply at that hour—and very satisfying.

Afterwards Garrick told him his yarn.

"If I should happen to be pinched—as we crooks call it—in your flat, it wouldn't do you any harm, Alistair. Otherwise I wouldn't have come here. There's no real chance of my being convicted——"

"And if there were I'd be thundering proud to stand in the dock for having tried to help you," cut in Alistair. "Next, please!"

Garrick's eyes thanked the other for his loyalty, for he knew well that Alistair had not spoken lightly.

"We ought to get this murder business cleared up," said Alistair judicially. "And, by the way, the one part I didn't follow in your yarn was why you didn't hear the gang when they were at your house. You've got tiles all over the place instead of carpets and one would think——"

"They knew that," explained Garrick. "They were wearing a special kind of rubber overshoe—like galoshes, only they were almost boots. They've got plenty of brains, Alistair. Those rubber things probably helped them to get over the wall and through the next house without making any noise."

"Did you tell the police about the rubbers?"

"I don't believe I did. One doesn't think of everything at the time."

"You ought to have told them. If they got hold of those shoes they'd examine them with a microscope and they might find bits of that brick wall of yours, not to mention other oddments—those shoes alone under a microscope might knock Schewan's alibi."

"Pity I didn't think of it!" said Garrick dully, for he was very tired. "Anyhow I could write to the police without giving my whereabouts away and tell them about it."

"Yes. And they'd ask Schewan if he had any rubber boots or whatever they are. And he would say he was sorry he had not. And they couldn't get a search warrant because there's no prima facie case against him. We shall have to get those rubbers ourselves, Lyle!"

"I don't know that it's much use, old man," Garrick's voice was fatigued and depressed. "I think it's time I threw up the sponge—face the charge and let them thrash it out in court."

"What about Miss Fairclough?"

"Exactly! What about her? I've lost touch with her. The police throughout the country are looking for her. How can I find her if they cant? They will find her, of course! Alf won't be able to keep it up for a fortnight."

"When you talk of throwing up the sponge it means only one thing—that you need a good night's rest," said Alistair. "And before you go to bed, just listen to me. Your man Alf is the connecting link. He can come and go from the hiding place, wherever it is, without running into anything. And I can practically promise you that you'll see Alf tomorrow."

It was an ironic stroke of fate that Rhoda should be enduring considerable physical hardship while Garrick was in surroundings of comparative luxury, but fortunately this knowledge was withheld from him.

The corrugated iron shack, the tool shed of a recently abandoned road cutting on the outskirts of Teddington, was at any rate an immense improvement on the stone quarry in which she had spent the previous night.

After abandoning the van three miles out of Godalming, Alf had insisted on their leaving the main road.

They soon found the quarry—a mere half moon cut in the side of a low hill—and there they stopped.

Safeguard Your Child During Summer Heat

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Summer with its floods of sunshine, its green and golden and blueskied days means health stored up for the children. But not without the use of common sense. Summer doesn't mean as much in health to a child if certain restraints are not put upon him.

These restraints have to do with the effect upon him of heat, of too great activity, and too little rest. Heat takes it out of children. They usually aren't conscious of that when they're young, but it shows itself in loss of appetite, irritability, or some other kind of fussiness.

Older children are often conscious of being very hot, but even they don't do anything about it. Children on the whole seldom say, "Let's not do that—it's too hot." Children never spare themselves. But they need to be safeguarded against heat and overactivity just the same.

The mother, or whoever is in charge of them, has to be the one to keep this in mind. On very hot days the young children should be kept a great deal in the shade. They should have two or three definitely quiet periods besides their nap. The older children should rest after lunch, reading or playing quiet games, or drawing, or just "flopping" as one young boy calls his enforced after luncheon summer rest.

Several baths—dips, showers, or sponges—in tepid water, followed by a good powdering and a fresh dress or sun suit, or slacks and shirt are fine aids to combat the effects of heat, and are not scorned by even the tens to thirteens once they have tested them and found how soothing they are.

Rest is a big asset in building up summer's health. Don't let daylight saving or even long days without it catch you unawares, making you let the children stay up too late to get in all their hours of sleep.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

THE DEATH DROP.

The professor carefully placed the toe of his right shoe at the edge of the deep impressions 3"x1" in the soft earth, stretched his left leg and placed the toe of his other shoe near a similar impression. He satisfied himself that that's where the ladder had stood.

Without comment he looked up and into the dining room window directly above; then down at the body lying in front of him as the voices of Inspector Kelley and Hans Berg from the kitchen caught his attention. The B. I. men finished their work, the doctor completed his examination and the body of Gus Lyons was removed to a slab in the morgue.

"We were putting up an aerial," Fordney heard Hans tell the inspector as he entered the room. "Gus started down the ladder to get some more wire when he lost his balance and fell. He must have broken his neck when he struck the stone ledge around the flower bed."

"How did you know his neck was broken?" asked Fordney quietly.

"Who knocked down the ladder?" inquired the professor.

"I did. . . in my haste I stumbled against it."

"What's that bulge in your pocket?" Kelley demanded.

"Why, it's . . ."

"And what caused that fresh scratch on your neck?" Fordney asked. "You two were alone?"

"Yes . . . we were."

"Come now, Berg, the inspector and I know you're lying about this tragedy. Therefore, you must be involved in Lyon's death."

"We're holding you!" thundered Kelley.

WHY?

[See solution on page 29.]

BY DORIS BLAKE.

From an income of $1,000 a month to living off the dubious income of a Barnegat fisherman is but another of the tales of the late depression. [Anyway, let's call it late, the better to keep the courage up.]

The woman tells her story in a current monthly. It's the story of a hobby turned supporter in the bad days, and a story of a brief two years of marriage. Two years ago when the couple married the woman had a good salary. The man's business and securities gave an income insuring far more than mere comfort.

The business failed. The securities shrank to nil. The woman lost her job. After months of enforced idleness the hobby motor boat [of the Barnegat fisherman type] was turned to as life saver.

It was a far cry from the conditions under which they married to the fisherman's shack at $25 a month "where one cooked and ate and lived and entertained in the same room." Rising at quarter past three [formerly probably hours of homecoming] is the beginning of a deep fisherman's day. There is a smoky oil stove to cook on; a kitchen sink is the place to wash. It wasn't easy accustoming oneself to the new routine.

A good day for fish, perhaps, 1,100 pounds—but the wholesale price only 4 cents a pound, and a partner to share with! Other days perhaps three small bluefish. Agonizing hours for the wife waiting for the fisherman's return, with tales of veteran fishermen lost when their boat capsized on the bar, and imagination encompassing every possible calamity that could beset her man.

But out of it all comes this summary: "Nevertheless, we were happy. It was satisfaction to Tom to know he was providing a living for us and some answering primitive instinct made me content to cook and tend the hearth. . . . Beside health, this simple elemental life in all its barrenness and frugality had given us a deeper feeling of fulfillment in marriage, the common bond of each having worked hard for the other. Something much finer was welded between us than we found in the first prosperous days of our marriage, when our lives followed two distinct paths, and we couldn't afford a baby."

A few of those at the luncheon were Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. William H. Bush, Mrs. William S. Monroe, Mrs. James L. Houghteling, and Mrs. Carleton Holdrege, who is leaving next week to make a visit on Long Island before returning to her home in Paris, after a fortnight's stay in Chicago. Also Mrs. William G. Hibbard and her sister, Mrs. William B. Hale; Mr. Hale, Mrs. Helen Walton, Graham Aldis, Mrs. Harold E. Pynchon, and Miss Helen Bell, the latter picturesque as always, in a frock that appeared to be black from the front and white from the back. The black was a sort of cover-all apron tied at the back to show a white underskirt. Very chic and becoming to this attractive elder daughter of the Laird Bells.

Mrs. Pynchon had just seen her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Drain Jr., leave for their home in New York, and she and Mr. Pynchon are making plans now to leave late next week for a vacation at Estes Park. They will take with them his son, Billy, and will meet Mary Seymour and Hester Pynchon out there.

Society Arranges Benefit Concert.

An event on next month's calendar that will bring out a society audience is the recital by the contralto, Sonia Sharnova, a former member of the Chicago Civic Opera company, at the Studebaker theater. Proceeds from the recital are to go to THE TRIBUNE'S Free Ice fund that provides for tiny children in Chicago's poorer districts.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, widow of the Vice President, is to be the special guest this evening at a dinner and theater party given by Mrs. Franklin M. Miller. Dinner is to be served at 7 o'clock at Mrs. Miller's apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Marshall is stopping at the Blackstone hotel for several days to see the World's Fair.

Eleanor Mercein Kelly, who has made all who have read her delightful books want to visit the Basque country and get acquainted with those Basque characters she writes about, is visiting Mrs. Edmund Raftery in Geneva. Today after luncheon at the Little Traveler, Mrs. Kelly is going to talk on "Hospitality in Other Ways and Other Worlds." There will be numerous auto loads of women going to Geneva from the city and the north shore to hear this charming woman and talented author.

Miss Ellen Holt and Miss Elizabeth Webster are discussing the individual merits of black and green tea, open faced sandwiches and cheese sticks these days, for they are planning the tea the Chicago College club is to have at 4:30 Saturday afternoon for Dr. Yi-fang Wu, the president of Ginling college, China.

Enjoying Visit in California

Mrs. Albert de W. Erskine is having such a good time in California, where she is visiting her relatives, Senator and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo, that she has written her family that she won't be home until October, Mr. Erskine is going to join her the last of August. John Erskine is spending the summer in Chicago and Bert Jr. is in Florida with his grandmother.

The races at Arlington again drew a great crowd of racing enthusiasts to the Post and Paddock club yesterday. Edward N. Hurley was absent host to a group of women, among them Mrs. Raymond J. Hurley, Mrs. Allen B. Ripley, Mrs. Walter Goodwillie, and Mrs. Alfred Amberg. Edward Lasker escorted Miss Carol Gimbel, here from New York with her parents, the Bernard Gimbels, who were entertained by the John D. Hertzes. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tunney were guests of the Hertzes' also.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dixon III. are enjoying a leisurely motor trip home from Montecito, Cal., where they have been visiting Mrs. Dixon's aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Hart Branson. The Dixons will be at home in Lake Forest by Saturday or Sunday.

Miss Rosamond Arnold of Montreal, who has been visiting her old friends, Miss Edna Doering and her sister, Virginia, now Mrs. Robert Martin Stevenson, is returning to Canada Monday after two weeks spent with the junior Edmund J. Doerings in Lake Forest. Miss Doering and Mrs. Stevenson are leaving shortly after their guest to visit her in Montreal and they will be at home again by Aug. 10.

Wise Gal Plays Up Her Type and Is Individual

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Here's a question for the girls' debating team. "Deb" proposes it. She asks: "If a girl has a good complexion, beautiful hair, a good figure, and neat ankles, wouldn't she be entitled to be called pretty?"

Well, she'd have a good start, we'd grant. Still, she might not be voted pretty except by those who love her. Suppose she had, in addition to the above mentioned assets, good style, good teeth, good hands—she might not even yet qualify as pretty. Pretty, as I understand it, is a goodly proportion of the physical gifts with a certain warm, lovable appeal. It's a difficult thing to analyze, but a pretty girl is bound to be told she is all of that in the course of her young life.

There are so many variations of attractive girls today, why worry about the pretty encomium? There are good looking girls, attractive girls, stunning ones, tres chic darlings, pretty ones, beautiful ones, and girls brimming over with personality. The main thing is just not to be a negative one, the kind of girl who won't try for some one of the named goals! If you're not naturally outfitted for the "pretty" dear, don't try to be her.

If you're not beautiful that's nothing to cry about either. You can be so many other grand things. You can be your own type. Exploit it—and who knows but the movies will grab you as a new beauty discovery. Anyway, carry the thought!

I have been reading about a certain actress of stage and movie fame about whom it is said discriminating judges see in her strange face a compelling beauty. You wouldn't have nominated her, probably, as having beauty. That's what I mean about stressing yourself in this beauty contest of which all women are a part today. By that we mean taking yourself to pieces, so to speak, and fitting yourself together again with every possible asset keyed to top pitch.

Buffet Suppers Keep the Cook and Family Cool

Appetizing Jellied Meat Main Dish.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 11 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

Quantities of tea shops and almost as many home dining rooms are sporting buffet tables these days. And the reason—if one needs a reason for such a pleasant convention—is that we've discovered buffet service to be the best sort of way of keeping cool this wilting weather.

On our buffets we find much the same assortment of temptations at home as at our favorite restaurant. Nippy stuffed eggs, cool crisp salads, crinkly potato chips, jellied meats, relishes, and long tinkling drinks do the honors. Add to these some chilly refrigerator pudding or frozen dessert made in the cool of the morning and you have as lovable a summer luncheon or supper as any epicure could desire.

Fresh coolness should be the buffet keyword. Stuffed eggs at their happiest are delightful yellow and white creations best filled with a pastry tube. Whip the yolk of hard cooked eggs with cream, a little vinegar, mustard, and seasoning. Spoon it into the pastry bag or tube and curl it out into the half egg white, using your most artistic wiggles.

See to it that potato chips or the shoestring affairs are startlingly crisp—that the relishes are both colorful and tart (radish roses, mustard pickles, celery curls, and carrot sticks turn the trick), that crisp vegetables are ready in the same colorful bowls in which they have been tossed with French dressing—and that the jellied meats almost never repeat themselves! So often we seem to become wedded to one quivery loaf and forget that there are infinite other varieties to choose from.

But lest recipes aren't your forte, take a look at three tempting possibilities. First for a "swan song" for a large Sunday fowl. The left-over tidbits will make:

CHICKEN MOUSSE SUPREME.

2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup boiling chicken stock
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
1 cup chicken, finely cut
1-3 cup finely chopped celery
1-3 cup finely chopped ripe olives
¼ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup whipping cream

Soak the gelatin for five minutes in the cold water. Add to the boiling chicken stock and dissolve. Chill until the mixture is slightly thickened and then fold in the celery, chicken, olives, nuts, and salt. Lastly fold in the whipped cream and mayonnaise. Chill until firm in a loaf pan. Unmold and slice.

Another tempting and simple jellied combination is prepared by adding two and one-half cups of cold diced chicken to gelatin made with the contents of a package of orange flavored gelatin.

JELLIED VEAL.

2 cups stock
1½ tablespoons gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
3 cups chopped veal

Soak the gelatin in one-half cup of the cold stock for five minutes. Dissolve it in one-half cup of boiling stock. Add the remaining stock, lemon juice, salt, and celery salt. Chill the liquid and when it is about to set stir in the finely chopped veal. Pour into a ring mold and chill until it is set. Unmold on crisp lettuce leaves and fill the center of the ring with potato salad. (If no meat stock is available you may substitute two bouillon cubes dissolved in two cups of boiling water.)

ICED TEA

(The Sunshine Method)

2 tablespoons orange pekoe tea
4 cups cold water

Paris Sponsors Printed Outfit That May Be Worn from Morn Till Midnight

BY SUZETTE BARILLET.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Prints offer so many obvious advantages for summer wear that sometimes couturiers seem inclined to let them rest on their laurels, as it were. To be more explicit, they're apt to depend too much on the natural charm of the material for effect and neglect the originality of treatment that raises it above the crowd of print ensembles to be picked up on almost any summer bargain counter.

The Lucile Paray afternoon ensemble, sketched today, carries a significant style message, besides being one of those practical outfits that may be worn smartly from morn till midnight.

It's in black and white marocain, following the latest trend toward "more body" fabrics and the floral patterns that are beginning to outmode geometricals. The loose, collarless coat, with the sleeves that purposely aren't quite long enough, is the last word in nonchalant elegance.

The sleeveless frock has the new fichu drapery that gives a softer, more drooping shoulder line, tied bib fashion to the center panel of the bodice back, which is cut out in two deep V's on either side. In the back the skirt molds the hips and then bursts into low circular fullness. There's an interesting apron drapery in front, shirred at either side on to two incrusted crossed bands that lose themselves under the wide belt of the print, ornamented by groups of crosstucks and a row of self-covered buttons. The bodice is slightly fitted above the belt by a couple of darts at each side.

You will notice that the fichu drapery worn outside the coat gives it a decidedly dressy air; for early afternoon it should be left inside.

Joint Recital Popular with Big Audience

Heniot Levy and Herbert Butler Artists.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Wednesday afternoon joint recitals by faculty members of the American Conservatory of Music this summer have been highly popular, and yesterday's event was no exception. Heniot Levy, pianist, and Herbert Butler, violinist, appeared in Kimball hall before an audience that tested the capacity of the auditorium.

In spite of many other duties, Mr. Levy maintains a répertoire containing most of the greater examples of the literature of the piano. On this occasion he played the Schumann Fantasie, opus 17, two extended works by Chopin, the sonata of the funeral march and the ballade in F minor, and a final group containing two works of his own and the tricky transcription made by Schulz-Evler of the "Blue Danube" waltzes. In addition to being a technician of much ability, he has a rare gift of catching and reproducing the mood of his music.

Mr. Butler makes few public appearances, which would seem to be a matter of his own choice. At any rate the Grieg sonata for violin and piano which he played with Jacob Hanneman displayed him as a violinist and interpreter of more than usual powers. His second appearance was with a group of compositions by himself, Blair Fairchild, and Leo Sowerby.

A dance contest open to all types of dancing is announced to begin today at Hollywood, A Century of Progress. Entrance is free and registrations should be made with Alicia Pratt. The judges are to be Lucile Marsh, dance critic of New York; Louise Ege, first vice president of the Chicago Dancing Masters, and Grace Cornell, feature dancer.

Through an error the concert by Victor Grabel's Chicago concert band with Alice Mock and Forrest Lamont as soloists was announced in this column yesterday to take place last night. It should have been stated for tonight.

A Salute to the G-E Victors

HERE'S a welcoming gun for the 500 General Electric refrigerator salesmen who visit Chicago's Century of Progress today and tomorrow as victors in the most successful sales campaign in General Electric Refrigerator history.

But—at the risk of dimming some of the glory of this great sales achievement—we must thump up a round of applause for the patient, unsung heroes at the factory who build such excellence into G-E Refrigerators as to make millions of people declare "I would never have anything but a General Electric."

It's amazing how much the public, particularly women, can learn about such a product as a refrigerator in the short space of six years. Their knowledge is founded on experience. Their opinions, once crystallized, are almost unalterable. Their beliefs become too profoundly seated to be moved by any table-pounding salesman. Women are not "sold"—they buy.

So—while this recent sales record set by our salesmen and those of contemporary G-E distributors is a glittering gem in the coronet of General Electric's leadership, we must not overlook the canny buying judgment of some 2,000,000 people who own General Electrics. Two hundred thousand users in Chicago alone have learned that the constant, trouble-free service of G-E refrigerators would justify any reasonable price difference between General Electric and other refrigerators.

But General Electric prices are now the lowest in history. You can own the Monitor Top with its 4 year guarantee against mechanical failure for approximately the same monthly outlay you would be required to make for a less satisfactory machine.

The R. Cooper Jr. organization pays tribute to the far-sightedness of people in the Chicago territory which enabled us to install more General Electrics during the campaign than were installed in any other territory. We think it is fitting that the victory should be celebrated here.

Join us in giving a salute to the G-E Victors. Join the hundreds of thousands of refrigerator owners who have agreed that it is wise buying to decide on General Electric in the first place.

IRISH CHAMPIONS INVADE CHICAGO TODAY

Snap Champs' Nine Game String.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—The White Sox operated on the well known New York Yankee system of hit and run today. It didn't matter that the Yankees were the opposition. In fact, it made the turn of events all the more pleasing. Seven runs in the seventh inning allowed the Sox to win, 8 to 4, and bring the champions' nine game winning streak to an end.

There was nothing to indicate that the south siders were to embark on a spree as they went to bat in the seventh. They were trailing, 2 to 0, because the sensational Dixie Walker had parked one of Sad Sam Jones' pitches into the right field crowd with a runner on base in the second inning.

Ruth Starts Trouble.

That old wrecker of hopes, Babe Ruth, gave the Sox their impetus when he dropped Hayes' easy fly. Another error by Lazzeri and four solid hits, the chief one of which was a triple by Red Kress with the bases full, turned the game completely around. Walter Brown, 260 pound right hander, was driven out of the game just before Kress' drive, and old Wilcy Moore finished the inning. Oddly enough, the slumping Al Simmons had no part in this rally. He singled once in five times up and fanned twice.

The Sox triumph was the first in six games in Yankee stadium, and their first of the three game series which ended today.

Jones gave another convincing comeback exhibition. After a wobbly start he held the heavy hitting New Yorkers fairly well at bay, although they scored two in the ninth on hits by Farrell and Combs and a wild pitch. Jones was hammered for eleven hits, while the Sox made only seven.

Kress Busts One.

Hayes, first up in the big seventh, hit an easy fly to Ruth. He dropped it. Then Grube singled just out of Lazzeri's reach and Hayes went to third. Brown got deeper into trouble by walking Jones to fill the bases. When Lazzeri fumbled Swanson's easy grounder Hayes scored and the bags remained filled.

Haas' sharp single to right scored Grube and Brown was replaced by Moore. With the count one and one Kress sent a terrific drive between Chapman ad Walker that carried to the far distant fence for a triple, clearing the bases. Red scored a little later on a wild pitch by Moore. After Simmons had rolled out Appling walked and went to third on Dykes' single to left. He scored the seventh run when Hayes hit a dinky roller to Gehrig.

Jones met trouble the first minute he went to work. There were three on base in the first inning when Sam persuaded Lazzeri to lift a foul to Grube. But the second was a different story and it was fortunate the Yanks were held to two runs. Dickey walked and stole second. When Farrell singled to right, Dickey tried to score but was out on a close play at the plate, Hayes relaying Swanson's throw.

Walker Comes Through.

Brown rolled out, but Dixie Walker smashed the ball into the right field bleachers, scoring Farrell ahead of him. This uprising happened while Gen. Balbo's Italian air fleet was roaring by, the motors making a noise almost as fearful as the Yankees' bats.

Meanwhile, the Sox were still showing a pitiful weakness at the plate with runners on base. In the first inning, Kress walked but Ruth hobbled in to make a shoestring catch of Simmons' liner. Appling and Hayes walked in the second, but both were left stranded when Brown whizzed a third strike past Jones.

In the third, Haas' drive rolled up Lazzeri's chest and dropped into right field for a single. Simmons' single moved him to third, but Brown came through with a third strike on Appling to end the uprising.

Jones' Support Excellent.

Jones settled down following the second inning, his support was of the highest caliber. Appling dashed over near second to throw out Dickey in the fourth. In the fifth, with Walker on second, Hayes leaped for Ruth's liner and then doubled the troublesome Dixie off second. Swanson galloped back to the right field bleacher wall and took Gehrig's drive with a leaping catch in the sixth.

Brown held the Sox in check until the seventh when his defense went haywire. After the seven-run seventh the Sox found the Yanks still were in a charitable mood. With Cholly Devens, late of Harvard, pitching the eighth, Jones walked. Swanson laid down a sacrifice, but Gehrig tried to catch Sam at second and threw into center field. Jones pulled up at third. He scored on Haas' fly.

Highland Park Entrant Wins Elks Golf Tourney

Milwaukee, Wis., July 19.—(AP)—Arthur Olson of Highland Park, Ill., won the national Elks' golf championship, finishing the 54 hole medal play in 228, one stroke better than Ralph Johnson of Urbana, Ill., today. The four man team championship went to the Appleton, Wis., quartet, which beat Gary, Ind., by 21 strokes over the 36 hole route. The winner's total was 660; Gary's was 681.

Phils Open Series with Cubs Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The slugging Phillies, a bit proud at having been able to climb out of the National league cellar during their western travels, are in this city this morning, bearing, perhaps, the sly notion that they can do better against the Cubs than their three eastern predecessors. Said predecessors, you know, have won only two games out of a dozen. The first of a four game series will be played this afternoon, and the Phillies will have to face Bud Tinning.

So far this season the Phillies have played only three games in Chicago, but in that series they won two games, two being one more than they won here all last season. The teams have played only eight games in their season series, and each has won four.

The fact that the Phillies have won four out of eight from the Cubs isn't the least bit consistent, especially in view of the fact they have been in the cellar all year until last week. Last year, when they finished fourth, and spent the last week of July in third place, they beat the Cubs only six times in 22 starts.

Regardless of what the Phillies may do in the windup of the Cubs' long home stand, the Cubs will hit the road Monday night with an eminently successful home visit in the record books. Since arriving July 4 they have beaten the Reds two out of three, the leading Giants four straight, and the Dodgers and Braves three out of four.

That's Playing Ball!

From the night of July 2 to the night of July 9 the 1932 champs gained 5½ games on the leading Giants and leaped from fourth place, 9½ games in arrears, to second place, four games back. Since that spurt, however, until they finished with the Braves Tuesday, they were able to gain only a half game.

The Chicagoans' prospects of gaining while the Giants were playing the tailend Reds and the Pirates were playing the wobbly Dodgers of course were desolate even before the expected happened. But while the Cubs are playing the Phillies the Giants and Pirates will be at each other, a matter in which the Cubs don't care much who beats whom, seeing as the Pirates recently have been getting entirely too sassy for comfort.

Play in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

It probably would be more comfortable for the Cubs if the Pirates were to take down the Giants, for the Cubs next Tuesday will start whacking at the Pittsburghers, who, so far this year, have been splendid Cub cousins. The champs will play a double header in Pittsburgh Tuesday, followed by single games Wednesday and Thursday, and then will jump to St. Louis for a three day stand.

They will return to Chicago for series with the three western clubs, beginning with the Reds on Aug. 1 and proceeding with a jumbled arrangement which will bring the Pirates to town twice. On Aug. 15 the Cubs will launch their final eastern trip, opening in Boston. Aug. 15 is four days later than the date on which the Cubs went in first place for keeps last season.

The champions will be back for their long September home stand on Sept. 3. They play only three games abroad in September, Sept. 1 and 2 in St. Louis and Sept. 30 in Cincinnati.

KILLEFER QUITS; SOTHORON TAKES OVER BROWNS

Hornsby Is Mentioned as New St. Louis Manager.

St. Louis, Mo., July 19.—[Special.]—The resignation of Bill Killefer as manager of the St. Louis American league baseball club was received today by President Phil Ball as he lay in a hospital bed. Killefer, who has managed the hapless Browns since 1930, telegraphed his resignation from Washington, where the club was playing the Senators.

Al Sothoron, coach of the Browns, will manage the team temporarily, Ball said. The Browns' president said he expected to be released from the hospital within several days and would take up the matter of naming a new manager then.

"The telegram notifying me of Killefer's resignation asked that it take effect immediately and contained no explanation of his action," Ball said. "Al Sothoron will take charge of the club for the remainder of the eastern trip."

Hornsby May Get Job.

Ball refused to disclose the names of any men he had in mind as the next St. Louis manager. The name of Rogers Hornsby, second baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals, was mentioned and it is understood the Cardinals would be agreeable to a transfer if the Browns want him.

However, it is believed that Sothoron will be considered by Ball as permanent manager of the club. Sothoron, who is 40 years old, has been in baseball since 1912. As a pitcher he achieved a notable record and at one time managed the Louisville American association club for three seasons, winning one pennant. His last job as a pitcher was with the Cardinals in the 1926 season.

Killifer was a coach under Rogers Hornsby with the Cardinals and later of the Browns under Dan Howley. He was promoted in 1930 when Howley left the Browns. In 1929, under Howley's management, the Browns finished in fourth place. When Killefer took over the club in 1930 it sank to sixth place.

Managed Cubs in 1921.

The Browns rose to fifth place in 1931, but last season finished in sixth again. The team played fairly good ball after a bad start this season, but sank again after the sale of Catcher Rick Ferrell to the Boston Red Sox. Rumors of Killefer's resignation have been current in major league cities. Last Saturday Ball said Killefer was through "as far as signing players or formulating plans for the Browns is concerned."

Killefer broke into organized baseball in 1912 as a catcher with the Philadelphia Phillies. Later he became the battery mate of the great Grover Cleveland Alexander and the pair was sold to the Chicago Cubs in 1[illegible]. In 1921 Killefer was named manager of the Chicago club.

U. S. TRACK STARS WIN FOUR EVENTS AT STOCKHOLM

STOCKHOLM, July 19.—(AP)—Led by Glenn Cunningham, American miler from Kansas, the touring all star track and field team from the United States took the lead in its first international track meet here today by winning four of the first day's five events.

Cunningham failed by only three-tenths of a second to equal the world's record for 1,000 meters. Following the pace set by Erik Ny of Sweden most of the way, he finished with a burst of speed in 2 minutes 23.9 seconds. The world's record is 2:23.6, held by Jules Ladoumegue of France.

Ralph Metcalfe, Negro sprinter from Marquette university, in the 100 meters; Johnny Morriss, Louisiana, in the 110 meter high hurdles, and Ivan Fuqua, Indiana, in the 400 meters scored the other American victories before a crowd of 14,000.

Denmark, Greece Split Next Year's Cup Play

COPENHAGEN, July 19.—(AP)—Denmark and Greece divided the opening singles today in the 1934 Davis cup preliminary play. Jacobsen, of Denmark, defeated Stalios, of Greece, 4-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, but Xydis, of Greece, unexpectedly overcame Ulrich, of Denmark, 4-6, 6-4, 10-12, 6-2, 6-1.

Irish Champions View New York; Prefer Big Ship

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 19.—Eight of Ireland's strongest and bravest young men on the way to Chicago to fight the Golden Glove champions Aug. 2 broke training today to make a tour of New York. After a trip to all corners of Manhattan, the boys left for Chicago at 3:30. They will arrive at the Union station tomorrow at 11:50 a. m. Chicago time.

"Chinatown . . . Gee whizz! 'N' awful lot of clothes around, isn't there?" inquired Paddy Connolly, flyweight. "Little Italy . . . the fish market—say, driver, you were kiddin' us when you said we'd be here for 15 minutes, weren't you? Let's go! Enough of this is plenty! . . . Yes! But we haven't seen any Indians yet," Connolly complained. "With feathers on them, y'know . . . the fellows who were paid $40 for this place."

Mulligan Will Be Back.

The other boys of the team were remarkably quiet. Perhaps the strain of twisting the neck to get a good look at all the summits around had a slowing effect on conversation.

Pat Mulligan, the big heavyweight, was taking in everything with a grave expression on his face. He did not smile. He did not speak. It was not until the team was gathered around the luncheon table at the Hotel New Yorker that he gave voice to his conclusions:

"Boy, if only I win the Sweepstakes, I know what I'm going to do! There must be an awful lot goes on around here that a fellow doesn't see just passing through casually."

It's a Thrill, But——

"Oooh!" whispered Hughes, the featherweight, as the elevator slowed down for the eighty-something floor. "After what the boat did to us, we had to run into this at the end of it all!"

"They'll never believe I was here when I tell them back home," considered Jack Kennedy, who slings a welterweight punch in the ring. Wherefore he purchased a supply of trinkets, including a brooch, a pencil case, and a small model of the building, all of which bore the unmistakable stamp and image of the huge skyscraper. "That ought to convince the doubting Thomases," he mused.

"Wait a minute, boys!" yelled Ernie Smith, fetching up before a row of cabinets wherein, it was stated, visitors to the building could record the imperishable sound of their voices. "I want to make a speech about what I'm going to do to Eddie Ward in Chicago. Maybe I'll sing a song as well. Just think—when I bring that record back home and play it on the gramaphone for the folks!"

But Ernie never made the speech nor sang the song for the benefit of posterity. The boys were in too great a hurry to work in more of the sights while the bus ride lasted.

Going and Coming.

Then there was Wall street.

"They threw a bomb at that building a few years ago," remarked the guide as the bus swung past the Federal Reserve bank.

"'Cha!" commented Connolly, who, being a soldier, knows a thing or two about bombs and such. "One bomb? Crazy!"

"Wall street?" mused Hearns, the light heavyweight Irish hope. "Isn't this the place where they have all the rushing about with stocks and bonds and what not?"

"It is," confirmed Hennelly, who is a middleweight. "But"—he lowered his voice—"did'ya hear what the chap with the megaphone said? . . . It's got the river at one end and a graveyard at the other. . . . Gets you both ways. . . ."

Riverside drive . . . Grant's tomb . . . Central park . . . and another distant view of the famous skyline. The boys rubbed aching necks, and twisted tired eyes to this side and that. But never a thing they missed.

"Boy! That was a great trip, all

ATHLETE SUES OCCIDENTAL FOR BREAKING PACT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 19.—[Special.]—Harry Cohn of Los Angeles filed suit today for $1,000 damages and dismissal of a court action brought by Occidental college in which the school seeks to collect $77.66 on a note Cohn is said to have signed for his tuition.

Cohn and his father, S. Cohn, declared in court that college authorities forced Cohn to sign the note before they would give him credit for a semester's work after he was dismissed from the school early in 1931 despite a contract he had with Occidental to play football.

He alleges he was to receive his tuition and an additional sum for playing football and that the school carried out the contract the first semester. His dismissal, he claims, forced him to lose a semester of his college education and put him to considerable expense.

F. F. McClain, controller of the college, flatly denied Cohn's claims of a contract, declaring Cohn had never played for Occidental, because he was ineligible.

BOXERS ARRIVE AT 11:50 A. M. AT UNION STATION

Parade in Loop to City Hall.

Hail Irish!

Time—11:50 a. m. Chicago time.

Place—Union station.

Reception committee—Peter M. Kelly, chairman, prominent Irish and civic leaders. Everybody invited.

Parade—Al Horan, chairman. Route—From Union station south in Canal street to Jackson boulevard, east in Jackson boulevard to La Salle street, north in La Salle street to city hall.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago today will greet the amateur boxing champions of Ireland. These eight boys, the best fighters in the Emerald Isle, will arrive at 11:50 this morning at the Union station to conclude preparation for the third international Golden Gloves bout which will be held at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 2.

Two years ago France sent her amateur champions to Chicago. Chicago met them at the train shed and cheered them through the loop, but for the exception of a score of veterans of the French army, decked in their sky blue uniforms, the reception was commonplace. Last year the boys from the east side of the Rhine visited our city. And on that morning a few days more than a year ago, thousands of Germans and German-Americans jammed Union station from door to door, pressing forward to glimpse the boxers until the police forced a narrow pathway down which the boxers escaped to the street.

Everybody Will Be There.

This morning Chicago hails the sons of Erin. And there is reason to believe that hospitable Chicago will outdo its own records for hospitality when the Irish boxers alight from the Pennsylvania train which has whisked them westward from New York.

The Irish are coming to town. And they will be among friends. Those who remember their early days in the old country and those born in America who still cherish the memory of Irish antecedents have made it known that they will be on hand this morning. When Paddy Mulligan, with his six feet seven and 215 pounds comes swinging along making a path for his teammates a cheer will go up which his honor, Edward J. Kelly, Chicago's mayor, can hear in the city hall.

Peter M. Kelly Heads Committee.

County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly, general chairman of the reception committee, last night urged all members to report this morning at the station by 11:30. These committee members are requested to park their cars in the restricted area on Canal street so that they can join in the parade through the loop.

Open cars will be provided for the Irish boxers, their manager and coach, and the officials who met the squad Tuesday in New York. The parade will be in charge of Al Horan, Municipal court bailiff, and his assistants who have arranged the course of march. Two bands and a drum corps will join in the jubilee. The bands also will entertain the early comers to Union station.

Noon Crowd to See Parade.

The parade will head south in Canal street, turn east in Jackson boulevard and then pass north in La Salle street to the city hall. Noon hour, the loop's rest period, is a most propitious time for the parade, for thousands who otherwise might may not have opportunity will line the streets.

Today might be Irish day for A Century of Progress, what with the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in session in our town, but this has been reserved for Aug. 2, the night of the international fights.

Mayor Kelly and Daniel McGrath, the Irish consul in Chicago, will greet the Irish boxers at the city hall. After the official reception the boys will be

THE IRISH ARE HERE!

Looking for Chicago chins to punch, Ireland's boxing champions are coming to town today. And in less than two weeks—Wednesday, Aug. 2, is the date—they will meet the Golden Gloves champions of Chicagoland at Soldiers' field.

That means boxing fans are going to descend on the ticket offices. Everybody wants to see these young battlers in action. So it would be a good idea to buy YOUR tickets today.

Every seat is reserved, and every seat affords a clear view of the happenings in the ring. Prices are 55 cents, $1.10, $2, $2.50, and $3.30.

Tickets are easy to buy, too. You can get them at all Walgreen drug stores; at the Tribune public service office, 1 South Dearborn street; at the Midwest Athletic club; and in Room 530 Tribune Tower.

WEST SIDE WILL WELCOME IRISH TEAM TOMORROW

Banquet and Public Party on Program.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Irish boxing champions will get a chance to rest tonight at the end of their long journey, but tomorrow a round of entertainments and receptions will begin. After a banquet at the Midwest Athletic club tomorrow evening, the boys will be guests of honor at a mammoth outdoor festival in Garfield park.

Around the band stand and dance pavilion south of Madison street, thousands of people will be gathered to shout a welcome to the young men of Erin. The west side is the traditional center of the city's Irish population and the boxers will be able to tell at a glance that they are among friends. They will hear voices such as they might hear in the streets of Dublin and they will see faces such as they might encounter on the roads of Athlone.

All Races Lend a Cheer.

In the crowd there will be other faces and other voices such as might be seen and heard in Germany, or Italy or Czechoslovakia, or Palestine, for all races meet on Chicago's west side. But these faces and voices will be friendly also, for good sportsmanship is a quality found in all races.

From the band stand under the trees, Irish airs will go floating out across the crowd. Entertainers will sparkle with Irish wit. And there will be speeches, thoughtfully brief, by some of the city's prominent citizens. Then there will be dancing far into the night. Every one will be welcome to join in this old fashioned festival.

William Druley, president of the Garfield Park Business Men's club, which is sponsoring the celebration, expects to have Mayor E. J. Kelly or States Attorney Thomas Courtney, possibly both, among those who will speak at the banquet and at the festival.

Clergy Takes Part.

The clergy—Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish—will be well represented. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Shiel, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, Msgr. F. A. Purcell, pastor of St. Mel, the Rev. W. S. Pond, of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, and Rabbi Samuel Schwartz, of Washington Boulevard Temple, are to give brief talks at the banquet, and they will also attend the festival in the park.

Daniel McGrath, Irish Free State consul in Chicago, William O'Brien, president of the Irish Amateur Boxing association, Harry Joseph, president of the West Park board, and Thomas R. Heaney, high chief secretary of the Catholic Order of the Foresters, will complete the list of speakers.

Dozens of prominent city and county officials will attend the banquet and festival, but the thousands of west side people, gathered as a gesture of sportsmanship and international good will, will put the real punch in the proceedings.

Irish Champs See Gotham; Prefer Ship

right, wasn't it?" said Frank Kerr, dropping wearily into a chair. Frank had been keeping quiet all the way around town. In his hand he clasped a morning paper, at which he would glance every now and again. There was a picture in one c the inside pages. It showed Norma Shearer, leaning against the rail of the Majestic, preparing to write autographs, and looking into the smiling eyes of a palpable Irishman. Said Irishman was Frank Kerr. And Frank is already tasting the thrills that will be his when that picture is shown at home.

"It's a marvelous town, all right," agreed Hughes. "But give me the ship every time! Plenty of room . . . a nice breeze . . . nothing to do only punch when the time comes round . . ."

"Yeah!" chipped in Connolly. "An' all the time you want all day for a game of cards . . . yeah! The ship for me any ol' time!"

THEY AREN'T WORRIED

Grand Beach, Mich., July 19.—[Special.]—The Chicago Golden Gloves boxers today showed no interest in the arrival of their Irish opponents in Chicago tomorrow noon. Several glanced through the report of the Irish landing in New York, but not even John Pacek, Chicago heavyweight who will meet Paddy Mulligan, giant Irishman, was concerned.

The truth of the matter is that Chicago's team is a team of veterans. They do not waste valuable time in conjecture, and neither are they easily worried. Three of the squad have won national championships and five of them whipped New York boxers in the last intercity Golden Gloves bouts.

The boys are far more interested in Barney Ross, lightweight champion of the world, who is at Grand Beach preparing to meet Johnny Farr at Kansas City a week from tonight. Barney has set an excellent example for the Golden Glovers. Capt. Freddie Caserio of the Chicago team accompanied Barney on the road this morning.

Although the international bouts are two weeks distant, the Chicago fighters have swung into their training grind with determination, which bodes ill for the Irish.

"If those Irishmen don't carry bricks in their gloves we'll lick them," Max Marek said this afternoon. This is the spirit of the entire squad.

PLAY FOR WARD TITLE.

The Ald. John A Massen baseball team will play the J. Frank Lymen team next Sunday afternoon at Waveland field in Lincoln park in the second of a series of games to determine the championship of the 48th ward.

Boulevard Sailor Sleeps Off Excitement on Mackinac Trip

(This is the first of three articles on the voyage of the yacht Rubaiyat, which arrived at Mackinac island yesterday morning in the annual Chicago-Mackinac race.)

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Rubaiyat, Sunday, July 16.—A sleepy-eyed landlubber lurched up the companionway of this Mackinac bound schooner at 5:30 o'clock this morning to find Lake Michigan in a commotion strange to his shoregoing eyes, not to mention limbs. He staggered toward Nat Rubinkam, the Chicago attorney who owns the Rubaiyat and who at the moment was guiding the boat through a heavy sea.

When he finally reached Rubinkam, seated at the helm of the Rubaiyat, he discovered that considerable action had transpired since he had gone below, supposedly for a short nap, but in reality a good night's sleep. The stranger aboard, who could not be called a true landlubber, because of having made the 1931 Mackinac cruise aboard Quicksilver II., found that he had missed aplenty since the fleet of 30 craft had fled the starting line at Belmont harbor, Chicago, all with a single objective—the picturesque island at the northern extremity of Lake Michigan.

She Likes Rough Going.

When the lubber had finally managed to seat himself in the cockpit at Skipper Rubinkam's side the Rubaiyat's lee scuppers were awash with the seas, but she appeared to relish the going, digging into the wind with a vengeance.

The Rubaiyat was proving her versatility now, for she had been nearly as well in the light airs prevailing Saturday afternoon and night, when most of the fleet were restrained by a paucity of breezes.

The landlubber had boarded the Rubaiyat at noon, more than two hours before the actual start of the 331 mile struggle to Mackinac island. When he reached the deck in the downtown harbor of the Columbia Yacht club, the boat's home club, he found the entire crew rearing to go. There was Nat Rubinkam; his brother, Henry, recognized as one of the best skippers in American yachting by reason of more than 20 years experience; Tom Waage, no mean helmsman himself; George Barker and Vic Milliken, two others to whom the Mackinac grind is no novelty, and Humphrey Rohns of Detroit, and Hewitt Bayley of Marblehead, Mass., both very much at home at sea.

It's a Fine Boat.

The novice first satisfied himself with an inspection of the boat which was to carry him northward. The Rubaiyat is of the rapidly growing school of yacht known as the Malabar-Marconi rigged type, and was designed by John G. Alden of Boston. It has an overall length of 43 feet, a beam of 11½ feet, and a draft of 6½ feet, with masts stretching skyward more than 50 feet.

The Rubaiyat set forth for Belmont Harbor at 12:25 under power. Half an hour later, the main, fore and jib sails had been hoisted and the motor silenced to stay quiet until the Rubaiyat reached this harbor at Mackinac Island. The journey to the starting point was uneventful and at 2 p. m. the first portion of the cruising class, the Rubaiyat's own league, was away with Comet and Victory crossing the line first.

The Rubaiyat clung to the shore throughout the great part of Saturday and her skipper and crew were rewarded for keeping her there by getting sufficient foot from the offshore breeze to maintain a respectable position. At 6 p. m. the Italian flyers under the command of Gen. Italo Balbo were sighted circling the loop and finally landing in groups of three, the sunlight glinting on the metal of their wings.

The Rubaiyat idled along for several hours, during the course of which Hank Rubinkam proved himself not only an able skipper, but a talented chef as well giving proof there of with a steak dinner which could not have been enjoyed to greater advantage ashore.

Moon Foods Boys.

Bayley, Milliken, and Rohns came down with red faces nigh on to midnight when they became all heated up over what appeared to them to be a red distress signal, only to discover that it was the moon. The wind had freshened considerably by the time the landlubber had gone below for his alleged nap, and from thenceforth it became more and more rollicking with the lake as an accompanist. Racine and Kenosha were abeam of the ship in the small hours, although the nautical tyro had to rely on the log and the testimony of the crew for this information in the morning.

With the exception of the landlubber, every other member of the crew is a sailor tried and true, even though the present journey is the first Mackinac race for Nat Rubinkam, Bayley, and Rohns.

Nat Rubinkam began sailing as a boy, dividing his kindergarten work between Cape May, N. J., and Jackson park. Prior to the war, he was in the naval militia and when it came he was assigned to the U. S. S. Don Juan out of Woods Hole, Mass., as a watch and division officer. He later was placed in command of Sub-chaser No. 38 with the rank of lieutenant. The 38 was one of the first of its type in the war zone, working out of Plymouth, through the English channel, and later in the North sea. He returned with a senior lieutenancy and the navy cross. He is now a lieutenant commander in the naval reserve, teaching navigation to its officers, and is judge advocate of the Columbia Yacht club.

Have War Records.

Hank Rubinkam holds one of the best individual records in the history of the Mackinac race, having piloted Comet, Intrepid, and Virginia to victory. He has sailed with Sheldon Clark, Ogden McClurg, and Roy Barcal. He went into the war as a member of the ambulance service, but took flying lessons in the French and Italian air corps, and wound up with a Croix de Guerre. He was conference diving champion while at the University of Chicago. One of his best sailing feats was his winning effort in the New York to Bermuda race of 1928.

Tom Waage is another of the Rubaiyat's crew who saw plenty of service during the war. As a navy lieutenant he made 21 round trips over the Atlantic in a transport from New York and Norfolk to St. Nazaire and Brest.

Bayley Is Veteran.

Humphrey Rohns of Detroit, who speaks with an overseas accent because of his English parentage, has been around the world once and across the Atlantic six times. He was in the navy three years during the war, with 25 months off the new England coast in patrol work and 11 months at the famous base 29 at Cardiff, Wales. Most of his sailing has been done on inland waters.

Although Hewitt Bayley is the youngest member of the crew, he ranks with any of its veterans. It is Hewitt's first fresh water race, since he hails from Marblehead, Mass., one of the greatest salt water ports in sailing. In 1930 he was a member of the crew of the Maitens II. in that year's trans-Atlantic race from Newport, R. I., to Plymouth, England.

The Maitenes II., a 45 foot cutter, was not home first, but it won the Pinta trophy for the longest single day's run—236 miles. The Maitenes II. also entered the famed fast net race, off the light which guards southeastern Ireland, but came to grief, losing its master overboard and finally being lost off the Lundy banks in Wales, with a fishing trawler picking up Bayley and his mates. Bayley has spent his last three years at Hamilton college, but plans to finish his college career at the University of Chicago.

BOXING CARD TO OPEN NEW C. Y. O. ARENA TONIGHT

Charles Wozniak and Frank Kausak, middleweights, will top the first C. Y. O. open air card, with Bob Crowley and Ed Mileski renewing the feud they started a month ago, but which has had no settlement in two battles, in the semi-final. Other fights will be: taken to the Midwest Athletic club, which will be their headquarters for the next two weeks. There they will box in the club gymnasium. Garfield park, just east, offers facilities for morning workouts.

FIGHTING IRISH INVADE CHICAGO THIS MORNING

The Irish Chicago bouts, for the first time since Golden Gloves was expanded to include international competition, promise to divide the spectators into two groups. While there were many last year who cheered for the German boys, they were in the minority. When the Irish team parades to the ring in Soldiers' field at least half of the crowd will hope for a victory for the old country.

Irish Against the World.

The Chicago team, now in training at Brand Beach, Mich., does not included a full blooded Irishman in the group of 15. But Ginter, Golden Gloves 118 pound champion, is half Irish, but this exception cannot leaven the group of Poles, Jews and southern Europeans. It will be the Irish against the world.

Attendance is expected to exceed all records. There is a possibility that the crowd on Aug. 2 will be the largest crowd to attend a boxing match, professional or amateur, this year. Only a few of the ringside $3.30 seats remain. However, there are 30,000 seats at 55 cents, all of which are reserved, and these offer an excellent view of the bouts from the vast semicircle of the south end of the stadium. The $2.50, $2 and $1.10 seats are all within 160 feet of the ring, another record for boxing shows.

Shields and Wood Advance in Crescent Tennis Meet

Huntington, N. Y., July 19.—(AP)—Led into action by Frank Shields, fifth ranking player of the country, and Sidney Wood, fourth ranking player, the favorites all came through today in the first round of the second annual invitation tennis tournament of the Crescent Athletic Hamilton club. Shields beat Jaime del Amo of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-1. Wood defeated Ray Palmer of Malba, L. I., 0-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In the Wake of the News

MEAL TIME.

Grand Beach, Mich., July 19.—Lightweight Champion Barney Ross, Golden Gloves graduate of 1929, trains with the present squad of Chicagoland boxers preparing for their international bouts against the Irish Aug. 2, but he eats only one meal a day with them. That is dinner at 6 o'clock. Instead of breakfast at 8 and luncheon at 12, Barney has breakfast only at 10 o'clock.

Before the arrival of Ross, Capt. Freddy Caserio, middleweight, and his roommate, George Van Der Heyden, who is contesting with Izzy Goldstein for the featherweight berth left vacant when Leo Rodak turned pro, had secured permission from Trainer Behr to follow a similar schedule. It was no sudden request prompted by a desire to associate with the champion, but the schedule they followed while training for the Chicagoland finals and intercity bouts against New York.

Accustomed to rising at 5 and 6 o'clock when interviewing race horses before their running in big stakes, breakfast at 10 seemed so comfortable and leisurely to The Wake that we resolved to wait and report for our readers what great amounts of food healthy athletes in training store away at their first meal of the day.

Ross ordered a small glass of grapefruit juice, bran flakes, bacon and scrambled eggs, toast and coffee. Caserio and Van Der Heyden were served prunes, bran flakes, soft boiled eggs, whole wheat bread toast with coffee for Caserio and nothing to drink for Van Der Heyden. Then we waited for their repeat orders. There were none. That was all until 6 o'clock except that the two amateurs took an orange each for early afternoon consumption, if desired.

It might be imagined this abstemiousness was caused by a desire to keep off poundage. Again not so. Ross is a natural lightweight and avoirdupois is not one of his worries. His reason is that he feels better with only two meals a day while training.

"Training really is not as much physical work as most people imagine," he said. "There's the roadwork and the afternoon boxing of not more than an hour, including rope skipping and punching the bag. There are walks in between, but not enough to be fatiguing. The whole thing doesn't begin to compare with the work of any one engaged in manual labor. To eat heartily three times a day would make me sluggish."

The Golden Glovers and also Ross are meticulous in their hour of retirement, however. There was a beach party for guests of the hotel last night with the inevitable red hots cooked at a beach fire. Because active training did not begin until today, the Chicagoland amateurs were given permission to attend the function, which did not start until 9:30. Most of them went but drifted away after half an hour and were back in their training quarter before 11 o'clock. Ross, however, declined with thanks, to the disappointment of young women hotel guests who never before had observed a pugilistic champion at close range and anticipated a thrill therefrom. Both Ross and Trainer Issy Klein were obdurate to entreaties.

Formal training began in the indoor gymnasium, but it was light. One round of boxing and three rounds of floor work, including rope skipping, shadow boxing and bag punching, was the schedule. This will be increased so far as boxing is concerned as time for the international bouts nears.

Chief ambition of these young boxers was to have a round with Champion Barney Ross, who takes on four boys each day. This honor, if it be an honor, is passed around. Today it was Billy Celebron, welterweight; Johnny Dobler, lightweight, George Van Der Heyden, featherweight, and Johnny Baltzer, flyweight. Baltzer was last, as Ross each day finishes with a light opponent to practice speed. Equipped with the ten ounce pillow gloves used in training, the milling was fast but not furious. As the amateurs stepped forth, teammates usually called, "Go easy with him. Don't hurt the champ," or something of similar fancied humor.

TRAMBLIE FACES JOE MENDOZA IN 8 ROUND BATTLE

Ray Trambile, Rockford middleweight, will meet Joe Mendoza in an eight round bout tonight at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. This match was signed yesterday to replace the encounter between Charley Retzlaff and Jack Pallat, which was canceled when Retzlaff wrenched his back while sparring.

Young Geno, La Salle, Ill., featherweight, faces Johnny Fitzpatrick for the second time in the six round semi-windup. Fitzpatrick won a decision recently. The main preliminary will have Leo Rodak making his professional debut against Jimmy Richards at four rounds. Other matches:

Roy Moore vs. Eddie Stiegal [6].
Eddie Evans vs. Vince Perino [4].

Three matches were arranged yesterday by Chuck Logan, Northwest stadium matchmaker, for the Ray Tramblie-Karl Ogren card Wednesday. Steve Pajdo will meet Lubansky at four rounds, Tony Muscarello is to battle Popeye Huber at six and Harry Booker boxes John Mirable at four rounds.

Izzy Gastanaga, Basque heavyweight, and Jack Roper of Chicago have agreed to meet in a 10 round bout at Sparta stadium July 31. Frankie Hughes, Clinton, Ind., welterweight, and Vincent Sireci are booked in the eighth round semi-final.

The wrestling card at Northwest stadium tomorrow was completed yesterday. Tony Hajdich, Portage park light-heavyweight, will meet Whitey Williams of Fox Lake, Ill., in the main event. The semi-final will bring together Zack Malkov and Freddy Kohler. The balance of the program follows:

Ralph Ransome and George Schwab.
Rudy Kay and Al Wazsika.

AVOID SHAVING IRRITATION URGES SKIN CLINIC!

SERIOUS skin trouble is traced to faulty shaving by the Gillette Skin Clinic. This department, headed by an eminent dermatologist, was founded because of the prevalence of disorders caused or aggravated by shaving.

"Avoid irritation, if you would keep your skin clear and free from blemishes," warns the Skin Clinic. "Irritation lessens the self-protective action of the normal skin and favors skin troubles. Be sure to use a sharp blade, because a sharp blade is not irritating to normal skin."

This advice, issued by the Skin Clinic, is based upon independent research and a nation-wide survey conducted among doctors and dermatologists. The "BLUE BLADE" is made to meet the requirements of skin specialists. It is extremely sharp—23% to 42% sharper than other blades examined by photo-electric method in a recent competitive test.

To avoid skin irritation—and enjoy a degree of shaving comfort you may never have experienced—we urge you to try the "BLUE BLADE". Gillette Safety Razor Company, Boston, Mass.

SENATORS BEAT BROWNS, 8-7; TIE FOR LEAD AGAIN

St. Louis Rally in Ninth Falls Short.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—(AP)—An 8 to 7 victory over the St. Louis Browns today placed the Washington Senators again in a tie with New York for top place in the American league.

The Senators scored two runs in the eighth to break a 6 to 6 tie. Kuhel started the inning with a single. Bluege sacrificed and Sewell tripled, scoring Kuhel. Thomas then singled to score Sewell. In their final turn at bat, the Browns rallied to push across one run on singles by Campbell, Melillo and Garms. Score:

Knickerbocker bunted and Seeds, Red Sox first baseman, in attempting to throw to Marty McManus, who covered first, let the ball slip out of his hand to go into deep foul territory. Cissell scored. GIANTS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH PIRATES

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 19.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates got nowhere in their drive for the top of the National league standing today, splitting a double header with the New York Giants to remain in third place, four games back of the Giants and a half game to the rear of the Cubs.

After winning the opener, 4 to 1, behind the effective hurling of Larry French, the Pirates fell before the brilliant relief pitching of Carl Hubbell, 7 to 3, in the nightcap. A crowd of 22,000, the largest of the season at Forbes field, saw the games.

The opening contest was marked by a wild scene in the fourth inning after Freddy Lindstrom had made a diving one hand catch of Fitzsimmons' liner. Umpire Barr ruled a fair catch, but the Giants protested and Umpires Moran and Reardon reversed the decision, saying that Lindstrom had trapped the ball. The last ruling stood.

REDS, 6; DODGERS, 5.

Cincinnati, O., July 19.—(AP)—Stopping a ninth inning rally one run short of a tie, the Cincinnati Reds today defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 5. The Reds broke a 3 to 3 tie in the seventh, scoring one run on a squeeze play. In the eighth they scored two more, but Manager Donie Bush was forced to call on Paul Derringer to fan Hack Wilson to stop the Dodgers' ninth inning upricing. Chick Hafey led the Red's nine hit attack off two Brooklyn pitchers, hitting a homer and a single to drive in two runs. Score:

Jean Armstrong Ties Skokie Record in District Golf Meet

Another round of 77, equalling the recently established women's course record at Skokie, was shot yesterday in the quarter final round of the Chicago Women's District tournament by Jean Armstrong of Indian Hill, defending champion. Her effort brought her a 6 and 5 victory over Mrs. Melvin Jones of Lincolnshire and advanced her to the semi-final round. Today she meets Rena Nelson of Exmoor, who set the record of 77 Tuesday.

Miss Beebe Wins.

June Beebe of Olympic Fields and Helen MacMorran of Indian Hill went to the 19th green, where Miss MacMorran needed 3 putts to get down, while June was home in the regulation two. Both girls shot one over par on the outward nine, turning all square in 40 each.

At the tenth Helen overshot the green, and June dropped her second shot four feet from the pin for a birdie 4. She made it 2 up at the 13th where Helen missed the green. Off the 16th tee, June dubbed her first two shots, and at the 18th she rolled into the pond. June had a chance to win here despite her penalty stroke, but missed a four foot putt.

Takes Three Putts.

On the extra hole both were on in 3, June 25 feet below the pin and Helen 8 feet above with an exceedingly hard downhill putt. She missed it, rolled over four feet, missed that coming back, and conceded the hole as June's approach putt was but a foot away.

Mrs. H. Austin Pardue of Indian Hill won, 5 and 4, from Mrs. Harold C. Foreman, Lake Shore. Today she meets Miss Beebe in the semi-final round.

In her match with Mrs. Jones, Miss Armstrong was out in 38, one under par, and stood 3 up. She ran in a 25 foot putt at the 5th, a 20 footer at the sixth, and a 10 footer at the 8th, and then took 3 putts from eight feet at the ninth to lose the hole to her opponent. HERTZ STABLE SCORES TWICE AT ARLINGTON PARK

Contessa and Pairbypair Conquer Jinx.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The horses in the stable of Mrs. John Hertz had been having a pretty rough season of it out at Arlington Park until the program was run off yesterday afternoon.

They had made a dozen attempts to win races and only one victory had come their way. The stable jockey, E. Steffen, drew a 10 day suspension for rough riding.

Sons and daughters of Reigh Count, the former American champion which stands in the thoroughbred harem at the Hertz farm just 17 miles from Arlington Park, had tried to win and, while giving good accounts of themselves, had failed. All the breaks of the racing luck, to all appearances, went against them.

Stable Scores Double Victory.

Fickle Lady Luck—more fickle in racing than in any other sport or industry—turned right around yesterday and the sun began to shine on the folks connected with the Hertz turf affairs. It not only shone but beamed down in all its radiance.

The Yellow and Black silk jacket of the Hertz stable was carried to two brilliant victories. The first triumph was rolled up by Contessa, a daughter of Reigh Count, and she was the first offspring of the great champion of a few years back to enter the winning circle.

A couple of hours later along came PairbyPair, fleet sprinter in the Hertz barn, to capture the Calumet purse, the day's feature race. It was a dash at six furlongs and after Pairbypair reeled off the first half mile in :45 3-5 seconds the race was over. The pace was too much for any of his rivals.

Sun Dot's Rally Fails.

Sun Dot, the California sprinter, rallied in the stretch and got up to be second, but wasn't threatening the winner at the end. Karl Eitel, showing a sudden return to good form, was third. Pairbypair's time for the six furlongs was 1:11 3-5, but he didn't have to run the last part of it any faster to score his victory.

Pairbypair had been turning in such good races lately the crowd made him the favorite. The mutuel price was $4.02. Sun Dot had been the heavily backed second choice. He didn't seem to be able to get going until the race was almost over.

Contessa is a well put up filly and the reports of her sensational workouts sent her to the post as the odds-on favorite. In the only other start of her career she has been left at the post.

The mother of Contessa is Annie Gowdy, a daughter of High Time. This is an exceptional speed line, and with Reigh Count's endurance on the other side of the house Contessa has every right to wind up among the leaders in her division. She is an eligible to the Arlington Futurity and she won the right to strive for that rich prize by the brilliant performance.

Takes the Lead, Holds It.

Contessa had galloped into the lead before the end of the first furlong and none of the others had a chance to catch her. After running the five furlongs in :59 4-5, which was a second off the track record, she beat the highly regarded Saracen Maid from Mrs. John Hay Whitney's stable by a length and a half. A neck back in third place came Mumsie.

With nearly everybody in the crowd wagering on her, Contessa paid $2.96 to win.

There was another extremely fast race during the afternoon. The finish was a thriller when Hernando, Islam and Euxine came up to the line, after a dash of a mile, only noses apart. The placing was in that order. The crowd couldn't tell which had won until the official numbers were hung out.

Hernando ran the mile in 1:36 4-5. Despite some speedy exhibitions early in the season, he was not backed stoutly. As a result, he paid $18.88 in the $2 market. His victory was made possible by the rousing finish Jockey Lee Humphreys rode.

JOHNNY PHAGAN DEFEATS PURVIS FOR THIRD TIME

Johnny Phagan, former Golden Gloves welterweight champion, scored another victory over Jack Purvis, Indianapolis, last night. The Negro boxer won an eight round decision in their fourth meeting at the Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard. It was Phagan's third triumph in the four matches.

Bob Stone was awarded the decision over Moss T. Brawner, who won the novice heavyweight title in the Golden Gloves tournament last winter, in the six round semi-windup. In the preliminary bouts Phil Pernice beat Popeye Huber in four rounds; Izzy Lubansky stopped Eddie Leonard in the third round, and Joe Freeman stopped Al De Rose in the second round.

Time, :22 3-5, :45 4-5, 1:11 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Louie Dear, $6.46 straight, $3.92 place, $2.88 show; Gunfire, $7.08 place, $5.38 show; Salisbury, $8.22 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:51. At post ¾ minute. Start good from gate. Won ridden out; second and third driving.

LOUIE DEAR took command quickly, maintained his margin while under steady restraint when rounding the turn, but was under pressure the final eighth. GUNFIRE tired ground and closed well in a fine effort. SALISBURY also lost ground and finished strong.

THIRD RACE—Hertz course, one mile out of chute. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 3-5, :46 4-5, 1:11 2-5, 1:38. Two dollar mutuels paid: Adsum, $12.60 straight, $5.12 place, $3.46 show; Chokoloskee, $4.02 place, $3.12 show; All Hail, $2.50 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 3:16. At post 1½ minutes. Start good from permanent stalls. Won driving; second and third same.

ADSUM followed the early pace under snug restraint, slowly wore down FIDDLER when rounding stretch turn and, holding on gamely, outstayed CHOKOLOSKEE. Latter, restrained for three-quarters, responded with determination and was wearing down the winner, ALL HAIL lost ground in late stages, where he held on stubbornly in an even effort.

Time, :22 3-5, :46 2-5, :59 2-5, 1:05 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Elk Lock, $3.60 straight, $3.18 place, $3.10 show; Easy Sailing, $35.46 place, $14.24 show; Cloud d'Or, $4.20 show. Winner trained by T. J. Healey. Went to post at 3:42. At post 2 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

ELF LOCK, probably much the best and forced back when HER GOLD came over approaching the turn, responded to strong riding when clear after reaching final quarter and, improving her position steadily, was up in closing strides. EASY SAILING made up ground gradually the first three-eighths, was taken in hand for a brief distance when entering stretch, following which she wore down Cloud d'Or and held on gamely, but was not good enough. CLOUD D'OR had good speed, saved ground where possible, and weakened in final eighth.

Time, :23 1-5, :46 3-5, 1:10 4-5, 1:36 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Hernando, $18.88 straight, $9.86 place, $5.90 show; Islam, $4.40 place, $3.24 show; Euxine, $4.26 show. Winner trained by P. Kelley. Went to post at 4:09½. At post ¼ minute. Start good from permanent stalls. Won driving; second and third same.

HERNANDO, improved and benefited by a lack of early contention, was under strong restraint for five-eighths, came away slowly at stretch turn, and weakened in final eighth, but lasted. ISLAM, on outside throughout and under strong urging after five-eighths, raced the best race of his career and nearly failed to get by. EUXINE had speed from the start, fell back when punished after reaching stretch, but came again strongly under hand riding near end and may have been best.

PAIRBYPAIR had fine speed, saved ground after an eighth, and weakened after increasing his advantage when entering final eighth, but was not seriously threatened. SUNDOT lost ground until reaching stretch, where he was taken to inside and held on well despite weak riding. KARL EITEL, beginning slowly and brought to extreme outside when entering stretch, closed fast.

Winner trained by D. S. Fountain. Went to post at 5:01. At post 2 minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

BATTLING ON, having speed from the start, bore out at first turn, was steadied along after three-eighths to the stretch, where he came away to win without need of punishment. TARNISH, when up from the start and forced to race wide practically throughout, could not get to winner, but held on well and outstayed OATEN. Latter, slow to get going, closed with a rush.

EIGHTH RACE—Mile and a furlong. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

KING PIN, well ridden and rated off the pace, came around the leaders gradually after reaching final three-eighths and, drawing clear, held CAPTAIN DANGER safe. Latter, away slowly and far back for three-quarters, made up ground on outside thereafter. LONGUS saved much ground and closed resolutely under weak riding.

Barrett to meet congressmen from various downstate districts and determine where the seven district offices [outside of Chicago] shall be located.

Before he left he announced that the Chicago branch office probably will be in the Federal Reserve Bank building, at the northwest corner of La Salle street and Jackson boulevard. He added that although Aug. 1 has been mentioned as the opening date he has hopes of getting under way two or three days sooner.

Needy to Get First Loans.

But he sounded a note of caution to the person who thinks the earlier he files his application for federal relief the quicker he'll get aid from Uncle Sam. It's not to be "first come, first served," he said.

"The condition of distress is going to decide the preference, not the priority of filing," he declared. "The man who needs federal aid the most is going to get the quickest relief."

For the first time it was announced yesterday what counties comprise the Chicago office. Mr. Donne stated that residents of Cook, Du Page, Lake, Kane, McHenry, and Will counties should file their applications at the Chicago office.

Where the other seven branch offices will be located has not yet been determined. A tentative division of the balance of the state provides for twenty-three counties to be handled by one downstate office, seventeen by another, and eight by a third. The Chicago office, with only six counties, will be the smallest in number but by far the largest in inhabitants served.

Peoria May Get Branch.

Peoria so far is the only city outside of Chicago that seems assured of having a branch office. A. T. Lyman, secretary of the Peoria Chamber of Commerce, promised rent free quarters either in the city hall or federal building.

Quarters for the Chicago branch office also will be rent free, Mr. Donne believes. There was no space available in the U. S. Court building (the old postoffice) or in the new U. S. postoffice, but he has been promised offices in the Federal Reserve Bank building, without cost, he said.

The personnel selection, which will be taken up as soon as the location of branch offices has been determined, is to be based on an order by A. E. Hutchinson, general manager of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, calling for employment of "the ablest people available," according to Mr. Donne.

That means, of course, provided they are approved by the political powers that be, he added. In other words, if a man is one of the "ablest available" and also meets with the O. K. of Democratic senators, chairman of the Democratic county committee and Democratic congressmen, he stands a good show of getting one of the seventy jobs to be available in the eight branch offices in Illinois.

Chicago Force to Be 25.

There will be twenty-five employed in the Chicago branch to start with. Already, Mr. Donne admitted yesterday, he has mind several who fit the Washington qualification of "ablest Democrats." How the political powers agree with these remains to be seen.

Mr. Donne already has large stacks of various application blanks at the Chicago City State Bank and Trust company, ready to use as soon as the Chicago branch opens.

Applicants may fill them out as soon as they get them, but no matter how prompt they are it will take at least ten days, he said, before all the legal details, regarding title, appraisals, insurance, etc., are ironed out.

Production of Steel Drops 1%; Prices Steady

Clarification of the price situation, a falling off in the new demand from the automotive industry and a slight decline in steel ingot output characterizes the condition in the iron and steel industry, according to the Iron Age.

The review says that some of the motor car manufacturers may be apprehensive of a reduction in their production schedule in August. However, adds the review, "similar caution earlier in the year proved to be unwarranted and it is possible that present estimates fail to take into account current accessions in mass buying power from wage advances, increased farm prices, and higher security markets."

Needs Heavy Industry Buying.

Remarking that "steel production has apparently gone about as far as it can without the support of the heavy industries," Iron Age reports that the steel ingot output has declined from 59 per cent to 58 per cent of capacity. Last Monday the magazine, Steel, had announced that the steel works' operating rate had advanced two points last week to 57 per cent of capacity.

While ingot output has receded in the Cleveland-Lorrain district, in the south, and at Buffalo, increases have taken place in Pittsburgh and eastern Pennsylvania.

"The adoption of a code by iron and steel producers has clarified the price situation materially, causing concessions to disappear on virtually all products and overcoming lingering consumer reluctance to accept recent advances," says the Iron Age. "The establishment of a single quotation for all buyers, under the provisions of the code, will wipe out preferences enjoyed by large users and will mean higher realization prices to mills.

Buyers Asking Delivery.

"Already buyers are hastening to enter specifications against bars, plates, shapes and other products on which prices were extended through this month. Pig iron releases likewise are increasing, not only on account of the certainty of a rising market, but also because of increased foundry melt."

While buyers have been ordering further steel ahead than usual, they have not accumulated excessive inventories, according to the review. Increased consumption seems to have paralleled increased purchases of materials Iron Age claims, after a survey of a large number of representative iron and steel users.

U. S. Steel Orders Three Million Tons of Iron Ore

New York, July 19.—The U. S. Steel corporation has authorized the shipment of an additional 3,000,000 tons of iron ore from its northern mines immediately, which will put 27 more ore vessels into service on the great lakes and correspondingly increase all mining and transportation activities, connected with production of steel by the corporation and its affiliates. It is estimated the total shipments of iron ore on the lakes this season will be around 20 million tons, compared with 3,567,985 tons last year.

ADMINISTRATION MAY USE INFLATION TO END DECLINE IN MARKETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—Before it will allow the present reaction of security and commodity markets to endanger the national recovery, the administration will use the inflationary powers given it at the last session of congress, high government officials said today.

The market slump which caused all stocks to drop and carried wheat down 13 cents a bushel was watched closely in the capital. Some corrective reaction was expected and even desired in some quarters here, but th drop today was thought to be somewhat severe.

Inflation will be resorted to reluctantly, officials admitted. They have been weighing the possibility of having to use it, however, ever since they noted the dizzy heights to which the markets were climbing.

One of the inflationary powers granted the administration has already been used in a mild form. Reserve banks have been buying government securities in the open market at rates of 25 million dollars a week or less. Three other inflationary powers remain untouched. The President can cut the gold content of the dollar, authorize the coinage of silver or require the reserve banks to buy government securities directly from the treasury.

COPPER PRICES GO TO 9.2 CENTS, NEW RECENT HIGH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 19.—Sales of electrolytic copper were reported today in the domestic market at 9.20 cents a pound delivered Connecticut valley base.

This was a new high for the red metal on the move which has lifted copper more than 1 cent in about two weeks and in some quarters 9½ and 10 cents a pound are being predicted by copper men.

Sellers were reported to be unwilling to let copper go at the 9.20 cent price and are holding for 9.25 cents and higher, although several producers and customs smelters are not quoting at all.

Canadians Fly to Deliver Liquor Stocks in New York

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., July 19.—By airplane and by train armed messengers were carrying hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of liquor securities to New York tonight. The "wet" stocks dropped so sharply in New York today that Toronto brokers feared the buyers of the previous day would not accept delivery at the former high prices except in exact conformance with the rule requiring delivery before noon of the succeeding day after a sale.

Dollar Falls to Pound Par, Then Rallies

The United States dollar yesterday crossed the old line of parity with the British pound for the first time since September, 1931, when Great Britain abandoned the gold standard. Later in the day's trading, however, the additional losses were erased and by the time the trading ceased in New York the dollar was actually a little higher than it had been at Tuesday's close.

New York final quotations placed the pound at $4.82¼, compared with $4.85 the day before, and the French franc at 5.69 cents, compared with 5.70 cents at Tuesday's close. The dollar, therefore, was worth approximately 68.86 cents in terms of French gold at the close.

Dollar Weaker in London.

Reversing the experience of recent days, the dollar was weaker in the London trading than it was later on in the New York trading. The London foreign exchange market closes six hours earlier than the New York market. The biggest volume of trading, however, occurs while the London and other continental markets are open.

In the London trading the pound early passed slightly above the old parity mark of $4.8665. Slowly it rose to $4.87 as offerings poured in from New York and the continent. Then profit taking brought the pound back by small fractions to $4.85½, where it closed, a net rise for the day of 1¾ cents on London trading, although only ½ cent above the Tuesday close in New York.

Dollar Sags in Berlin.

In Berlin the dollar slid further yesterday and closed at 2.88 marks, compared with Tuesday's 2.91. The mark, therefore, was worth 34.7 cents, compared with 34.1 cents on Tuesday.

When the continental markets closed and trading was confined to New York and Chicago the dollar rallied materially and the pound closed at $4.82¼. Late unofficial trading in London also took cognizance of this strength and the pound was quoted at $4.82¾.

WHEAT BREAKS 10 TO 13 CENTS IN SELLING GALE

Profit Taking Swells; Other Grains Off.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Collapse of the bull movement in grain came yesterday and was not entirely unexpected. The market has shown signs of being strained for several days. Weakness prevailed practically from the start with stop-order selling the main feature, especially in the last hour, when an avalanche of selling in all markets of the country prevailed. This was particularly true in the northwest market, where prices dropped so fast it was practically impossible to tell where the market really was.

At the extreme low, reached shortly before the close, wheat prices at Chicago were off 10¾ to 13 cents, with July down to $1.04; September, $1.05½; December, $1.08½, and May, $1.12. The close was on a small rally.

Traders Expected Reaction.

Veteran traders said there was a natural readjustment due at this period for the small grains as the new crop commences to move and cash grains, which commanded premiums over the futures, are being offered in greater volume. They are now selling at good discounts as the demand has fallen off because traders desire to buy the new grain on the basis of the carrying charge discounts.

In corn there is the widest discount known to the trade, equal to 1 cent a bushel, for carrying the grain for about 40 days.

Weakness in stocks was a factor in causing uneasiness in the grain trade, especially after mid-day. Eastern and local interests, who have been the active bull leaders and have virtually controlled the market for a month or more, made an effort to sustain prices for a time in the morning but in the last hour of trading pressure became too great and in most instances many early buyers became sellers, and good size profits were turned into losses.

Crop News Pessimistic.

Crop news from the American and Canadian spring wheat sections was more pessimistic than at any time.

September rye dropped from $1.05¾ to 92¾ cents and closed 93½ to 92¾ cents, a net loss of around 11 cents. There was selling of rye and buying of wheat for a time.

Barley in Minneapolis dropped from 80 to 59 cents, finishing there, a decline of 21 cents. The December delivery at 60 cents at the finish showed a decline of 20 cents. Restrictions put on barley trading by the Chicago Board of Trade held the market up 5 cents either way from the previous day's close and prices finished at a loss of 5 cents. The barley futures represent feed rather than malting barley, the No. 2 special selling in the sample market at 74 to 75 cents.

Corn Prices Also Drop.

Corn was sold freely practically from start to finish due to the weak cash situation and the decline in wheat. Pressure from stop order sales practically demoralized the trade and necessitated heavy selling against the bids. The price was off 5 to 6⅝ cents at the extreme, with the close at net losses of 3⅜ to 4⅞ cents. July was the weakest, due to the slow cash market and large offerings. Storage room for corn is becoming so scarce that boats are being chartered for nearly 1,000,000 bushels, which is unusual at this season of the year. At the finish July corn was 59 cents, September, 65 to 65⅜ cents, and December, 70¼ to 70¾ cents.

Prices Break So Fast Even Bears Dazed

BY HOWARD WOOD.

So fast did the bottom drop out of the speculative markets yesterday that the majority of market experts were in a daze at the close.

LOWELL S. HOIT.

Most of them had been predicting a "technical reaction" for days, but even the predictors were left breathless by the completeness by which their predictions had come true.

In view of the record breaking flop in prices the management of the Chicago Board of Trade felt called upon to comment on the day's events. In what surprised speculators dubbed the "first market letter ever put out by the Board of Trade," Lowell S. Holt, vice president, speaking for the exchange, declared late yesterday that the "technical condition of the grain market incident to heavy public buying had been tremendously strengthened by today's selling."

* *

"The general feeling in the grain trade," Mr. Holt said in his prepared statement, "has been that wheat is worth its current price, but that prices had been enhanced too rapidly through impulsive public buying.

"The public is always extreme whether its interest centers in securities, real estate, or commodities. When wheat was at panic prices, half the cost of production, a few months ago no one seemed interested.

"Since then there has been a crop disaster which has placed America on a domestic basis. Many students of markets believe that if government crop estimates and private crop estimates are correct wheat has by no means exceeded its true value, but the markets have been made sensitive by excessive enthusiasm on the buying side, a situation largely corrected by today's price readjustment."

* *

Yesterday's "reaction" began in the "alcohol" group on the New York Stock exchange, the wet stocks dropping anywhere from $7 to $25 per share. This was the decline normally to be expected "after the good news is out," the good news in this case being the vote for repeal of prohibition in Arkansas and Alabama.

So great was the drop in the prices of the wet stocks, however, that something more than "good news" must have been the cause. The rules don't call for a market collapse merely because the news is favorable.

The collapse in the prices of the alcohol issues was due rather to the sudden decision of a lot of holders to dump their stocks before they lost some of their recent sensational gains. When a lot of people started dumping all at once and slipping prices uncovered a flood of stop loss orders the expectable happened. Prices went way down.

* *

When the jitters spread to the grain pits during the last half hour of trading the same thing happened. A lot of frightened traders began to unload and when the unloading dragged prices down the stop loss orders came out and dragged them still lower.

The cushion normally provided by the short sellers appeared to be almost entirely lacking. The result was that when prices began to fall there was nothing to stop them. The public had control of the market and the public was suddenly hysterical.

The experts were unable to discern who started the snowball rolling down hill, but all were agreed that the big early selling came from the east. The easterners had put the market up and apparently the easterners were tearing it down again.

Wall street observers, according to reports from New York, were inclined to believe that pool operators in recent bull performers had pulled the "plug," thereby precipitating the decline in the group. Once the start was made a frightened horde of small speculators did the rest.

STOCKS CRASH; TRADE HEAVIEST IN THREE YEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

A gust of selling orders, which hit the top-heavy liquor shares at the opening, developed into a storm as the session got under way and eventually bore the entire list crashing down in the worst spill since the spring boom started back in March.

Net losses ran as high as 25 points. The widest breaks occurred in the so-called "repeal" group, but every department of the list came in for a manhandling, with declines of 3, 5, and 7 points or more showing up at frequent intervals in the final returns.

Volume 7,463,000 Shares.

Volume mounted to approximately 7,463,000 shares, making it the heaviest trading day in more than three years. The previous record for the period was the 7,460,000 share total set by last Thursday's market.

Among the outstanding losses of the day were National Distillers, which closed off 25½ points; American Commercial Alcohol, down 21¾; Commercial Solvents, 13⅛; U. S. Industrial Alcohol, 17; Air Reduction, 8½; Owens Illinois Glass, 7½; J. I. Case, 7¾; Deere & Co., 7¼; Auburn Auto, 7¼; Liquid Carbonic, 6⅞; Standard Brands, 6; Anchor Cap, 6½; Hazel Atlas, 6½; Crown Cork and Seal, 5½ points.

The "repeal" stocks, which have been on a spree ever since states began voting on the proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment, were under the hammer throughout the session.

Pools Sell Out.

The Brokers appeared to think the sudden disfavor of this heretofore popular group was due to the concerted action of pool operators behind the issues in "pulling the plug" on the "good news" from Alabama and Arkansas, which is held to virtually insure the success of repeal.

Selling of some of these stocks became so heavy in the early trading that the machinery had to be stopped for a while. Bids for National Distillers were withdrawn after the opening sale and one of the governors of the exchange ordered trading stopped until a bidder could be found. The issue did not appear on the tape for about forty minutes, but sales were heavy when bidding was renewed and the price melted rapidly.

American Commercial Alcohol at its low was down more than 30 points from its previous closing price. Distillers dropped 26 before it found anything resembling a support level and Commercial Solvents took a tumble of 14 before steadying itself. Selling in the so-called "satellites" of the group, like Anchor Cap and Crown Cork, went on almost interruptedly, especially during the afternoon.

Pivotals Decline Less.

The break in wheat prices spread panic in the farm implement group and J. I. Case, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, and International Harvester were called upon to withstand a barrage that reached drumfire intensity in the last hour of trading.

Most of the pivotals stood out stoutly during the forenoon, but they were finally forced to give way with the rest of the list. United States Steel fell about 4 points in the last hour, but rebounded slightly to close off 3¼ points. American Can finished off 4 points, after being lower, and Western Union and Westinghouse were each driven down more than 4 points.

The rails kept up an appearance of firmness for the better part of the forenoon, thanks to some favorable carloadings figures, but none of the leaders escaped a drubbing in the end.

New Issue Adds Principal, but Cuts Interest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 19.—Late tonight the British treasury issued details of an offer to convert its twenty year 5½ per cent gold bonds into 2½ per cent treasury bonds. The bonds are not callable before maturity in 1937.

The gold bonds represent the war loan of 250 million dollars raised by Great Britain in the United States in January, 1917, for the purchase of munitions by the issue of one year and two year convertible gold notes. The notes were convertible at the option of the holder into 5½ per cent gold bonds payable Feb. 1, 1937. Interest was to be paid in sterling or gold dollars at the option of the holder.

Add Principal, Cut Interest.

The terms of the conversion offer are made on the basis that for every thousand dollars of 5½ per cent gold bonds holders will receive 260 pounds of sterling bonds. The effect of the proposed offer, therefore, will be to increase the total amount of principal, but diminish the interest payments. Holders of the $1,000 bonds now are entitled to $55 annually in interest, but at 2¼ per cent on £260 they will get £6 10s annually. At today's parity rate of exchange this is equivalent to $31.59.

Tonight's conversion offer is the result of the recent gold legislation. When Britain went off gold holders naturally chose to take gold dollars instead of sterling. But when the United States abrogated the gold clause Britain ceased to be under any obligation to pay in gold dollars.

Decide on Exchange Offer.

The British treasury then decided to offer in the place of the bonds new sterling bonds at a rate of interest appropriate to a British short term loan.

The amount of twenty year bonds now outstanding is $136,333,500—£128,013,733 at part. If all were converted the amount of sterling bonds to be issued would be £35,446,716. At part the interest payments on the 20 year bonds is equivalent to £1,547,055 yearly. The interest on the sterling bonds would be £886,168 yearly, a saving if all bonds are converted of £654,-887 annually.

Libby, McNeill & Libby.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me information about Libby, McNeill & Libby?—L. A.

Answer: Libby, McNeill & Libby is one of the leading food canners. Principal products are Hawaiian pineapple and California fruits and vegetables. Other important products are eastern vegetables, Alaska salmon canned milk, pickles and condiments, canned meats and fresh and cured meats. The diversified line offsets losses resulting from failure of any one crop.

Net loss was $6,248,000. The preceding year's net loss, after credit for $1,200,000 inventory reserve carried over, was $4,082,000. Net income in the year ended Feb. 28, 1931, was $2,130,000, or $1.07 per common share.

On March 4, 1933, current assets were $25,347,000 and current liabilities totaled $11,069,000. Cash was $1,332,-000, inventories $17,612,000 and notes and drafts payable $8,769,000.

Funded debt, due 1942, totals $10,-937,000. There are outstanding 97,-300 shares of $100 par $7 cumulative first preferred; 114,500 shares of $100 par $6 noncumulative second preferred and 625,000 shares of $10 par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since July 1, 1931.

All classes of stock are quite speculative.

Sale of controlling interest in Libby, McNeill & Libby, held by Swift & Co., is scheduled to be held in the near future. This is a result of the consent decree entered into by leading packers several years ago when they agreed to divest themselves of control of nonrelated enterprises.

Unearned Premiums.

Investors' Guide: Thank you for the report on the casualty company which you sent me. The biggest item among the company's liabilities was "unearned premiums." I do not understand what that expression means. Will you please explain it for me?—T. B. M.

Answer: An insurance premium [casualty or fire] is a payment for protection for a stipulated period. The insurance company, although it receives the premium at the beginning of the period, will not actually have earned all of it until the end of the period.

To reflect this continuing liability the custom has arisen to set up as a liability the account termed "unearned premiums," which represents the estimated aggregate amount which an insurance company would be obliged to tender to its policy holders as return premiums for the unexpired terms should it wish to cancel every policy in force.

TREASURY BEGINS DRIVE TO REOPEN CLOSED BANKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 19.—A final campaign to clear up the status of those banks still closed as a result of the March banking moratorium has been launched by the treasury department, it was revealed today.

As the opening gun in the drive the treasury is reported to have approved plans for reorganization of numerous national banks still closed, opening the way for them to obtain licenses. More than a half billion dollars in deposits will be freed by these institutions, it was said.

Under Two Billions Froze.

Less than two billion dollars out of the billions frozen four months ago will remain in unlicensed banks when the reorganizations now approved are completed. On July 8 the treasury reported 2 billion 300 million dollars in closed banks; the 500 million now to be freed by national banks alone will bring this total to 1 billion 800 million.

Full speed ahead has been ordered as the result of examinations in all closed national banks and state banks which are members of the federal reserve system. These examinations were recently completed, and Walter J. Cummings, executive assistant to the secretary of the treasury, who is handling banking matters, now has available an accurate picture of the condition of every closed bank under his jurisdiction.

With this information at hand he is able to decide promptly whether reorganization plans submitted by the closed banks shall be approved or whether they shall be rejected and the banks liquidated.

End Conservators' Control.

It is believed that banks under federal supervision will not be allowed to remain much longer in the hands of conservators. They will either be reopened or placed in the hands of receivers.

Unlicensed national banks will be holding less than a half billion dollars of deposits when these now permitted to reorganize reopen. State banks which are members of the federal reserve system and which are still closed held 300 million dollars in deposits early this month, and this total is believed to have been reduced somewhat since.

Nonmember state banks which are unlicensed hold by far the largest block of frozen deposits. It was slightly over a billion dollars when the treasury last surveyed the nonmember banks on July 8. The Reconstruction Finance corporation is endeavoring to thaw out these banks by making loans wherever it can, but federal banking officials have no authority over such institutions.

SUPPLY OF HOGS TOPS FORECAST; PRICES DECLINE

Values Off 10 to 20 Cts.; Cattle Are Steady.

An unexpected increase in hog receipts in the west and the break in grains upset the hog market yesterday and sent prices down 10 to 20 cents. About half of the Monday and Tuesday gains were rubbed out.

The top and general average prices dropped 15 cents to $4.85 and $4.55, respectively. Closing sales were lowest of the day, but some traders thought they recognized a slightly better tone in the trade following the release of estimates for today, which indicated a smaller movement.

The increase in yesterday's arrivals was not large enough to balance the decreases of the first two days. Receipts at Chicago for the first half of this week are 21 per cent short of a week ago.

Receipts Below Last Month.

Arrivals for the first 19 days of July at 390,000 compare with 406,000 a month ago, but they are 120,000 larger than a year ago.

Better demand for dressed beef and soaring hide prices were the strengthening factors that offset the influence of bigger cattle receipts yesterday. Heavy steer hides, quoted upwards to 15 cents yesterday, showed a gain of 275 per cent over the low point in February and were comparable to kinds selling at 8½ cents a year ago.

Calfskins sold up to 23 cents, against 8½ cents six months ago and 10 cents a year ago. Volume of trading in hides continues broad at the higher level of prices. It was reported that 70,000 hides changed hands in Chicago on Tuesday fully 2 cents higher than prices in vogue early last week.

Beef Trade Improves.

The aggressive attitude of eastern order buyers substantiated reports of improved conditions in the wholesale beef trade at most of the large distributing centers in the east in the last few days. Shipments from Chicago during the first 19 days of this month at 34,700 compare with 31,100 in June and are 65 per cent larger than a year ago.

More than 100 prime steers, averaging 1,265 to 1,327 lbs, sold for eastern account at $7.50 yesterday. A large quota of the day's offerings of good to choice grades brought $7.00 to $7.35, while comparatively little was of the quality to sell below $5.00.

Lambs held in line with the high point of the day before, with big packers paying up to $8.35 for range lambs and $8.15 for natives. Yearling wethers sold generally around $6.00, with the culls from the western lambs going to packers for slaughter at $6.25 to $6.50.

THURSDAY, 10 A. M.!

If you were going to buy a car you wouldn't go to a furniture manufacturer; if you wanted clothing you wouldn't go to a hardware store. If you wish SUCCESS you must hunt up something eminently and persistently successful, and this will be proved by what men in the business make.

Last week T. L. made $147.50. J. H. made $123. M. S., new in this business, $46 last week. W. W. $71 for two weeks. W. B., $60.50, and A. B., $48 for the week. Most of these men came into this work recently with no knowledge of it, but they had character and determination, vigor and personality sufficient to get a hearing.

There was a time when men went out to pick and choose. Now men who are wise seek businesses that have proved themselves. This business has abundantly proved itself and if you are the right man it can give you the opportunity you want—so that you, too, will some day boast as others now do about having been with us six, seven, and eight years.

Only earnest men are invited, but I shall be glad to interview you at 10 o'clock a. m. Thursday, July 20—and at no other time—if you will call at Room 215 McGrahan Building, 1046 Wilson-av.
